CANDICE MICHELLE

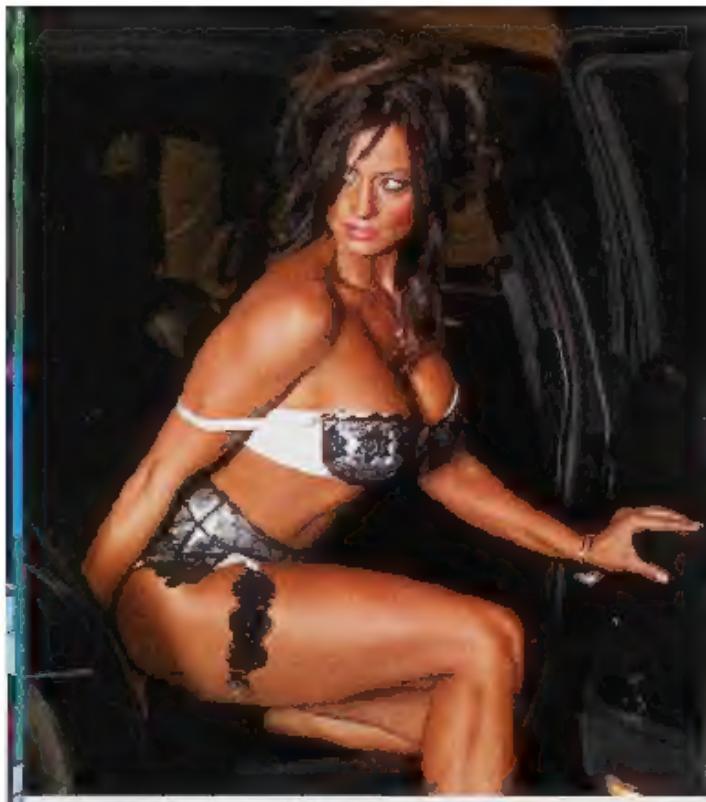

When one sees Candice Michelle, what can one say but... "Damn." The word "sultry" was created for women like her, and she certainly isn't afraid to flaunt what she's got—a fact for which male WWE fans everywhere are eternally grateful. In fact, she had no problem at all taking to the streets of Manhattan and proving that even jaded New Yorkers will look twice if given the proper incentive.

Super Bowl XXXIX thrust her into the national spotlight thanks to that infamous GoDaddy.com commercial. That notoriety will be taken even further once she graces the cover of Playboy this spring in what would have to be one of the most coveted issues in the magazine's illustrious history.

It doesn't get any hotter than Candice, who seems to have been born to pose for pictures like the ones you're about to see...

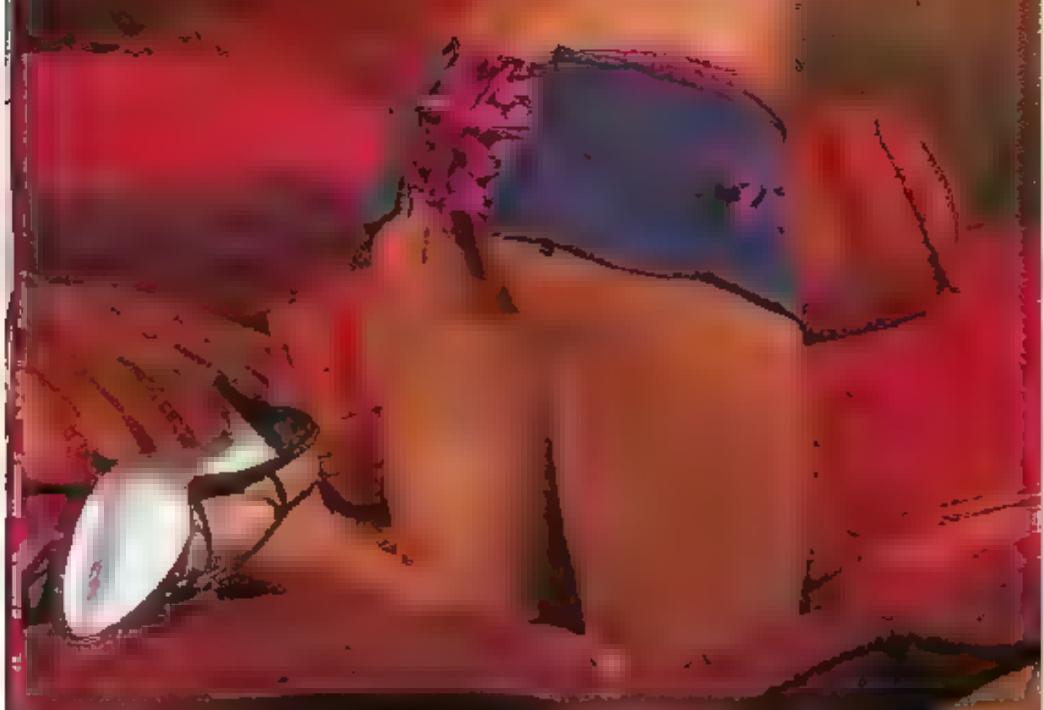

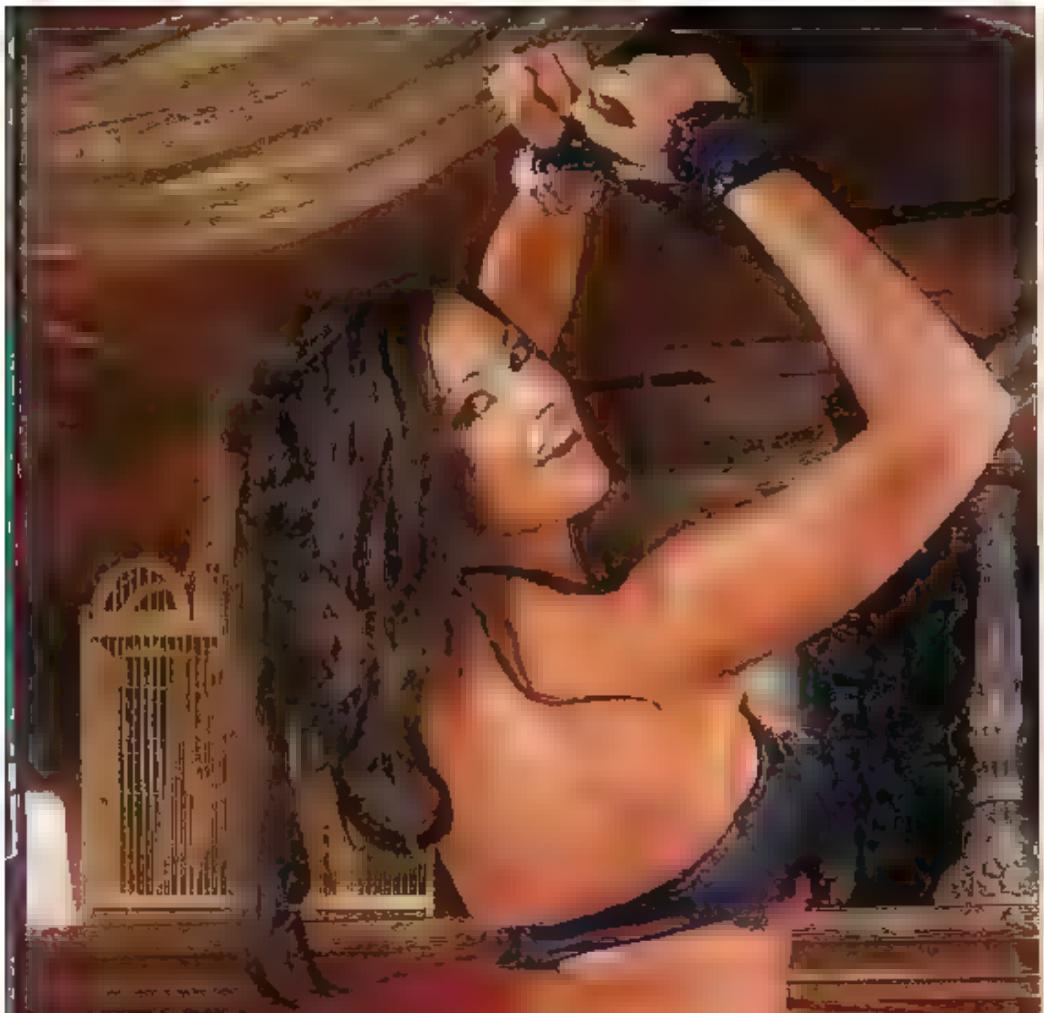

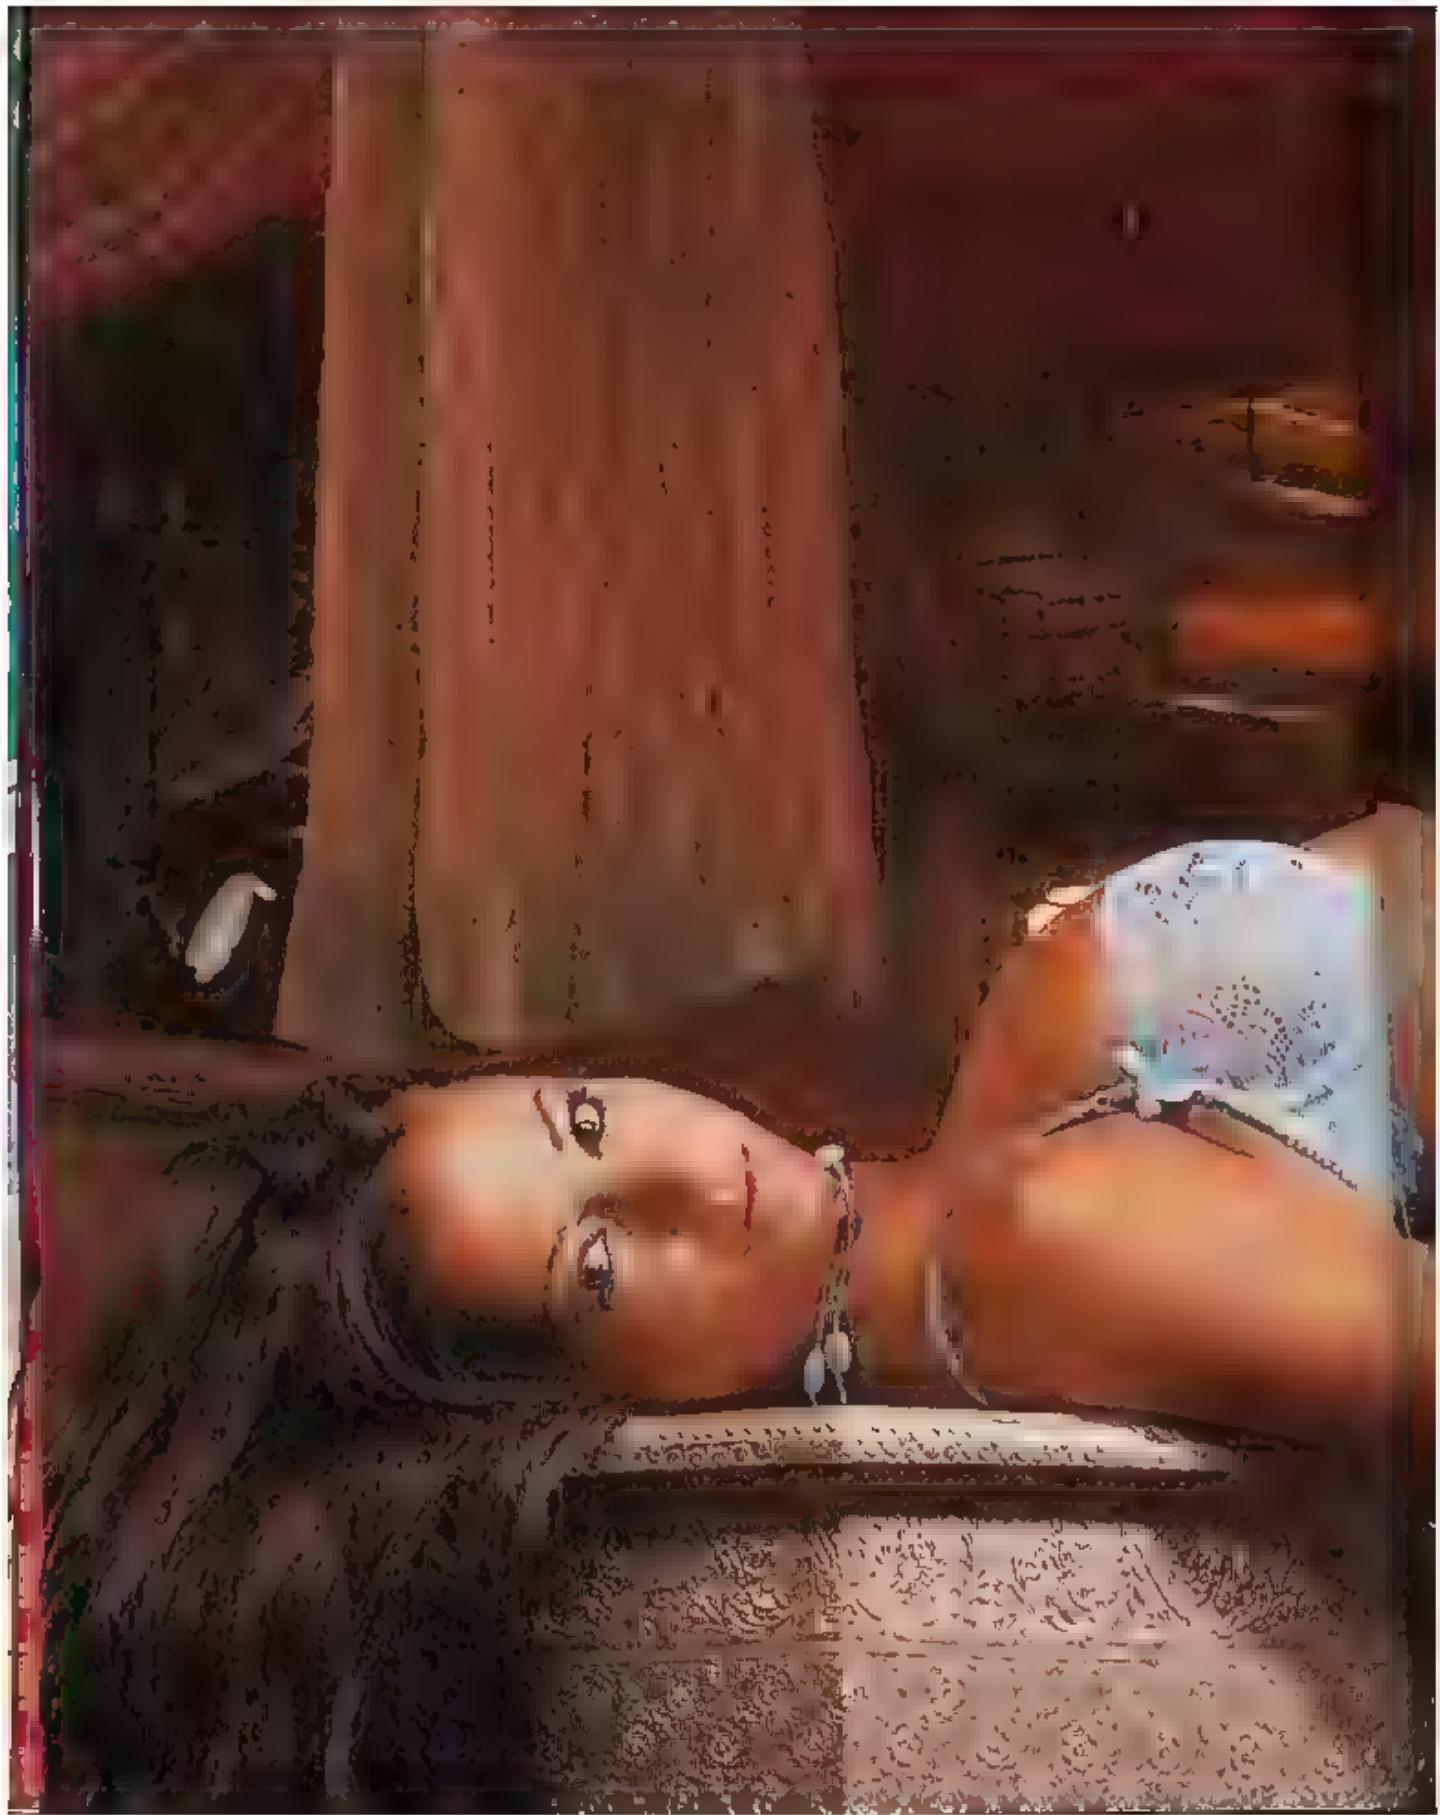

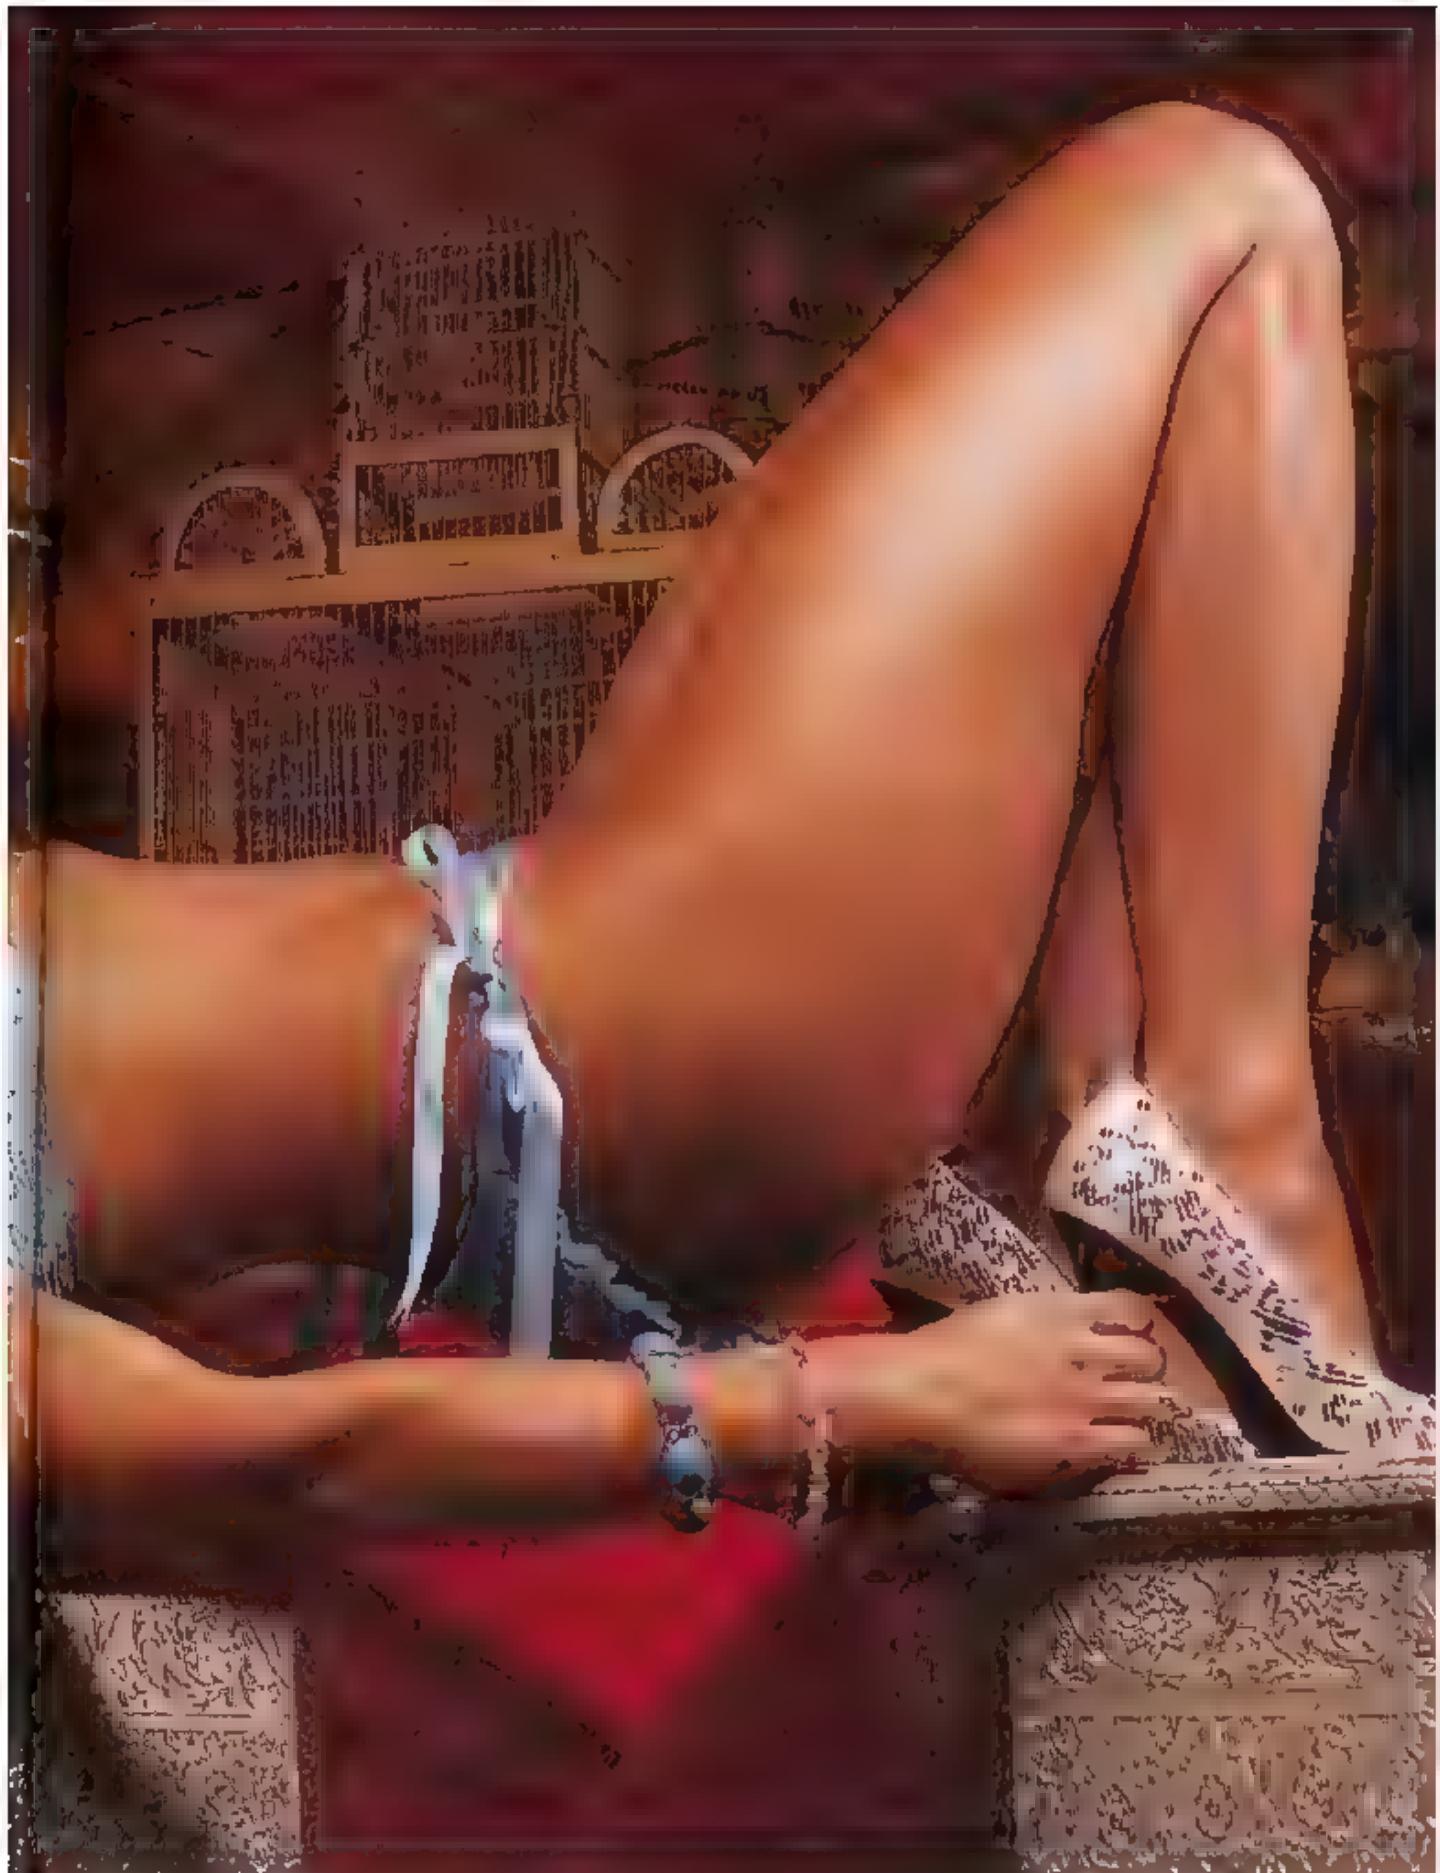

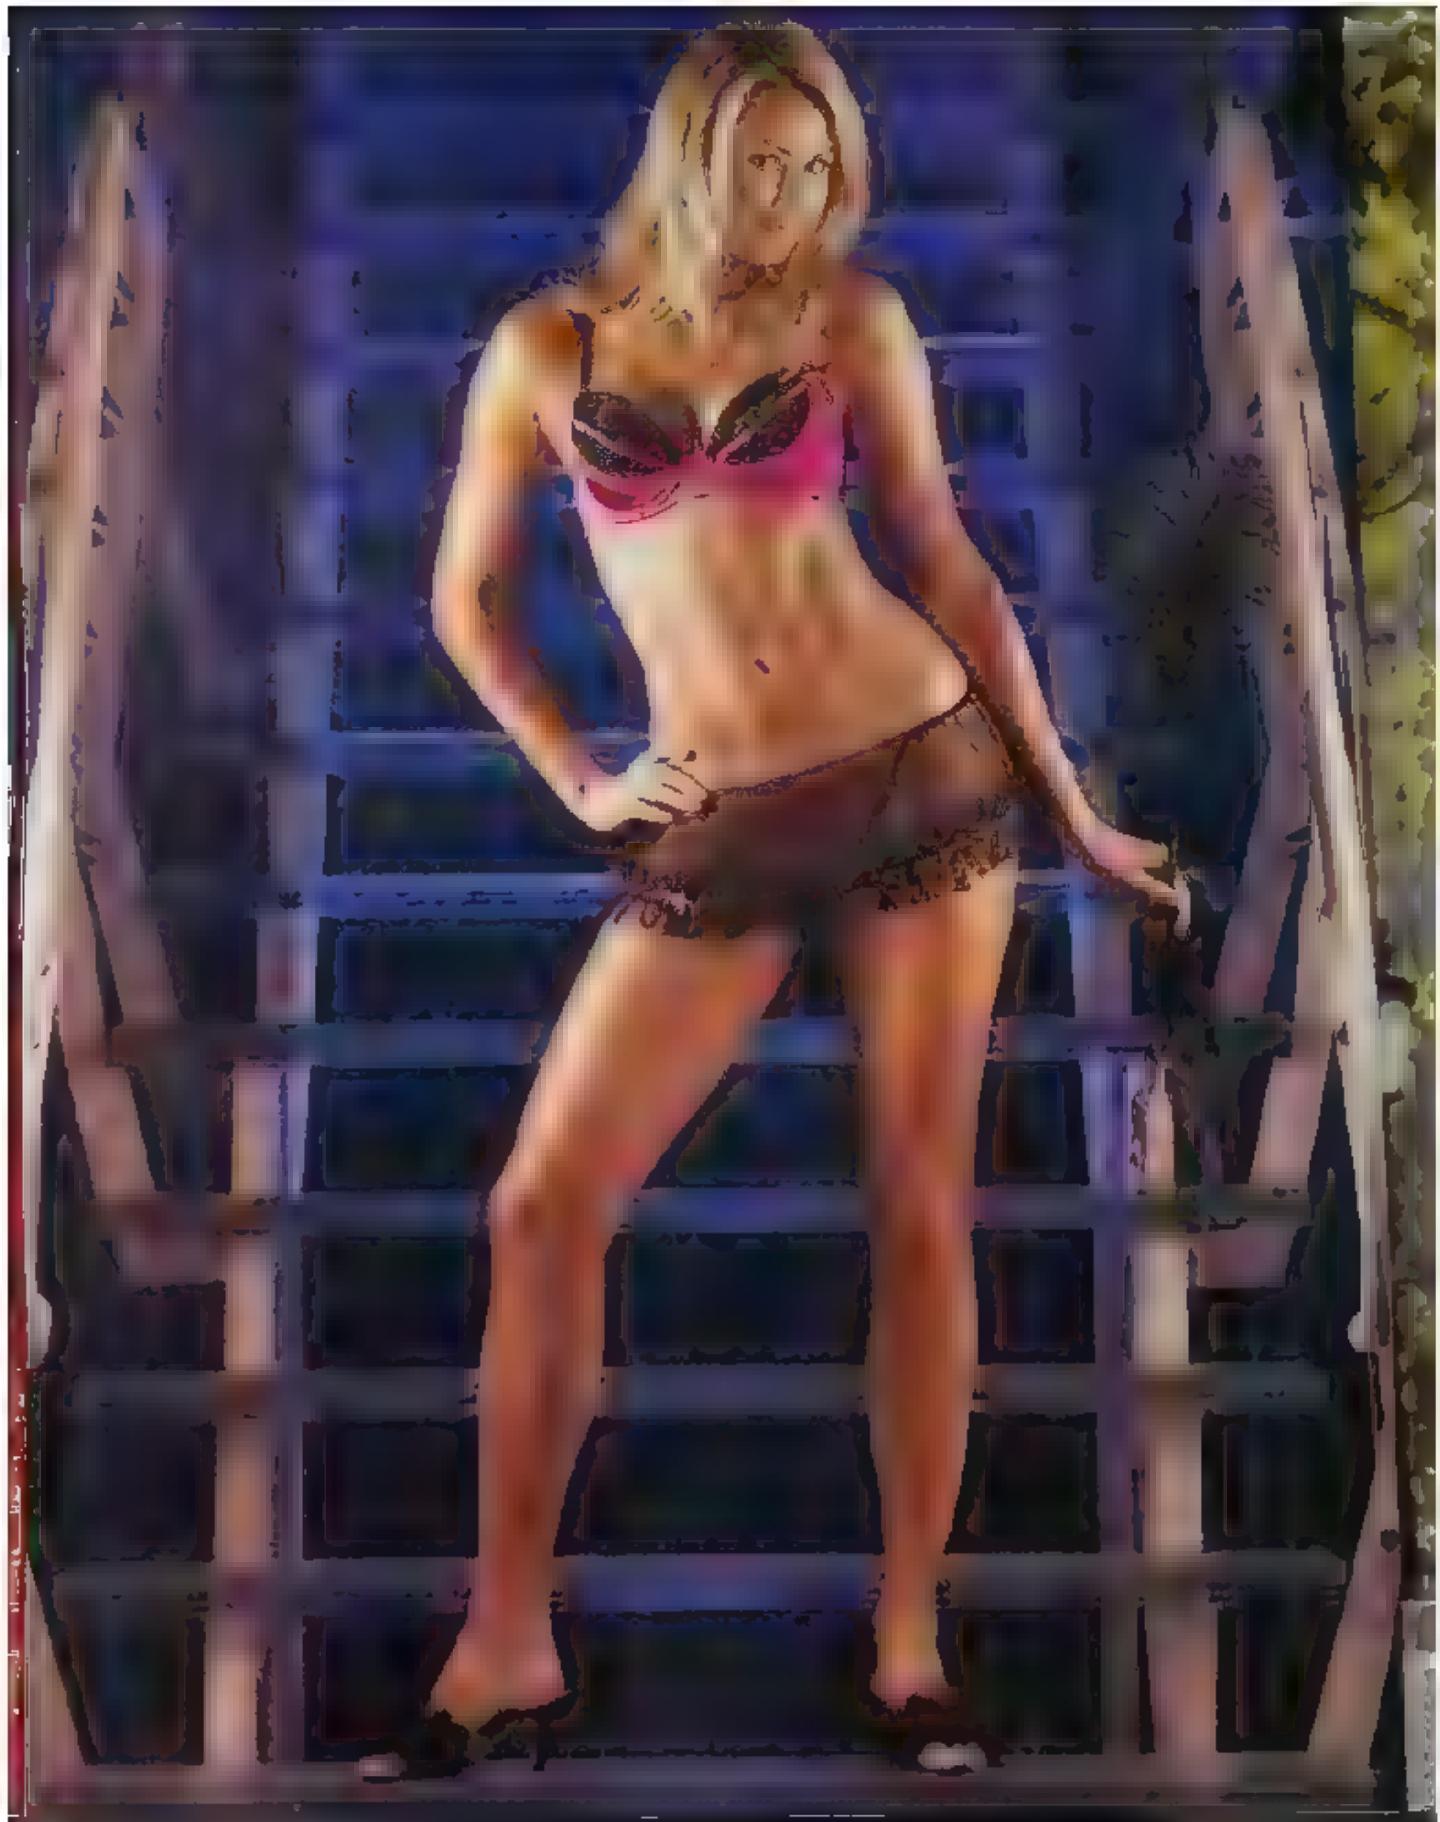

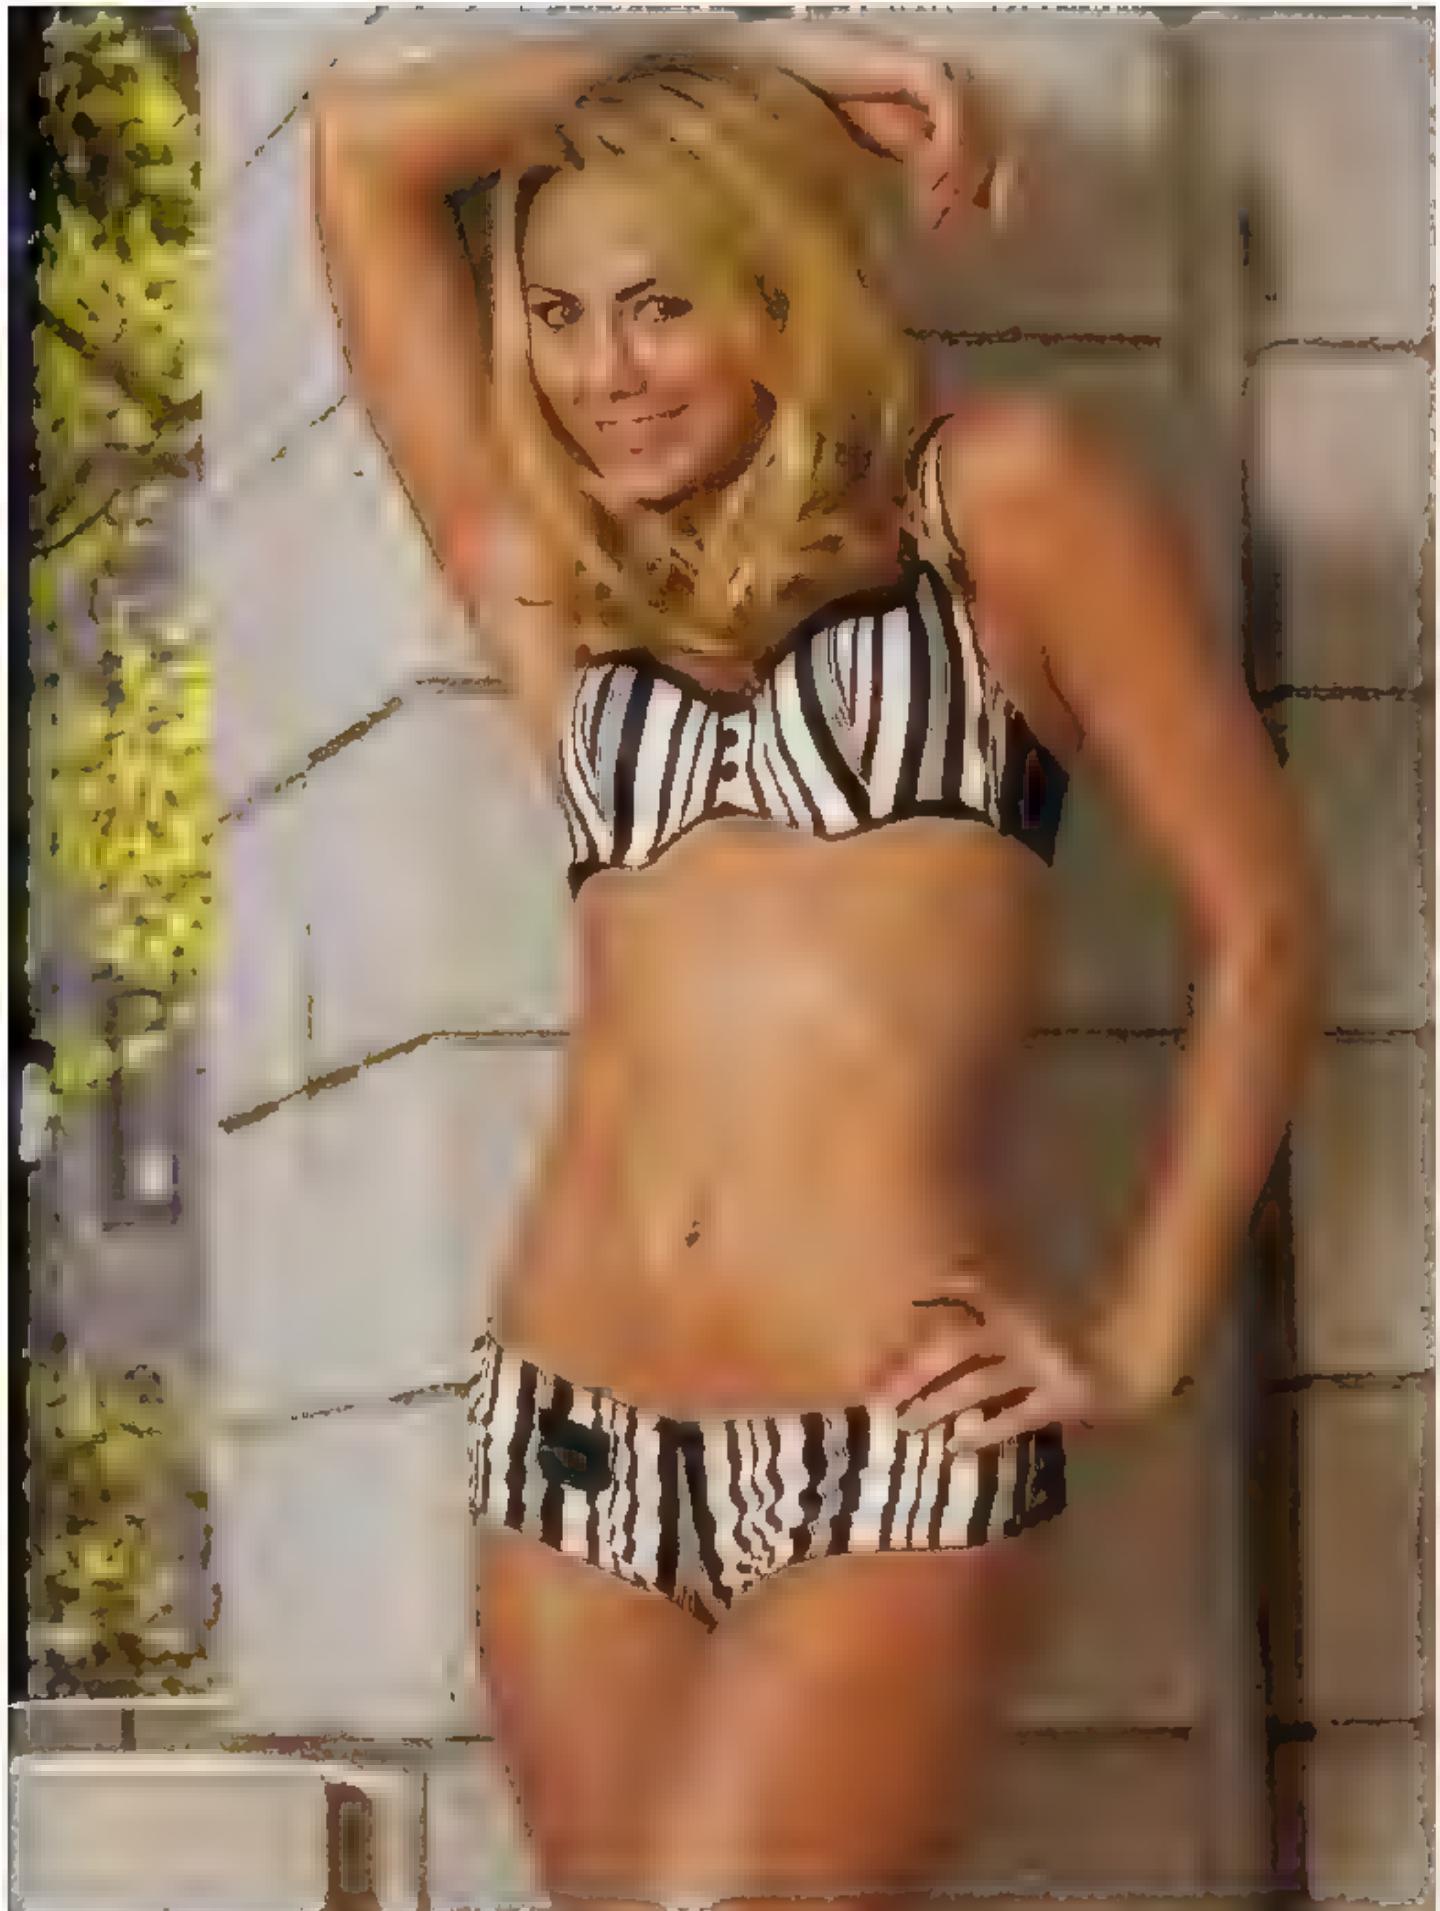

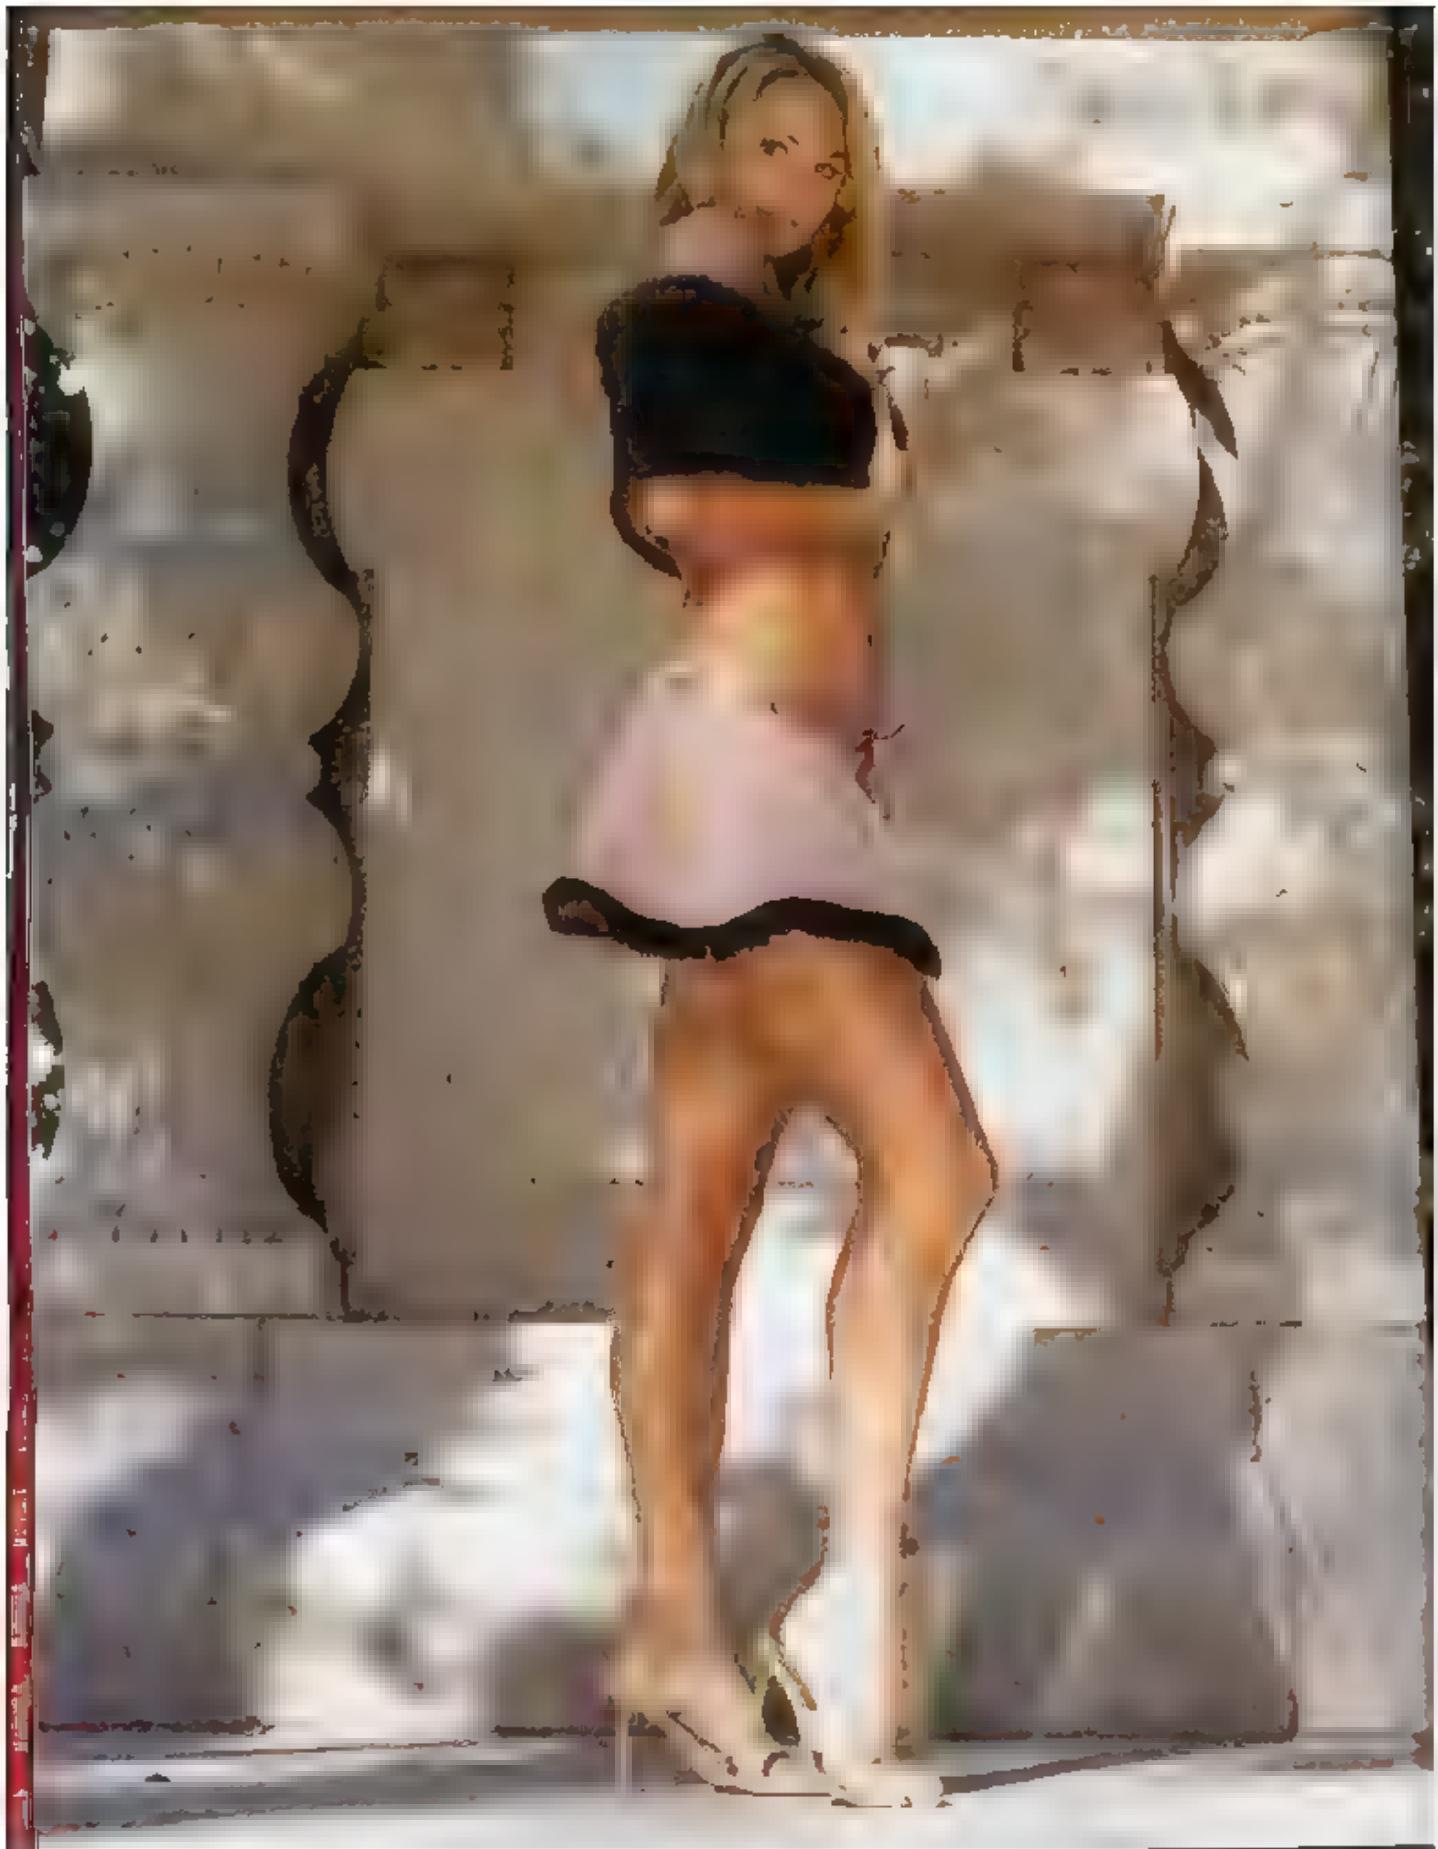

STACY KENTLER

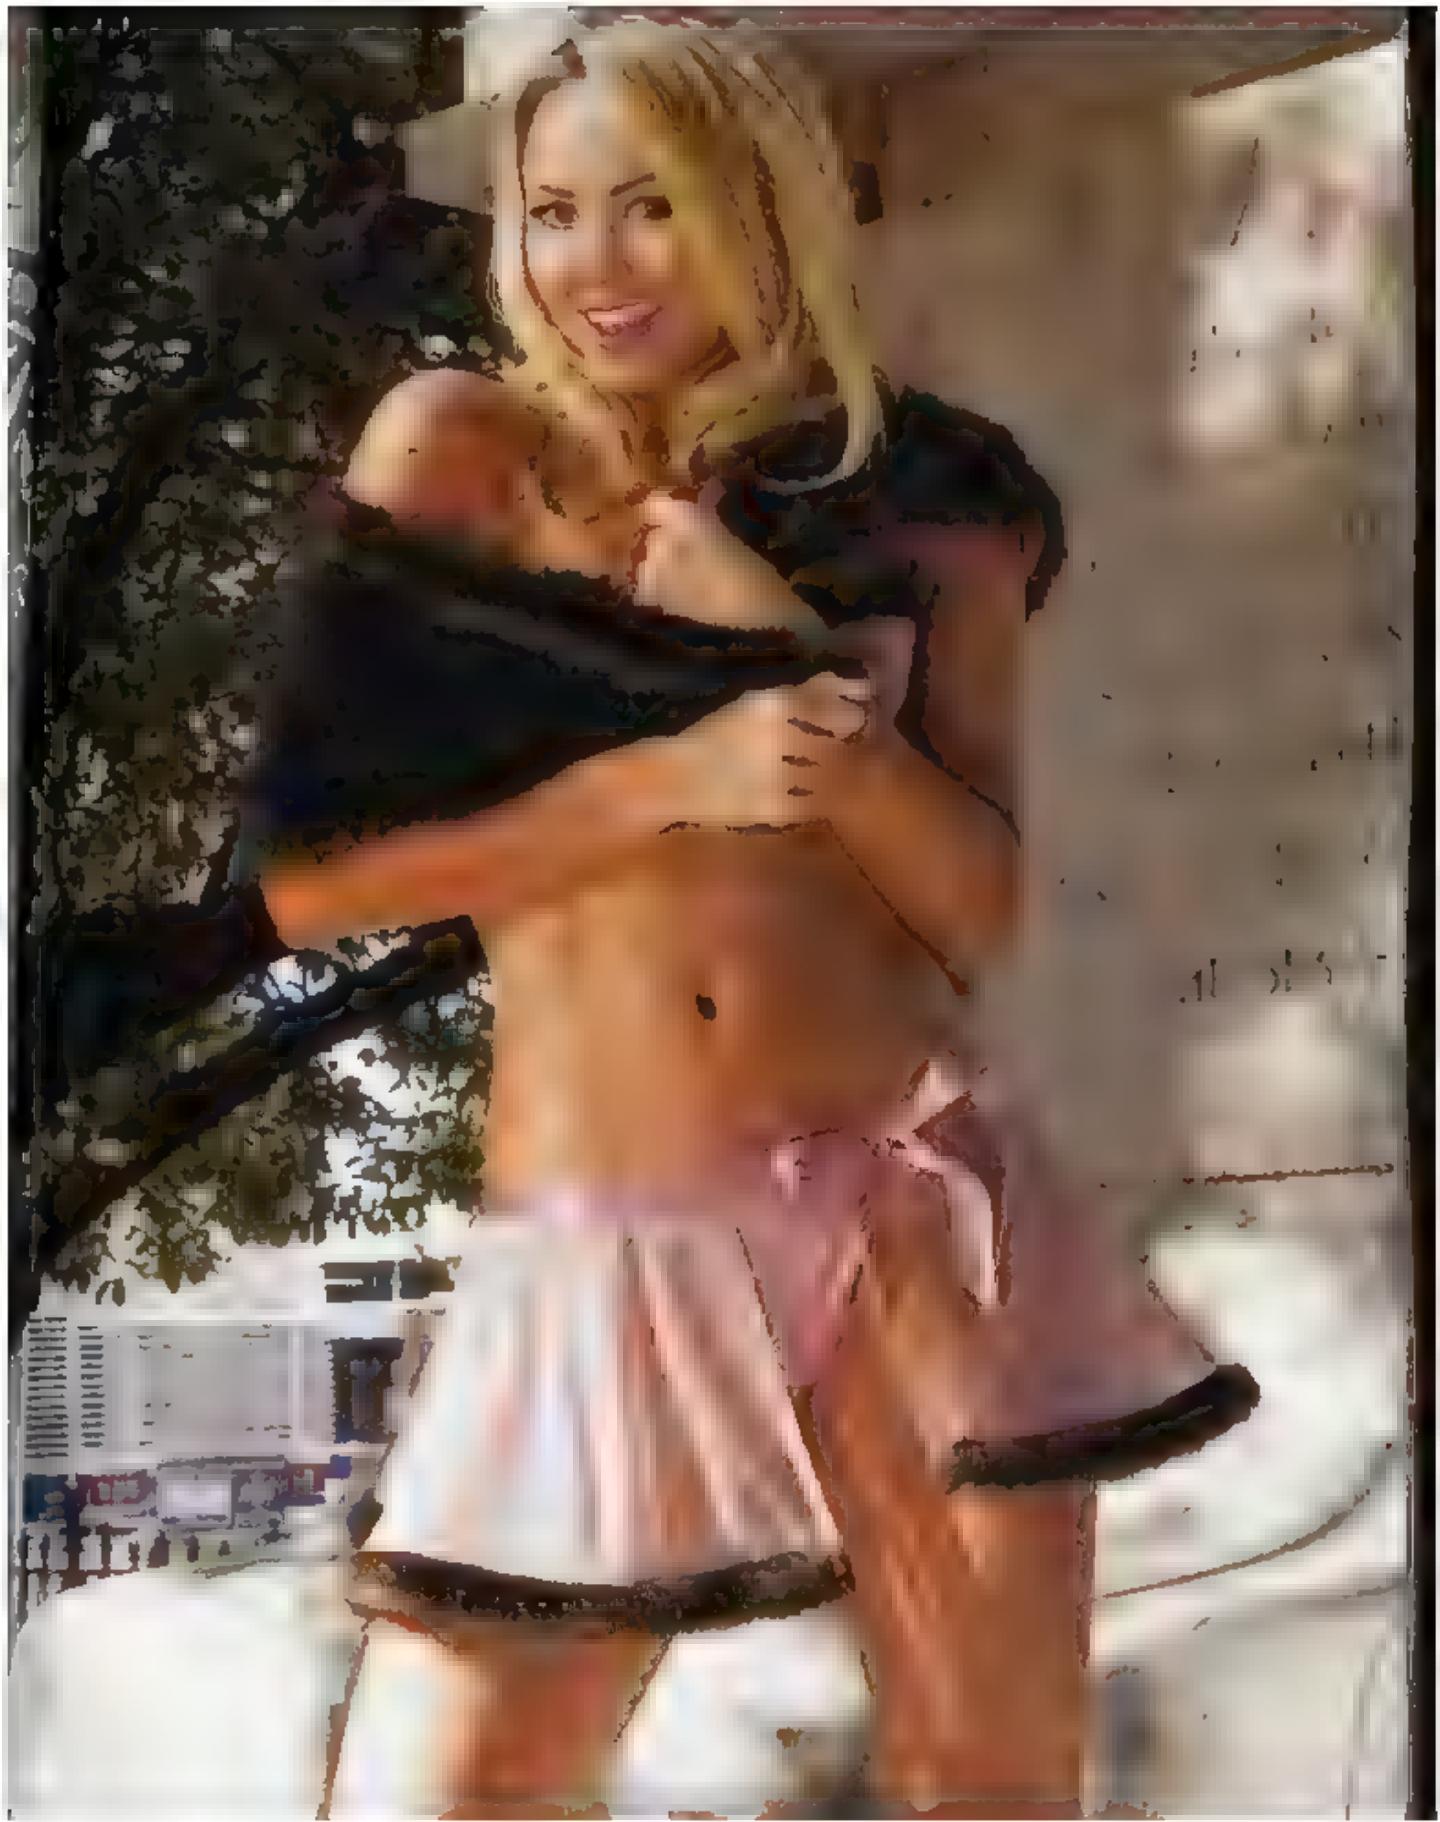

18 Divas 2016

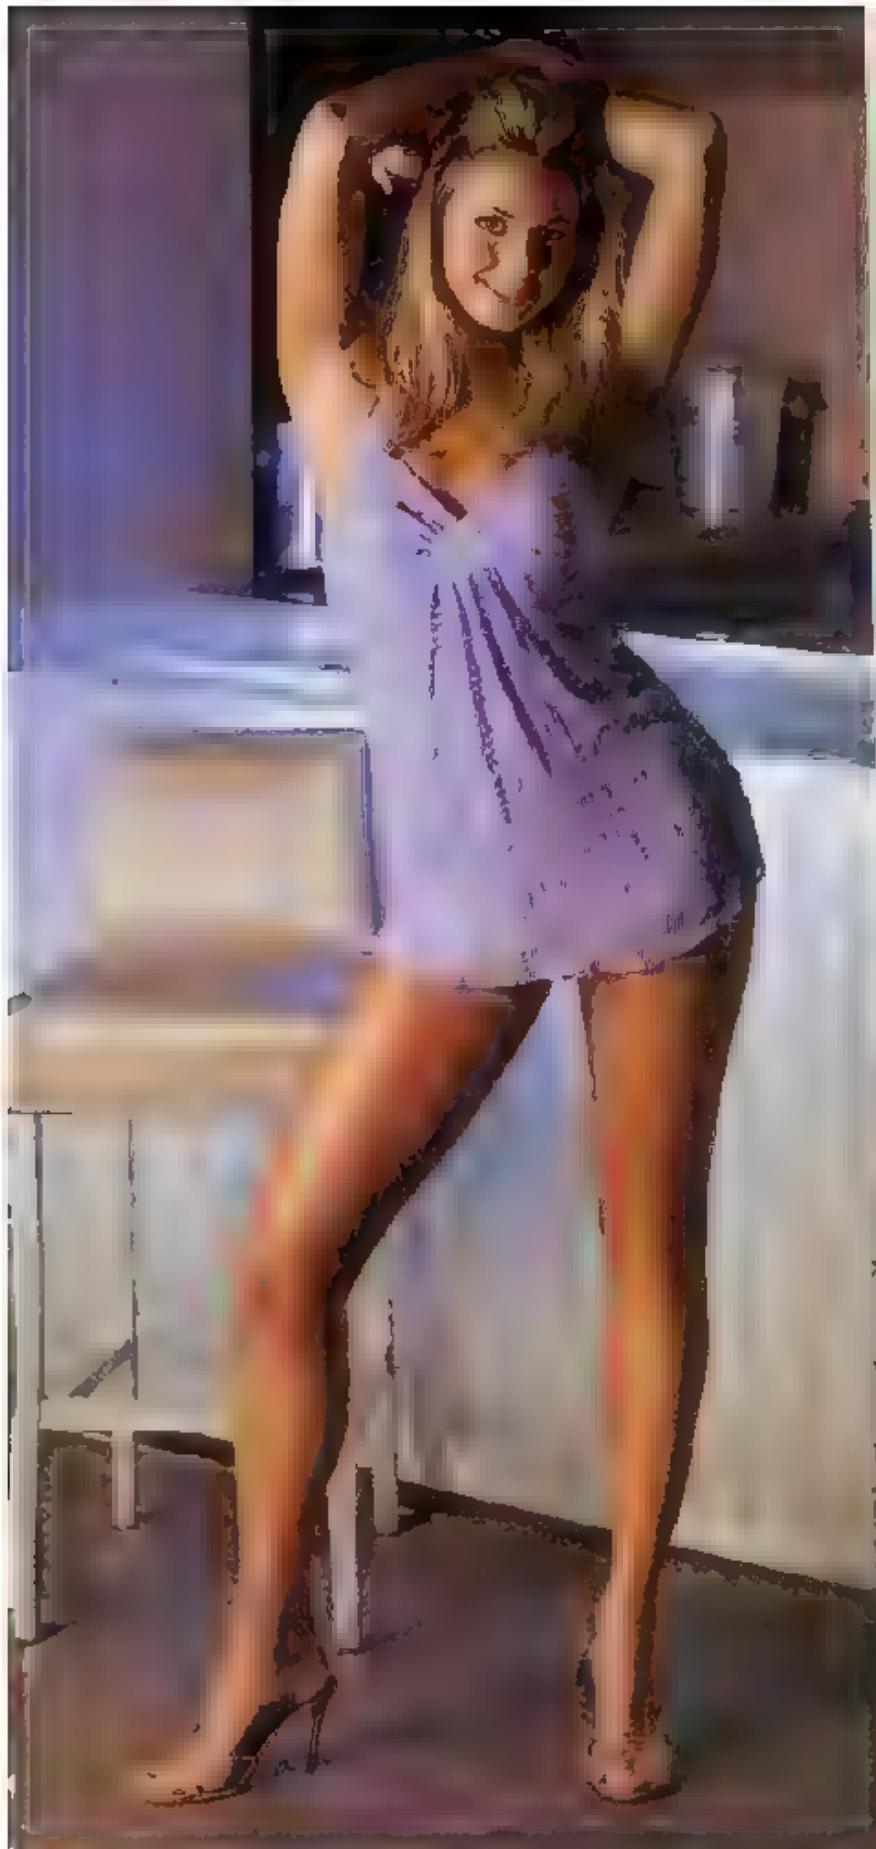

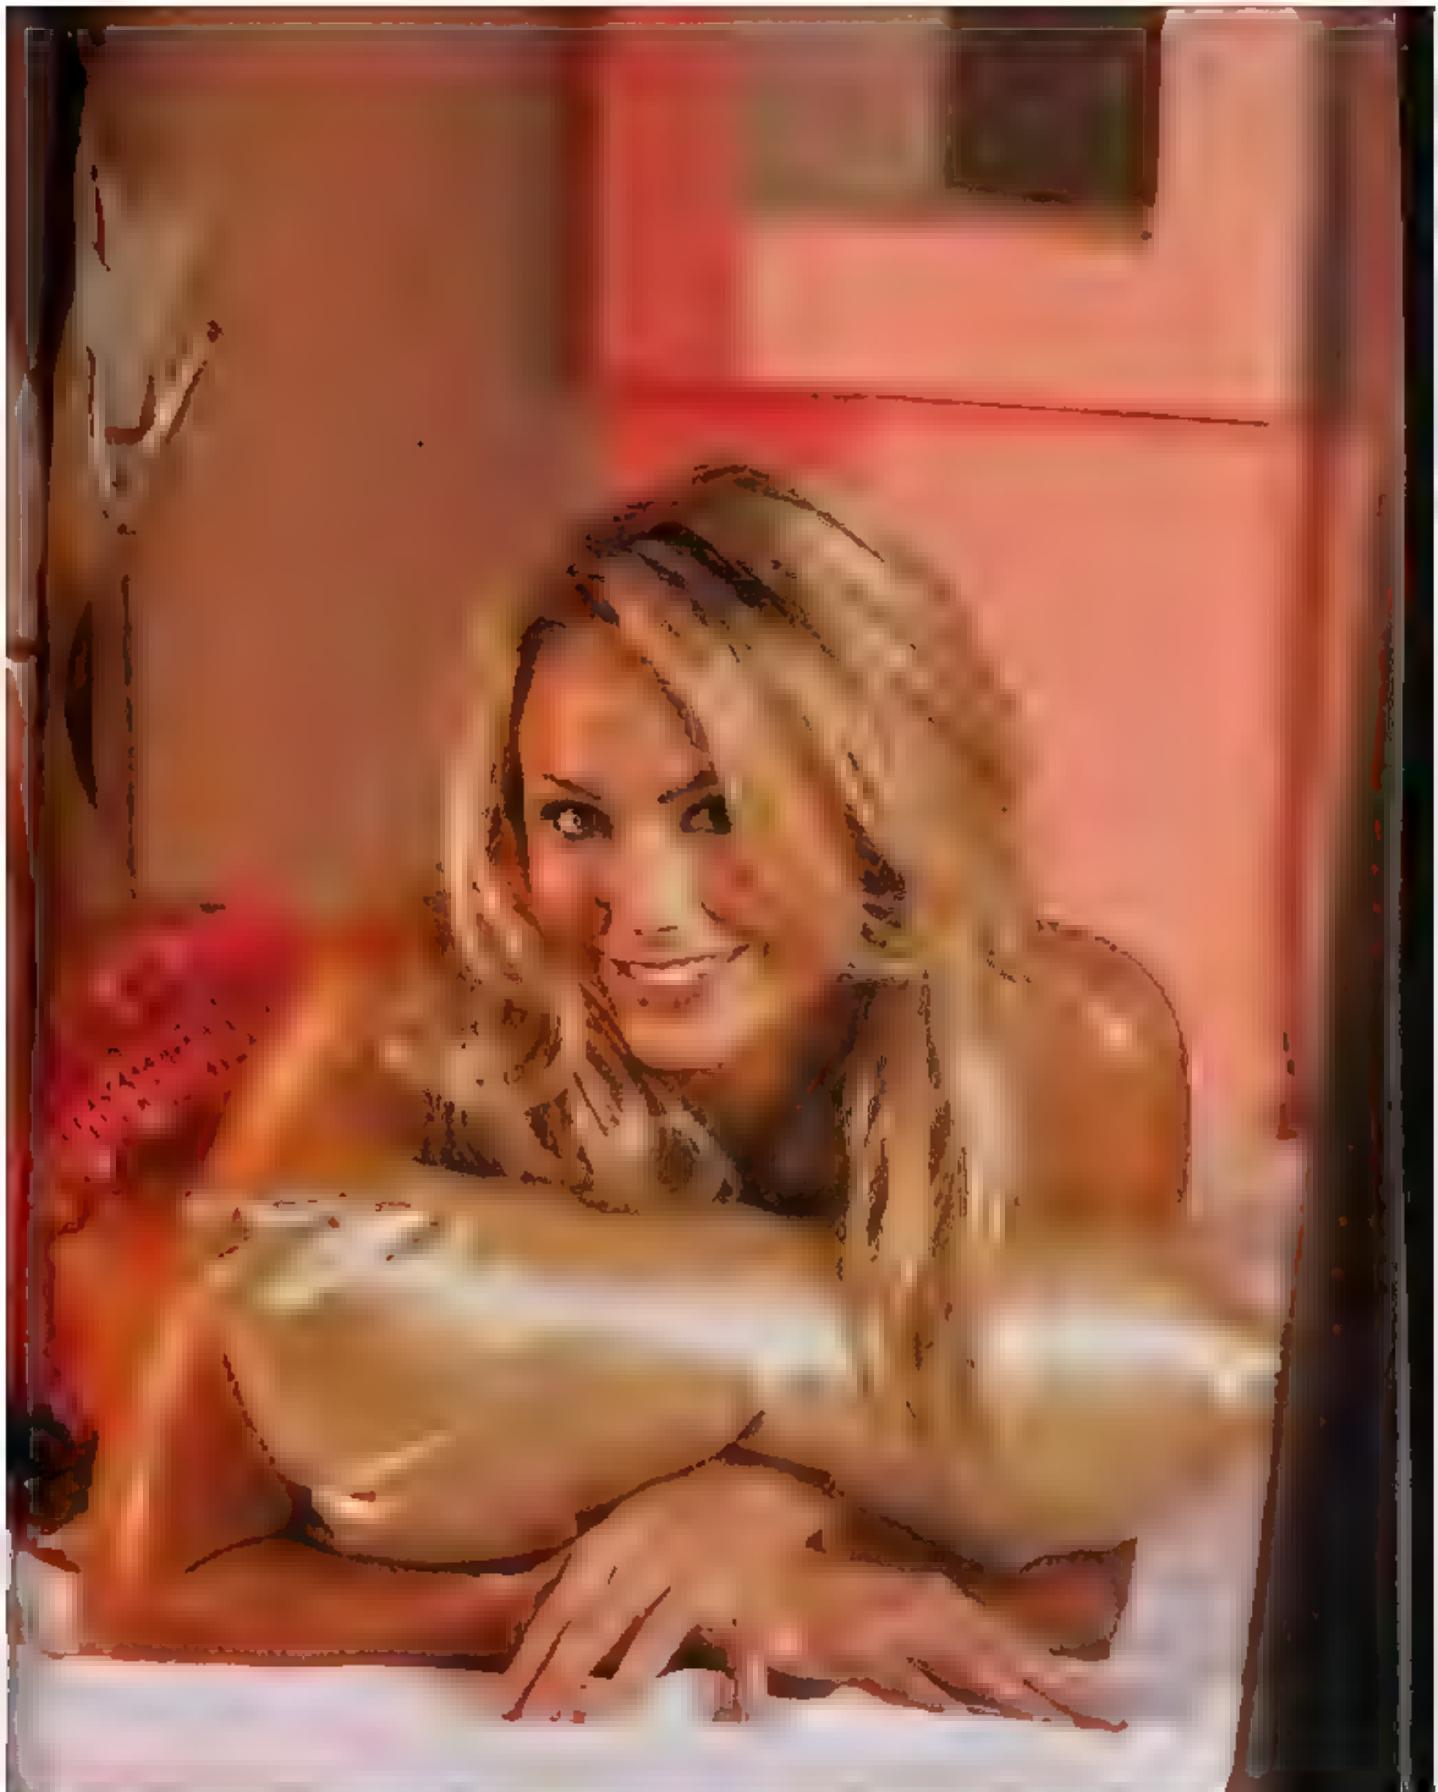

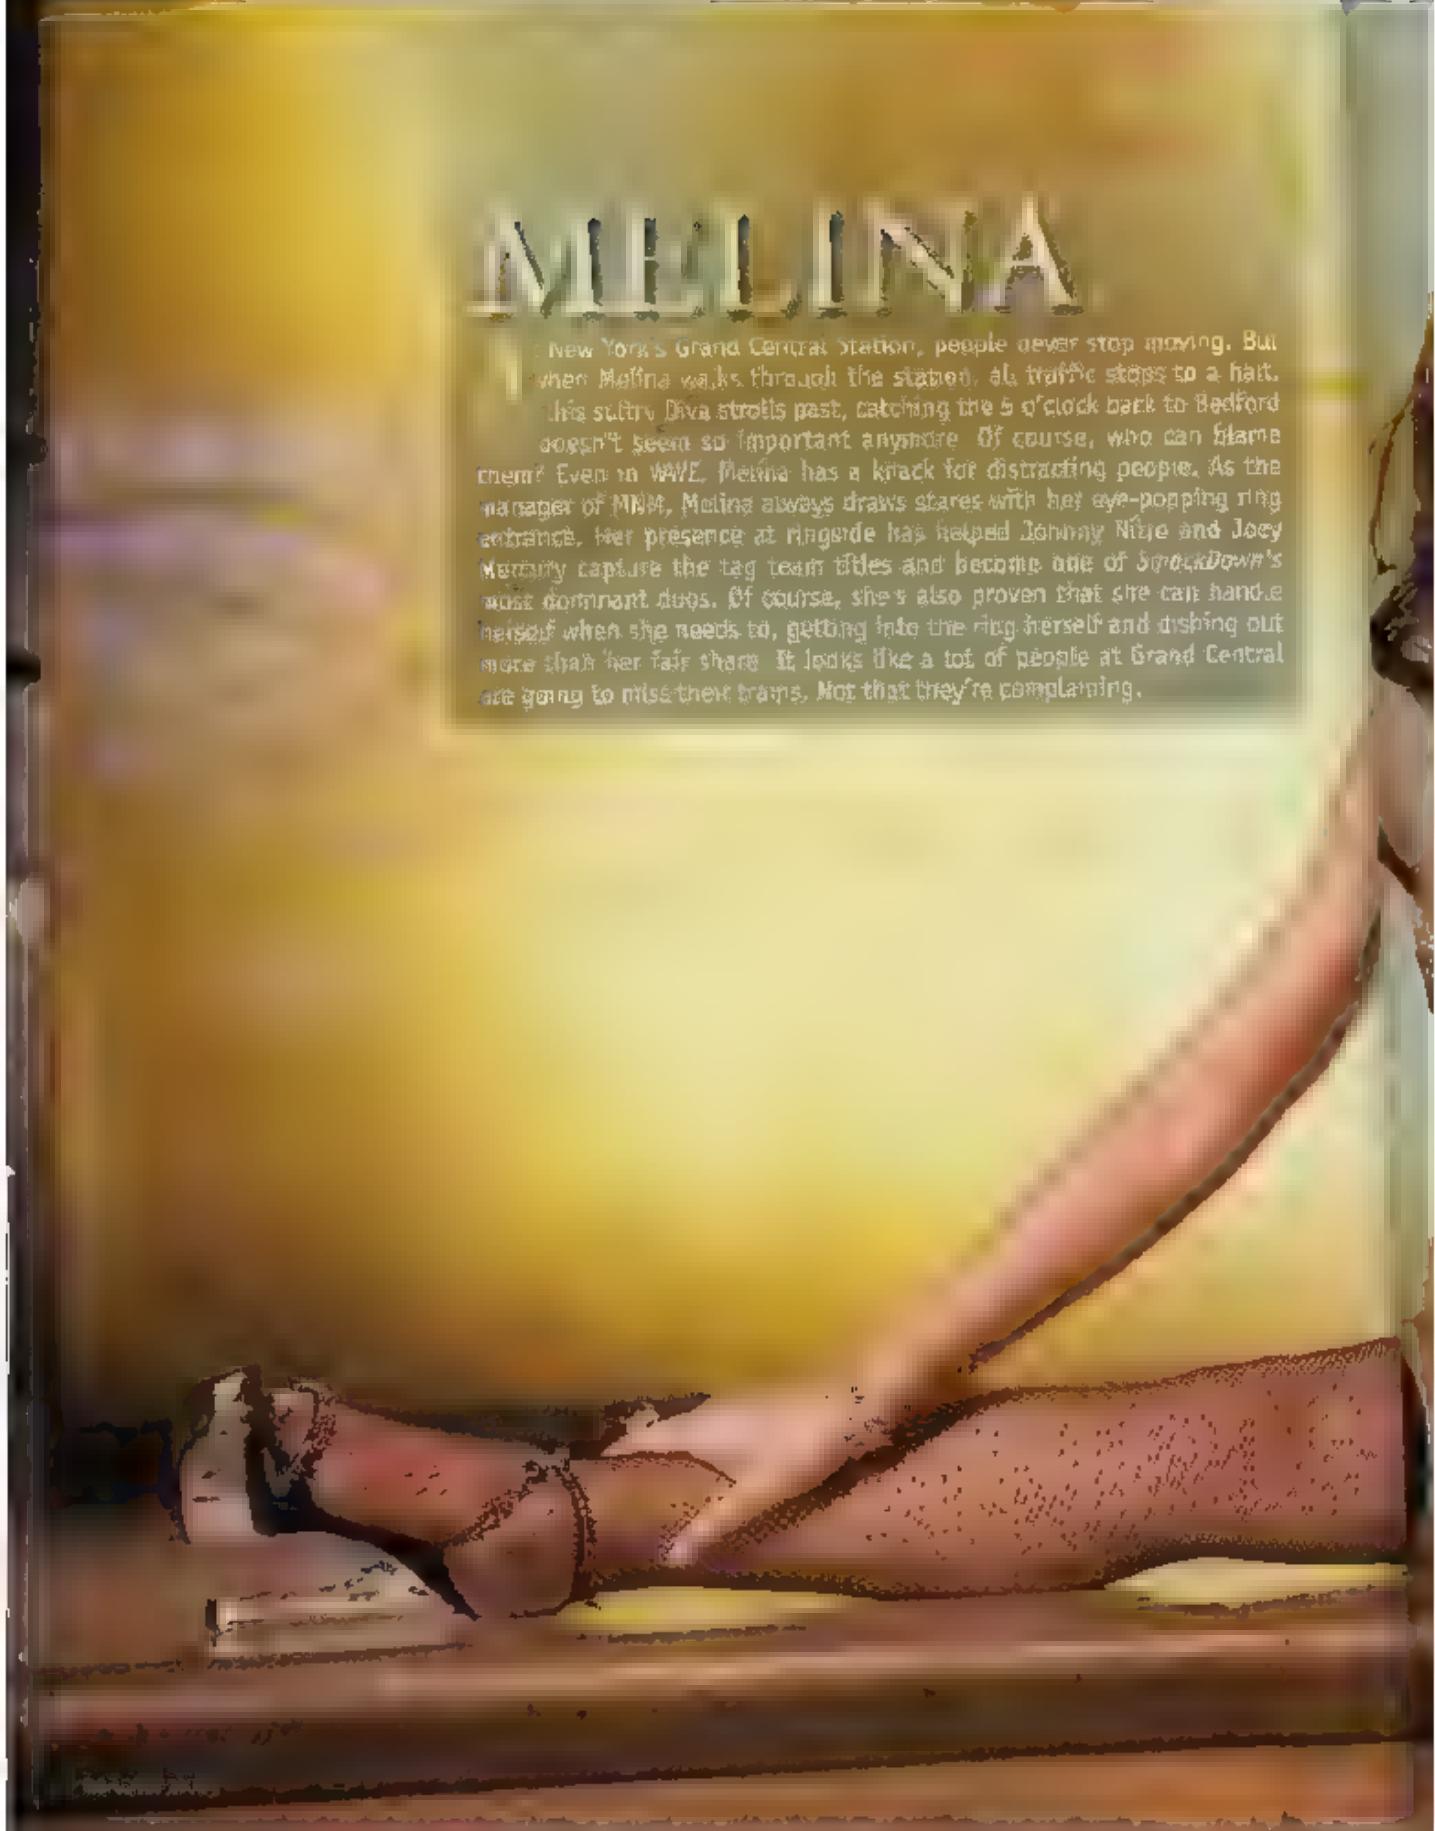

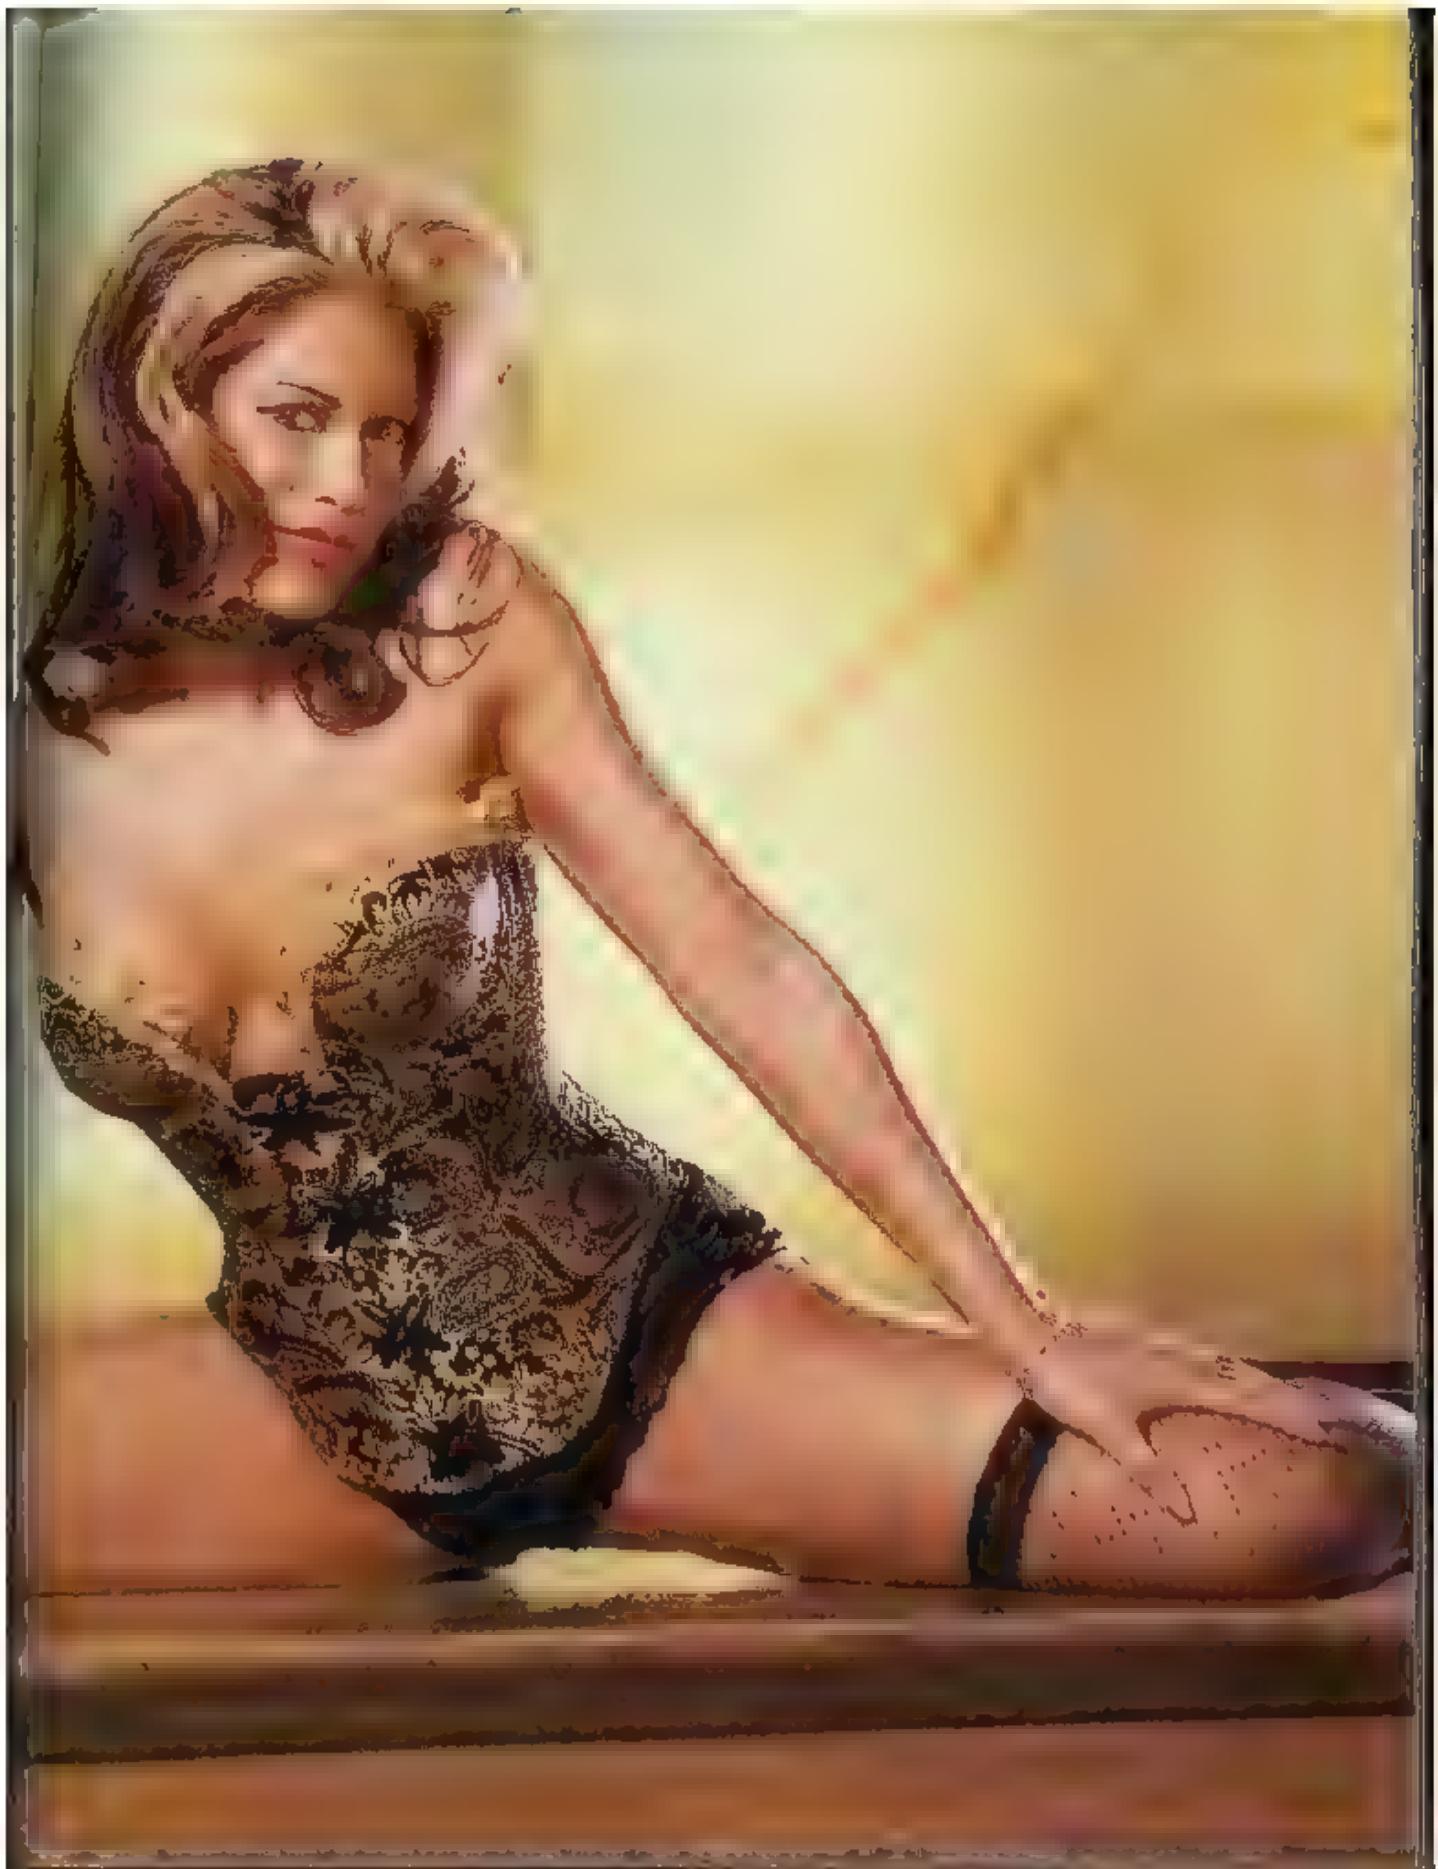

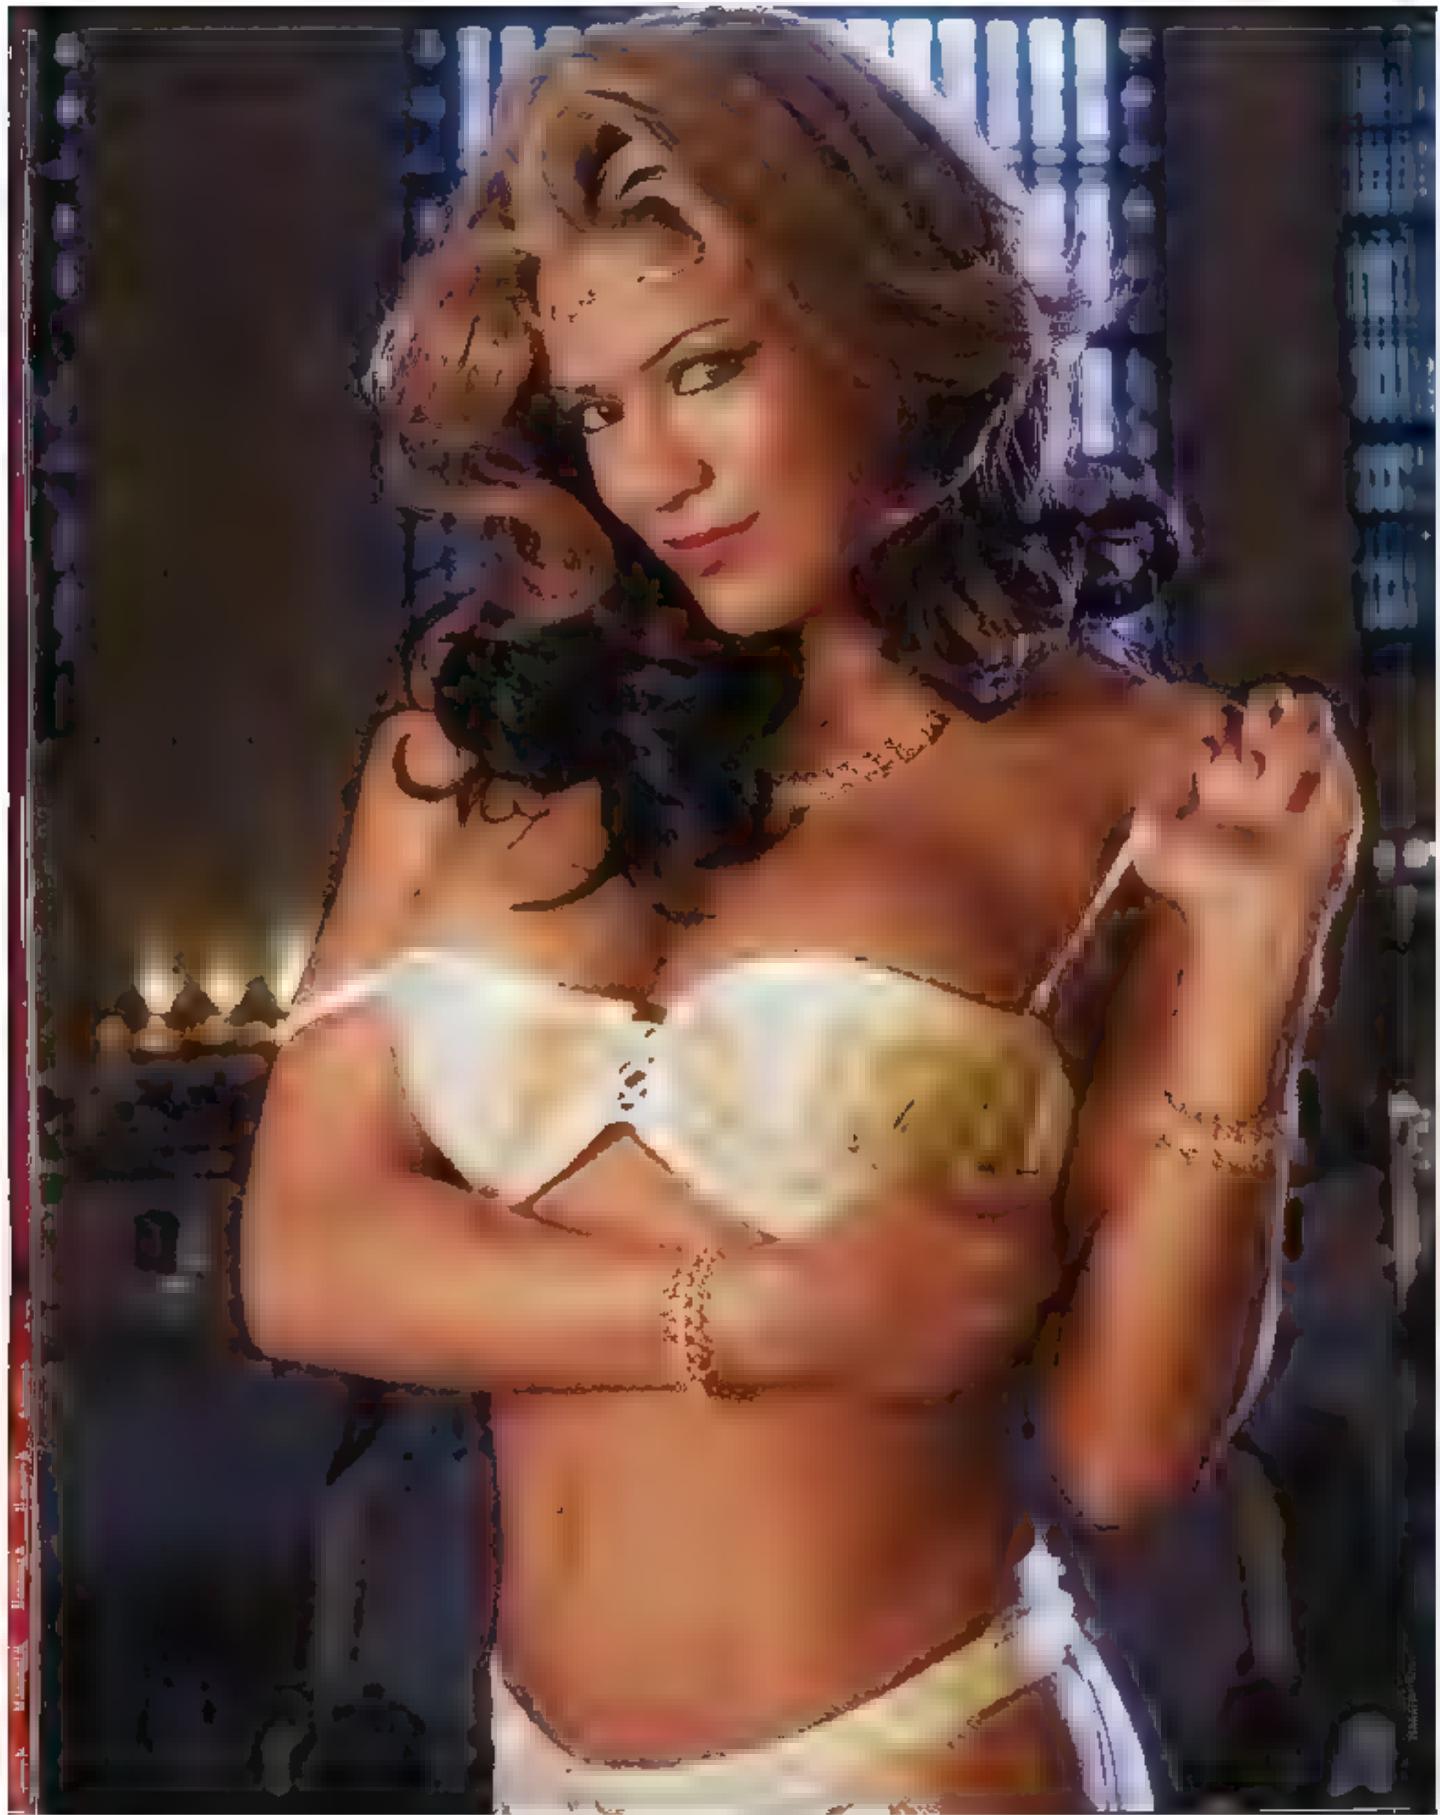

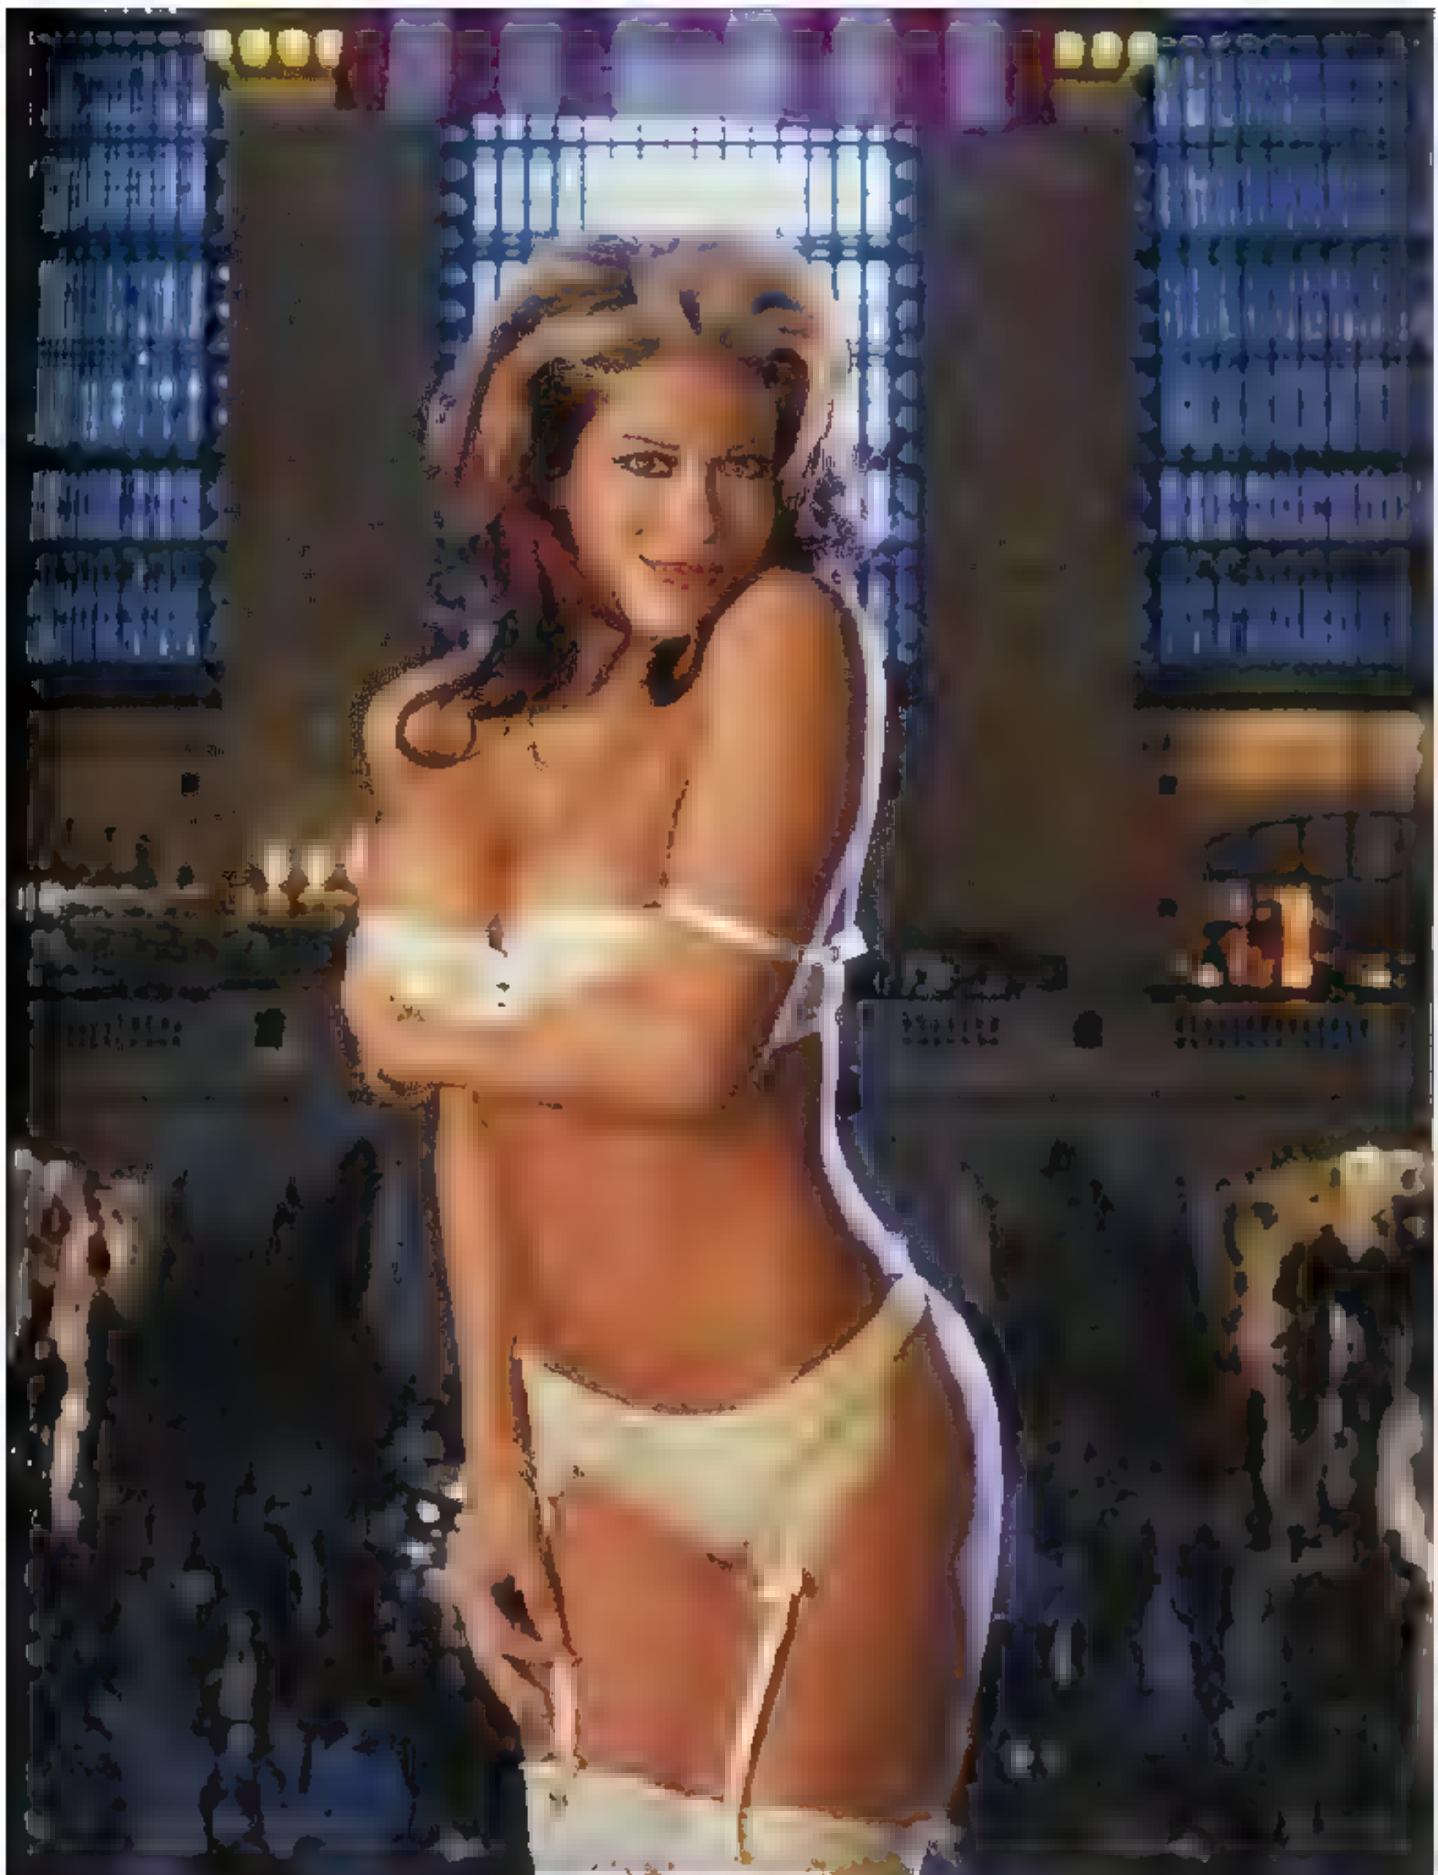

MELINA

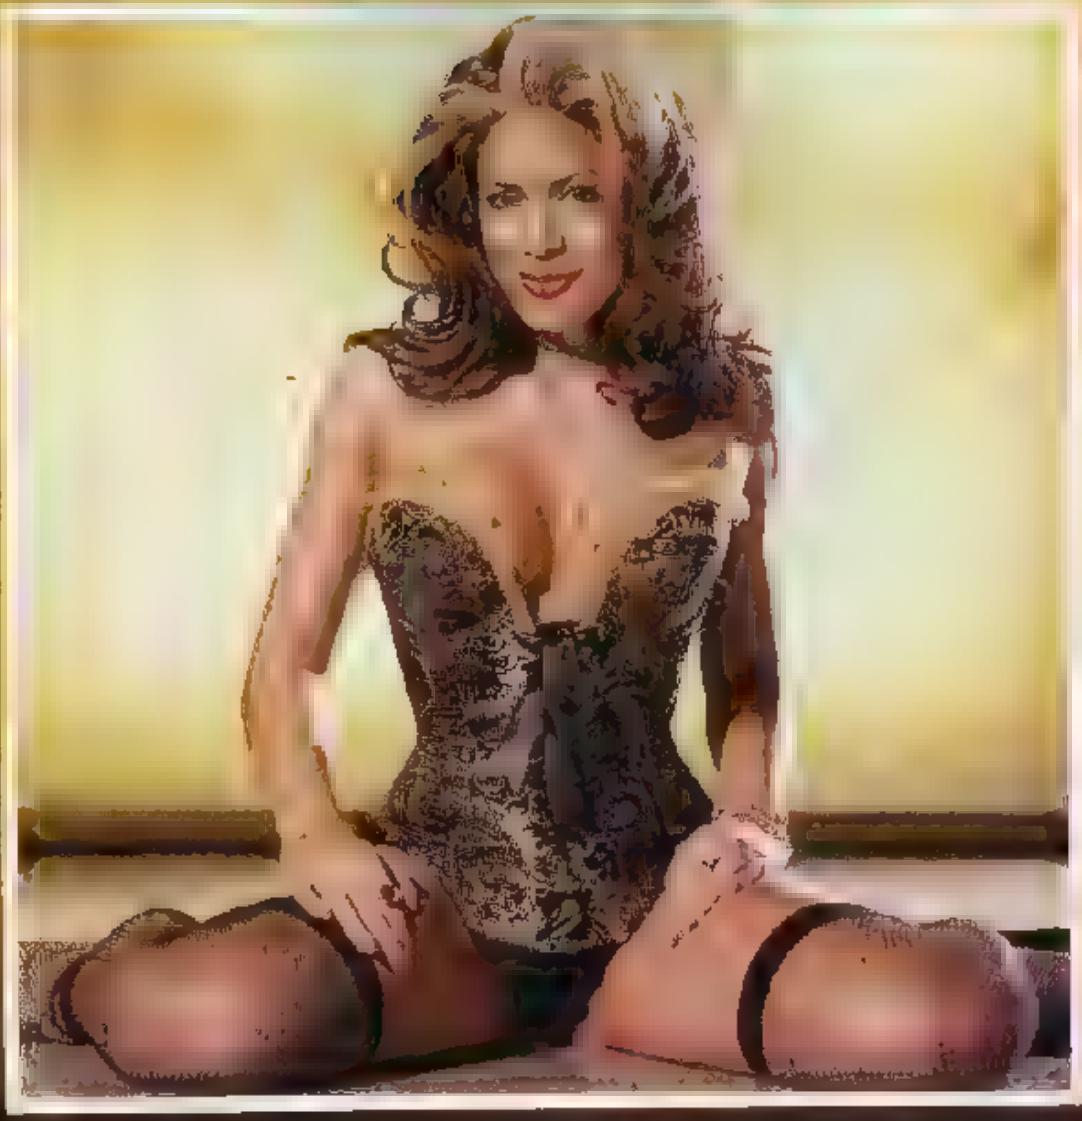

New York's Grand Central Station, people never stop moving. But when Melina walks through the station, all traffic stops to a halt. This sultry Diva strolls past, catching the 5 o'clock back to Bedford doesn't seem so important anymore. Of course, who can blame them? Even in WWE, Melina has a knack for distracting people. As the manager of MNM, Melina always draws stares with her eye-popping ring entrance. Her presence at Ringrade has helped Johnny Nitro and Joey Mercury capture the tag team titles and become one of BrockDown's most dominant duos. Of course, she's also proven that she can handle herself when she needs to, getting into the ring herself and dishing out more than her fair share. It looks like a lot of people at Grand Central are going to miss their trains. Not that they're complaining.

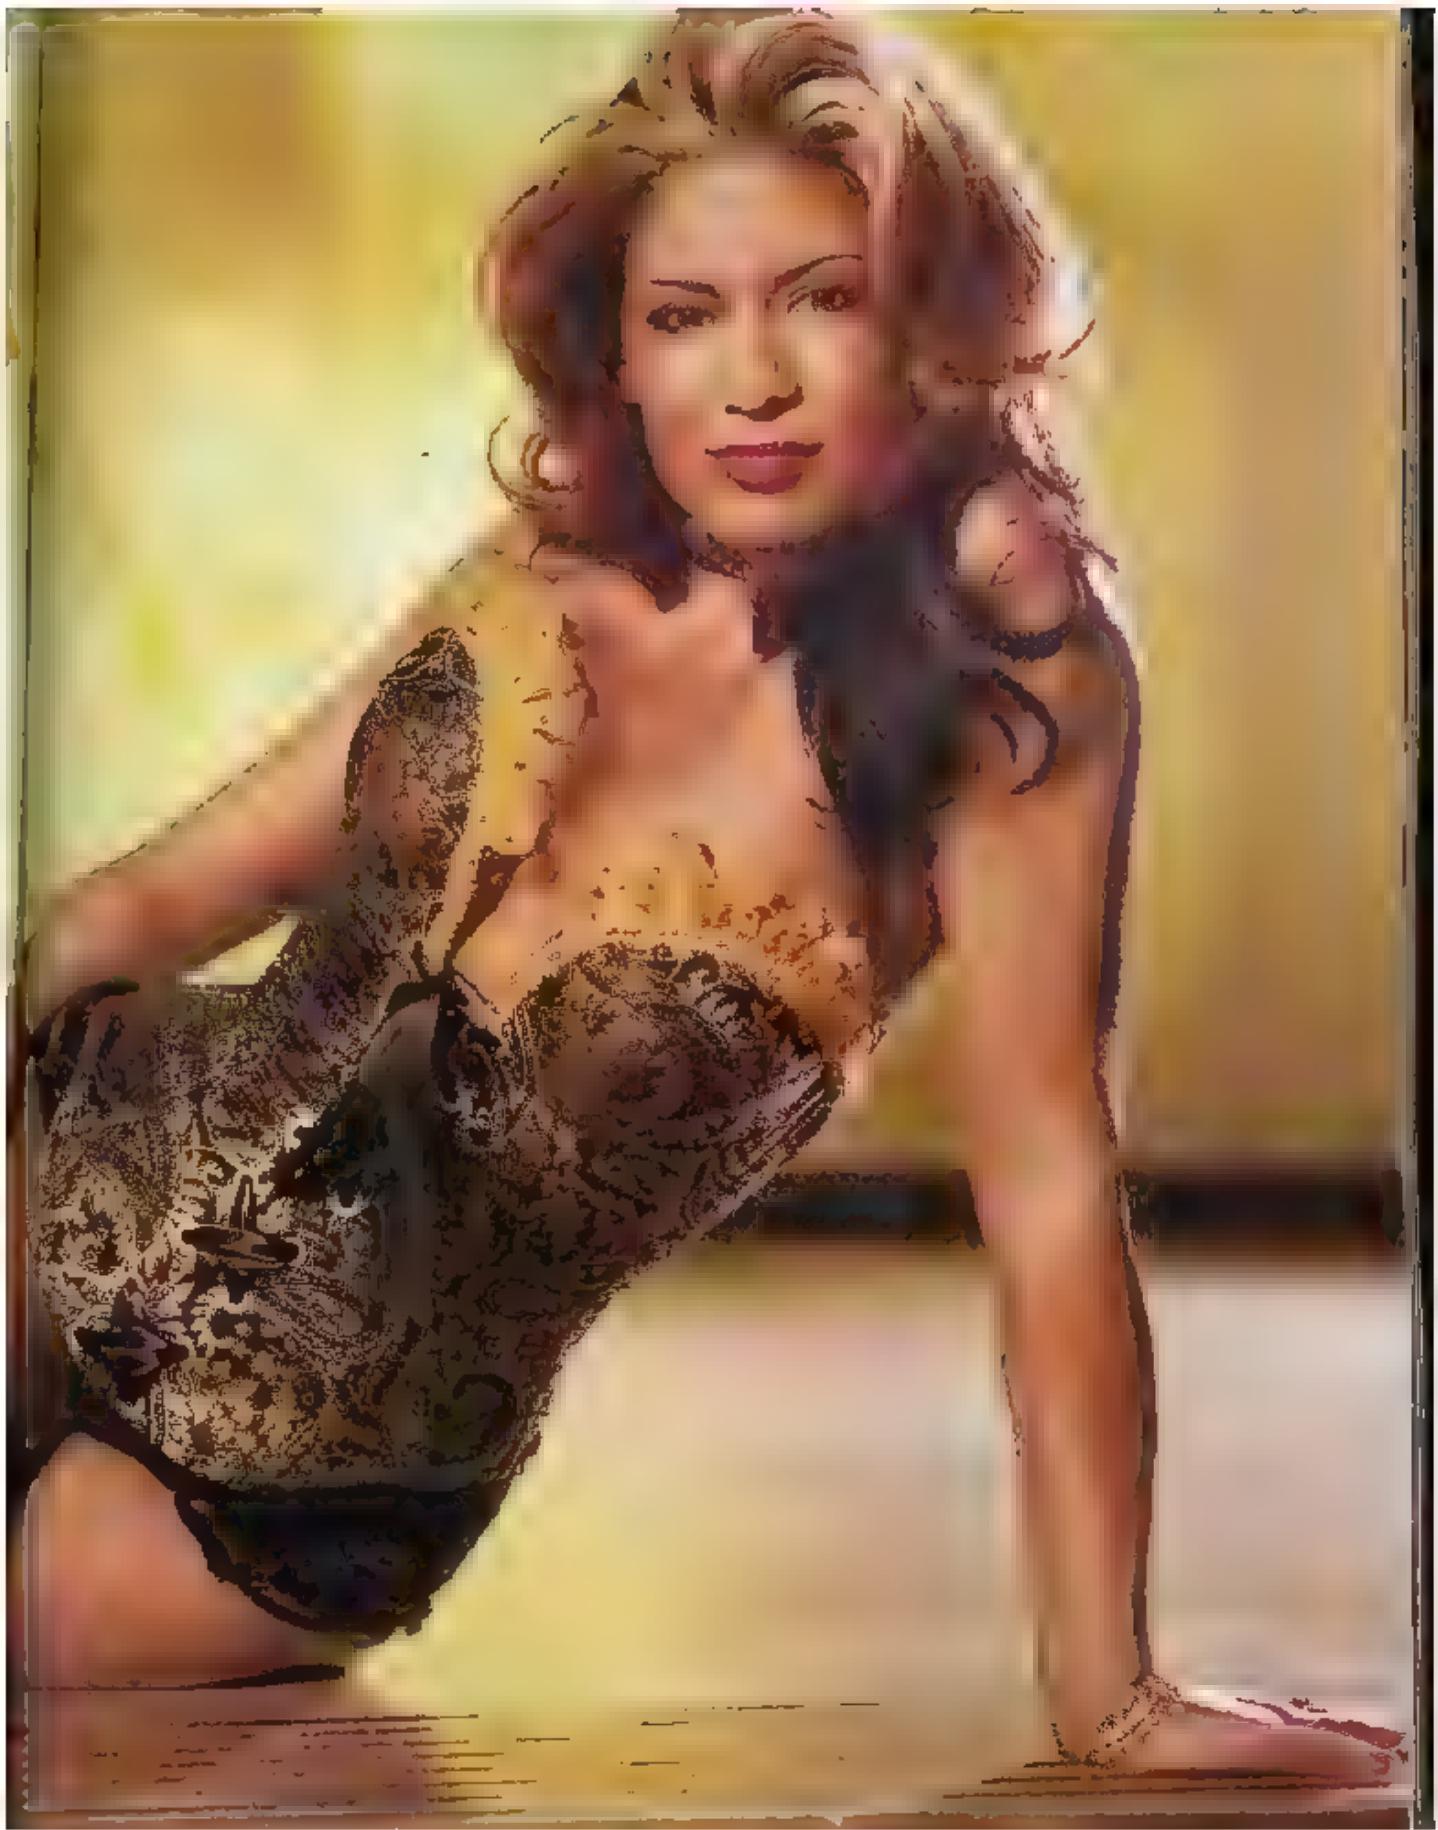

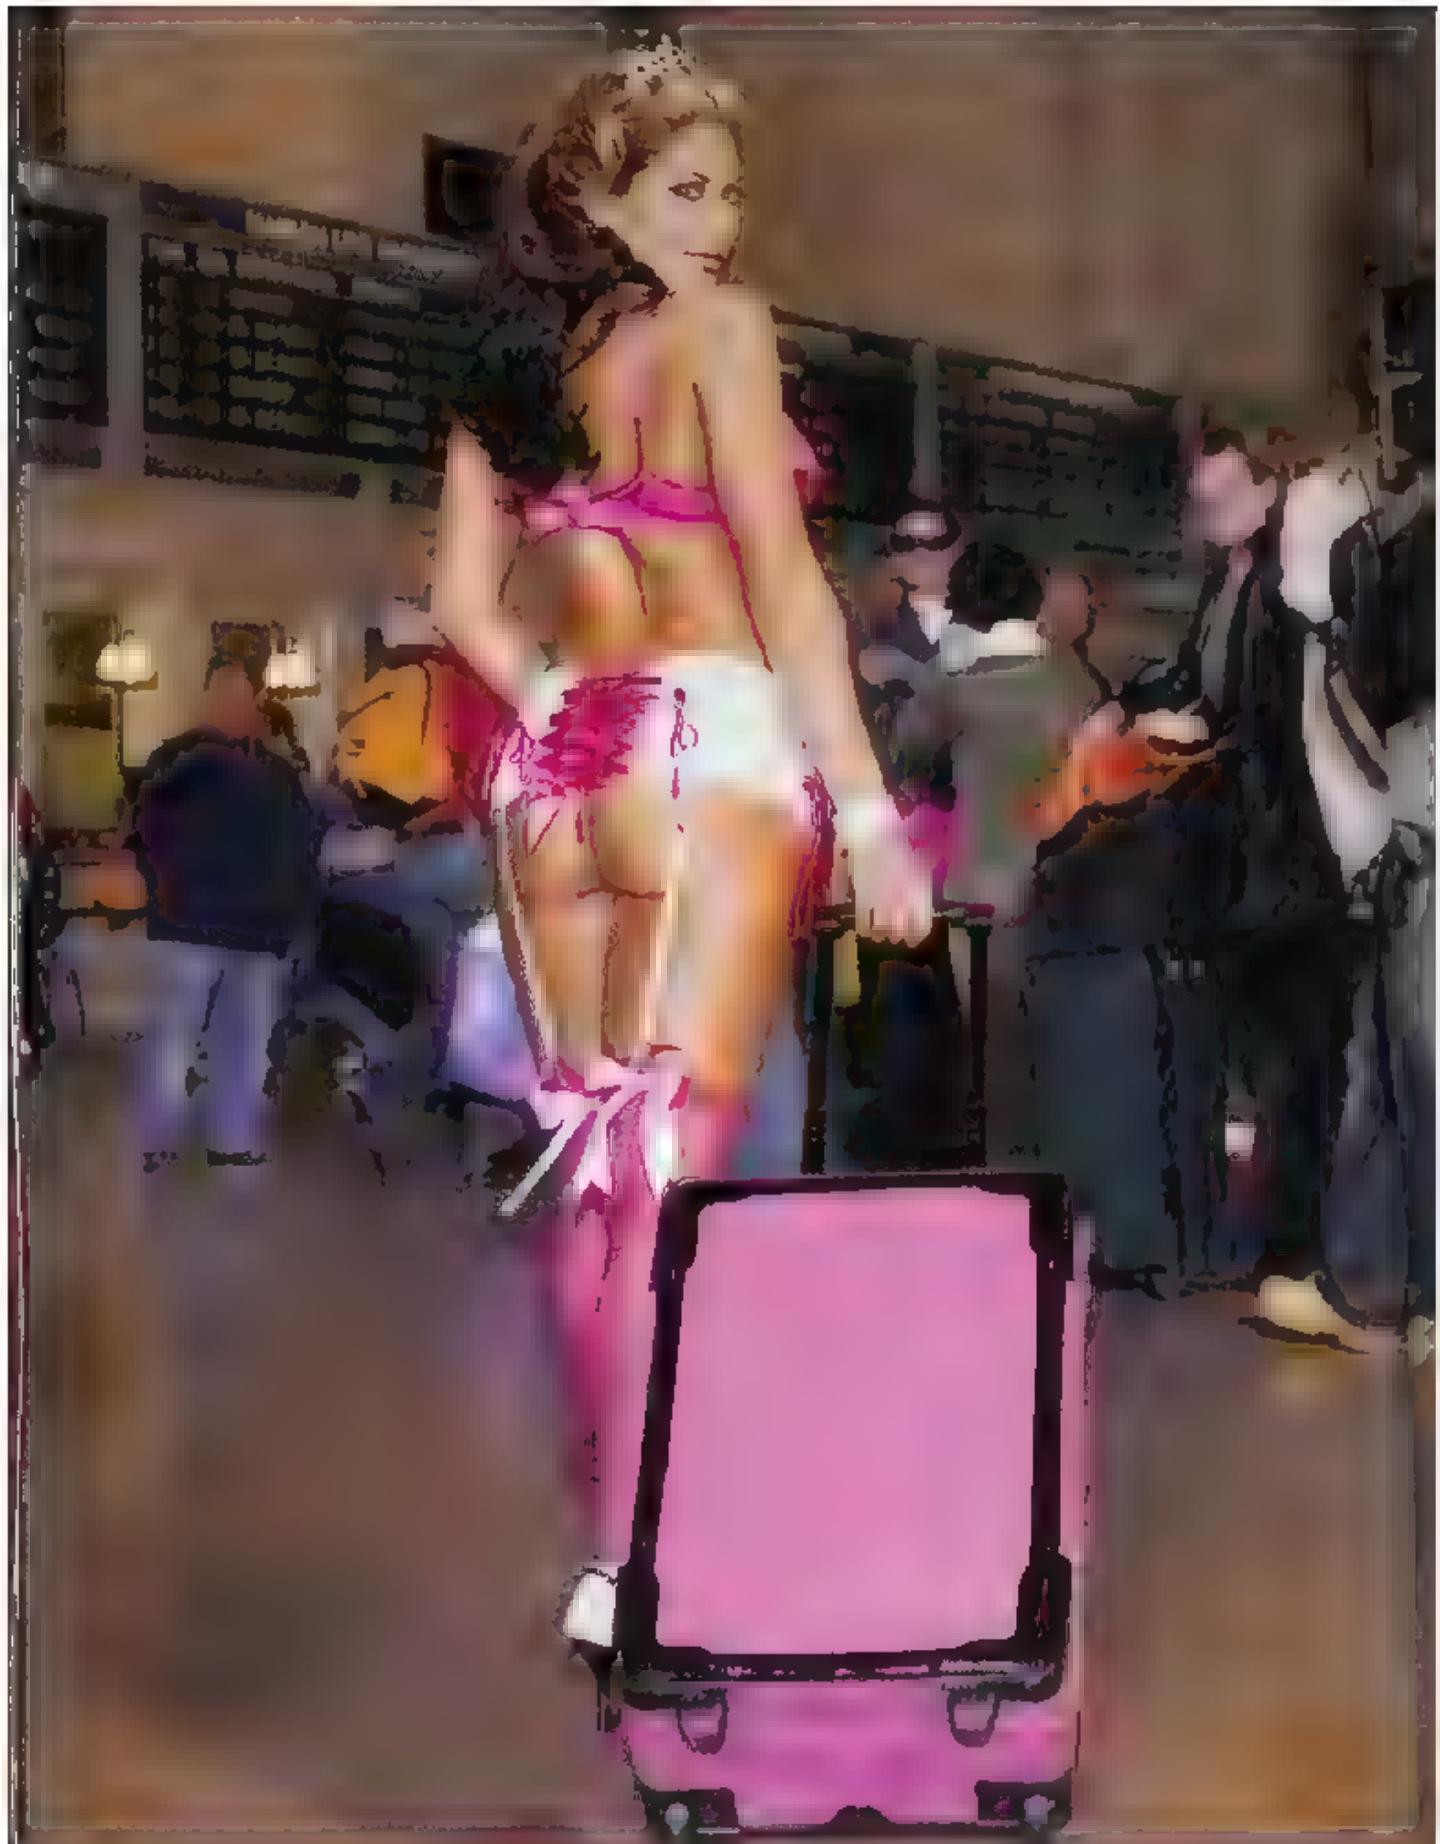

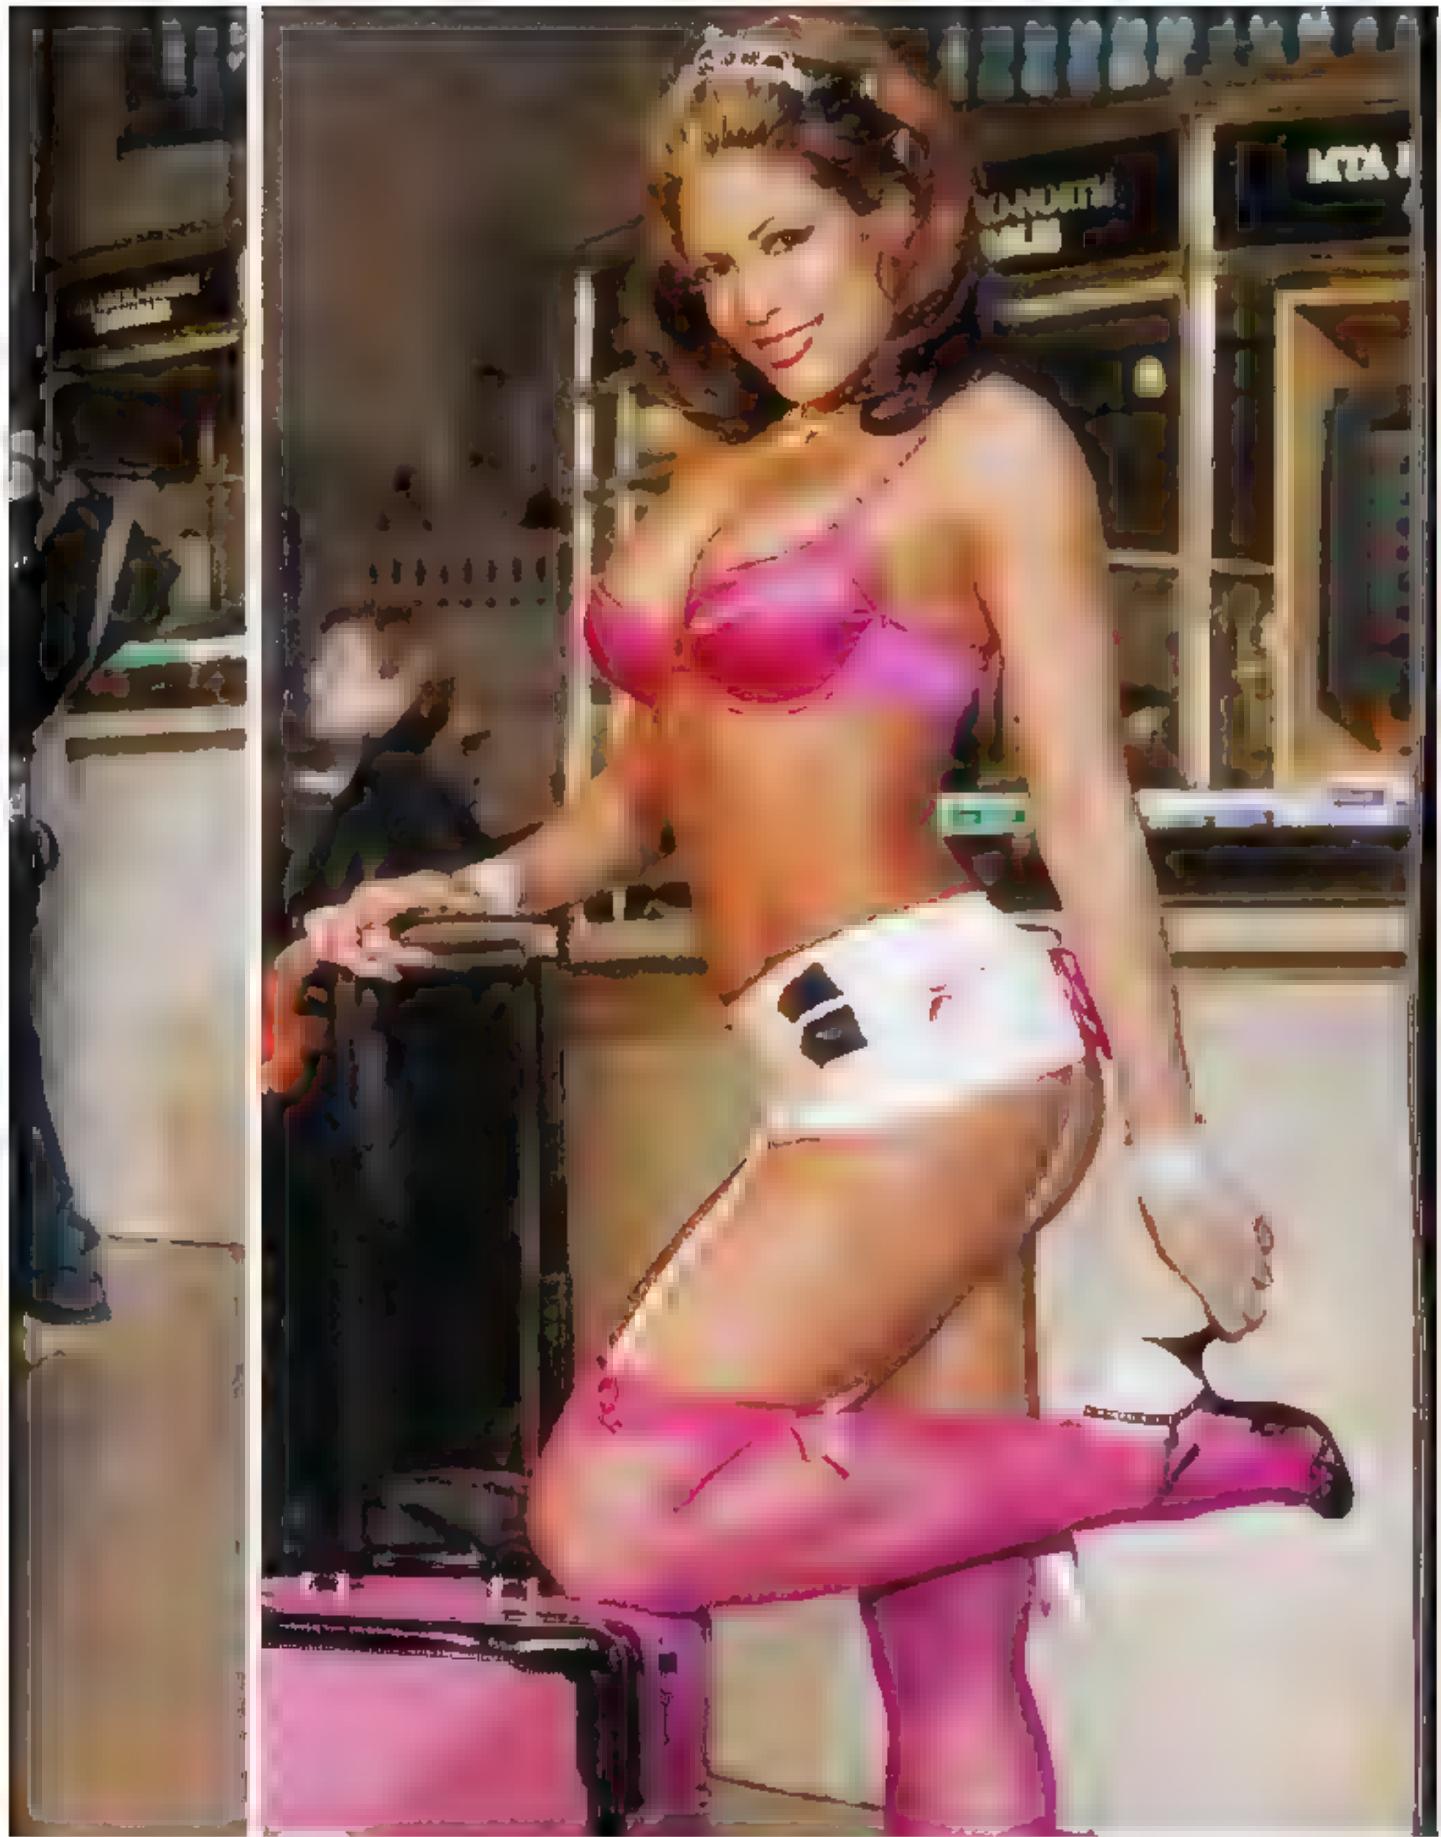

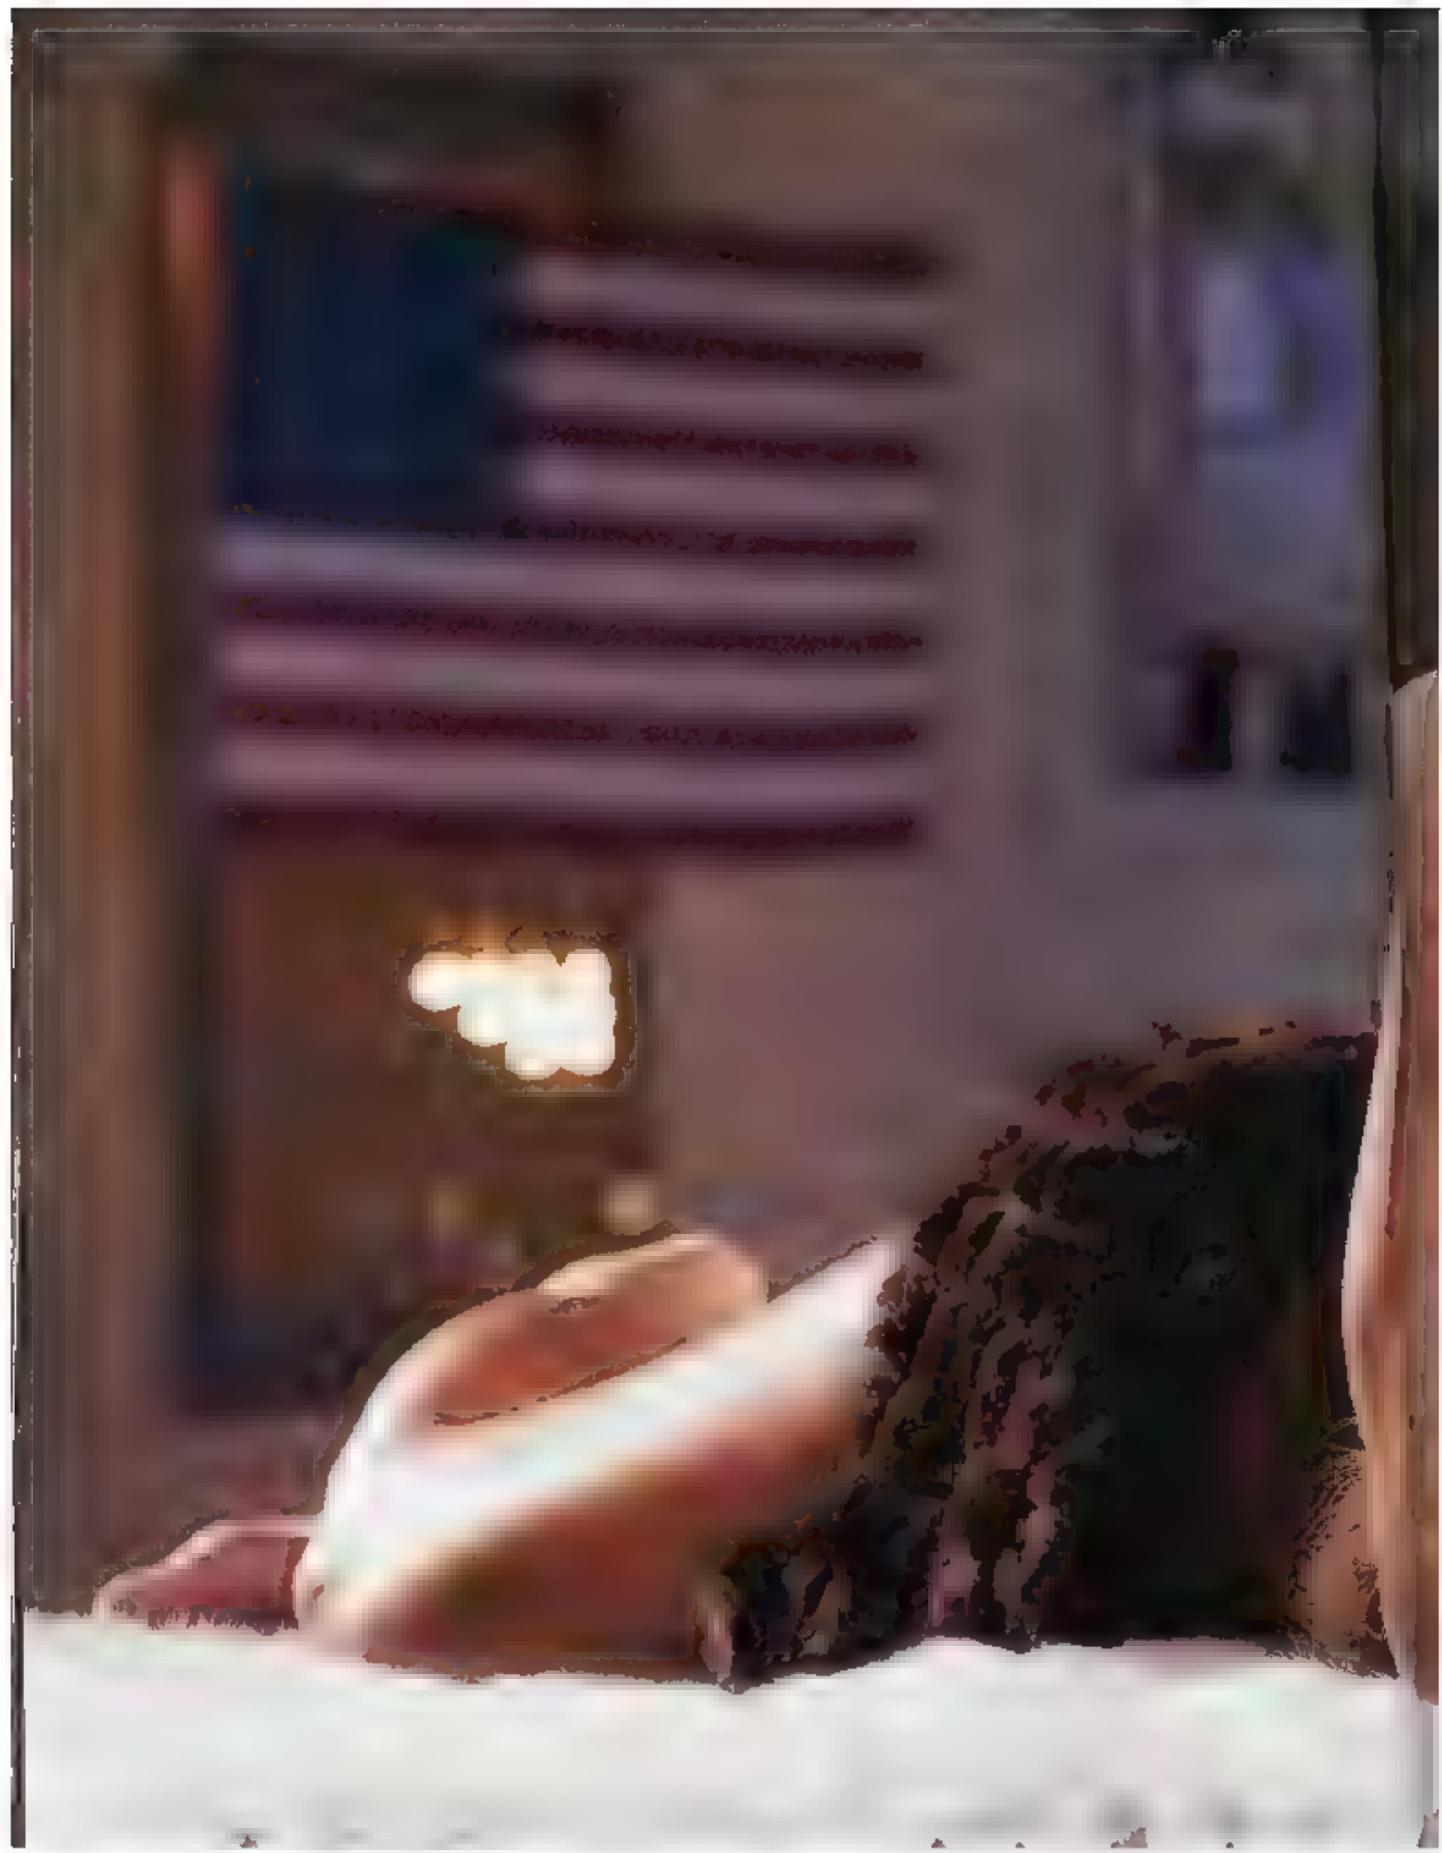

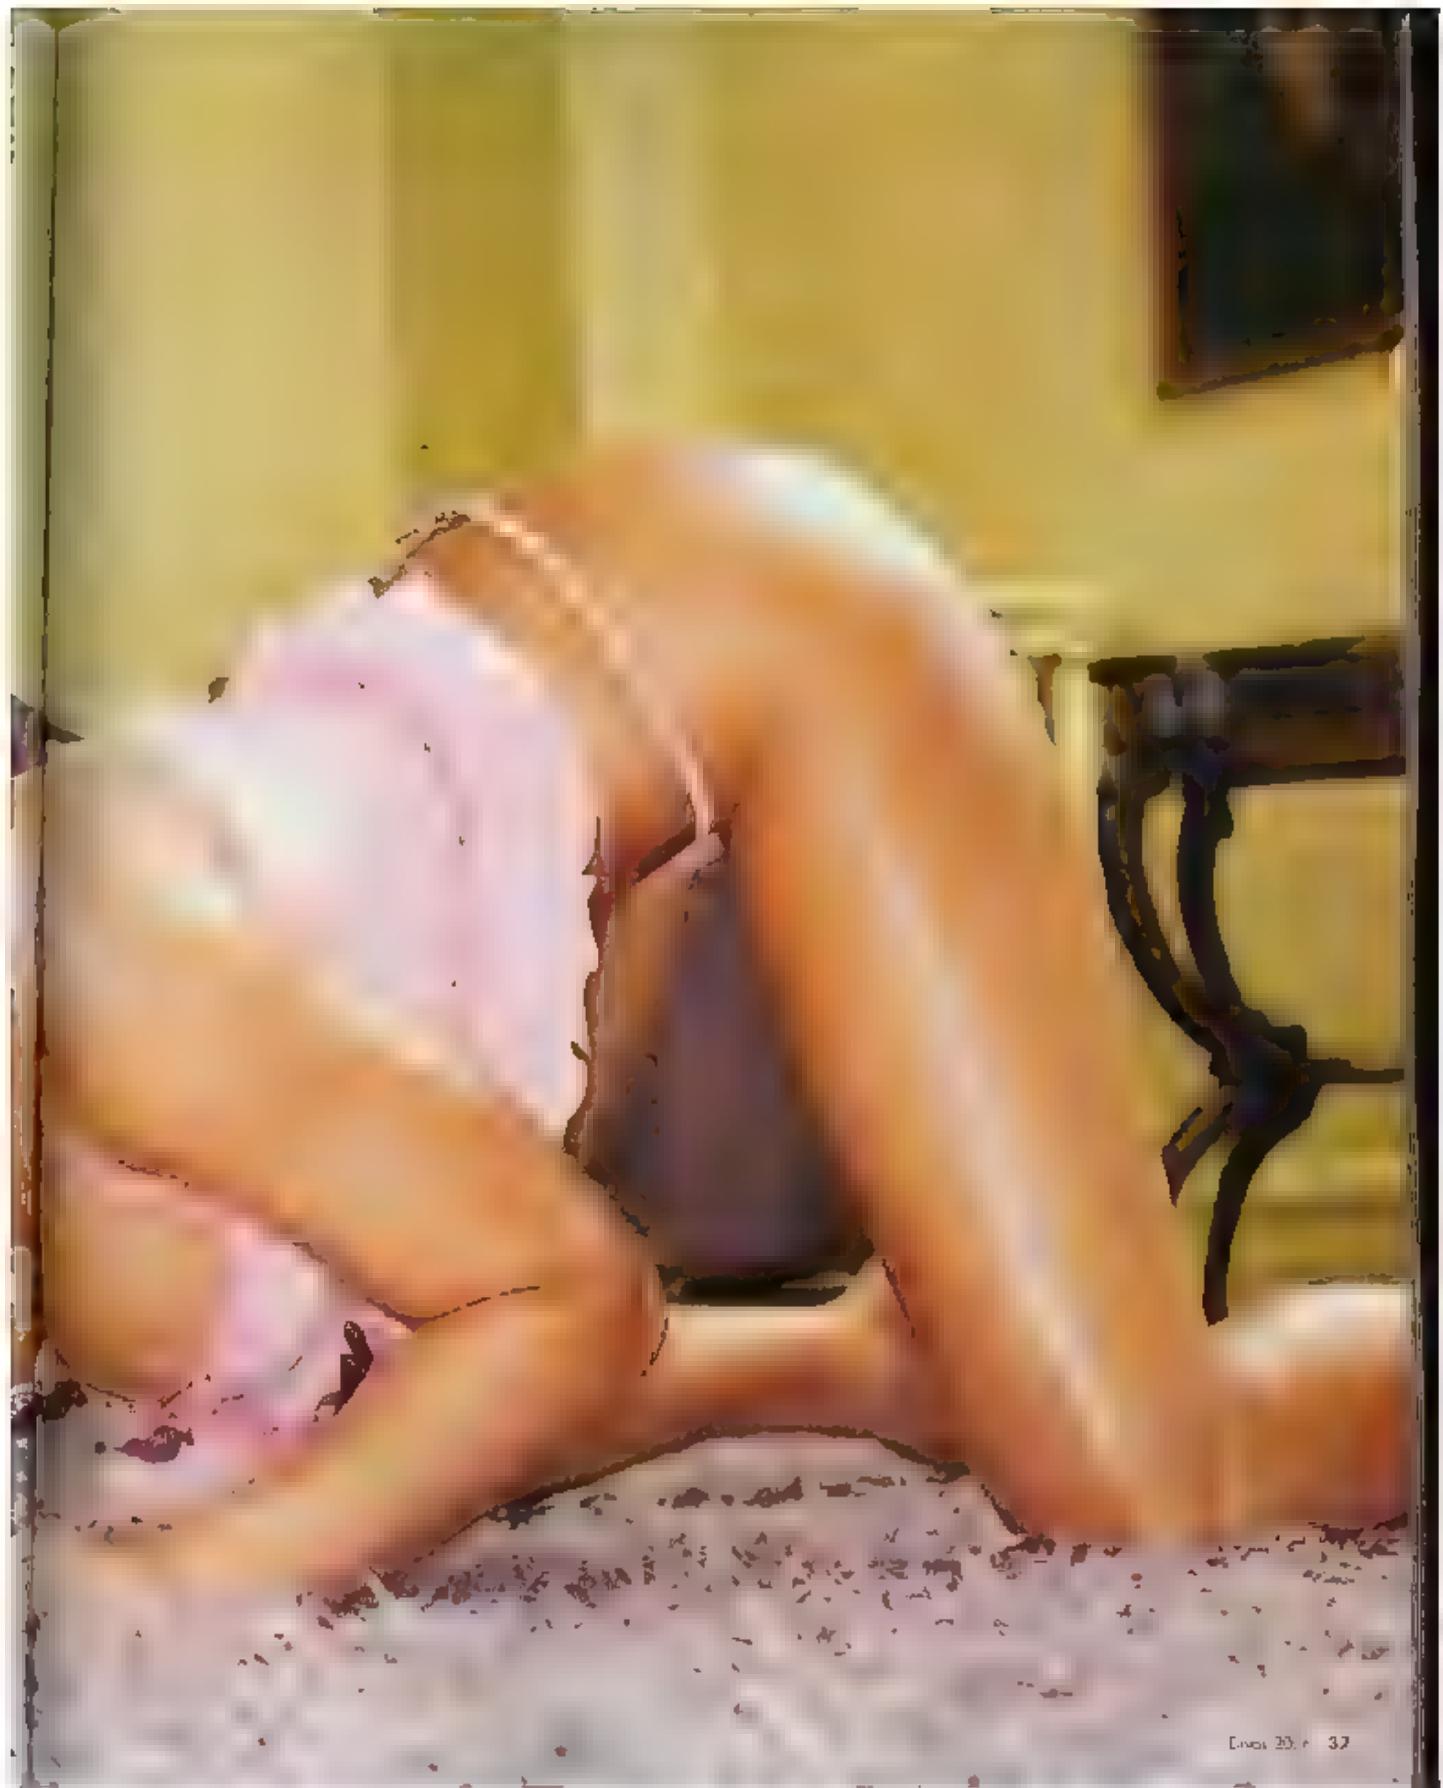

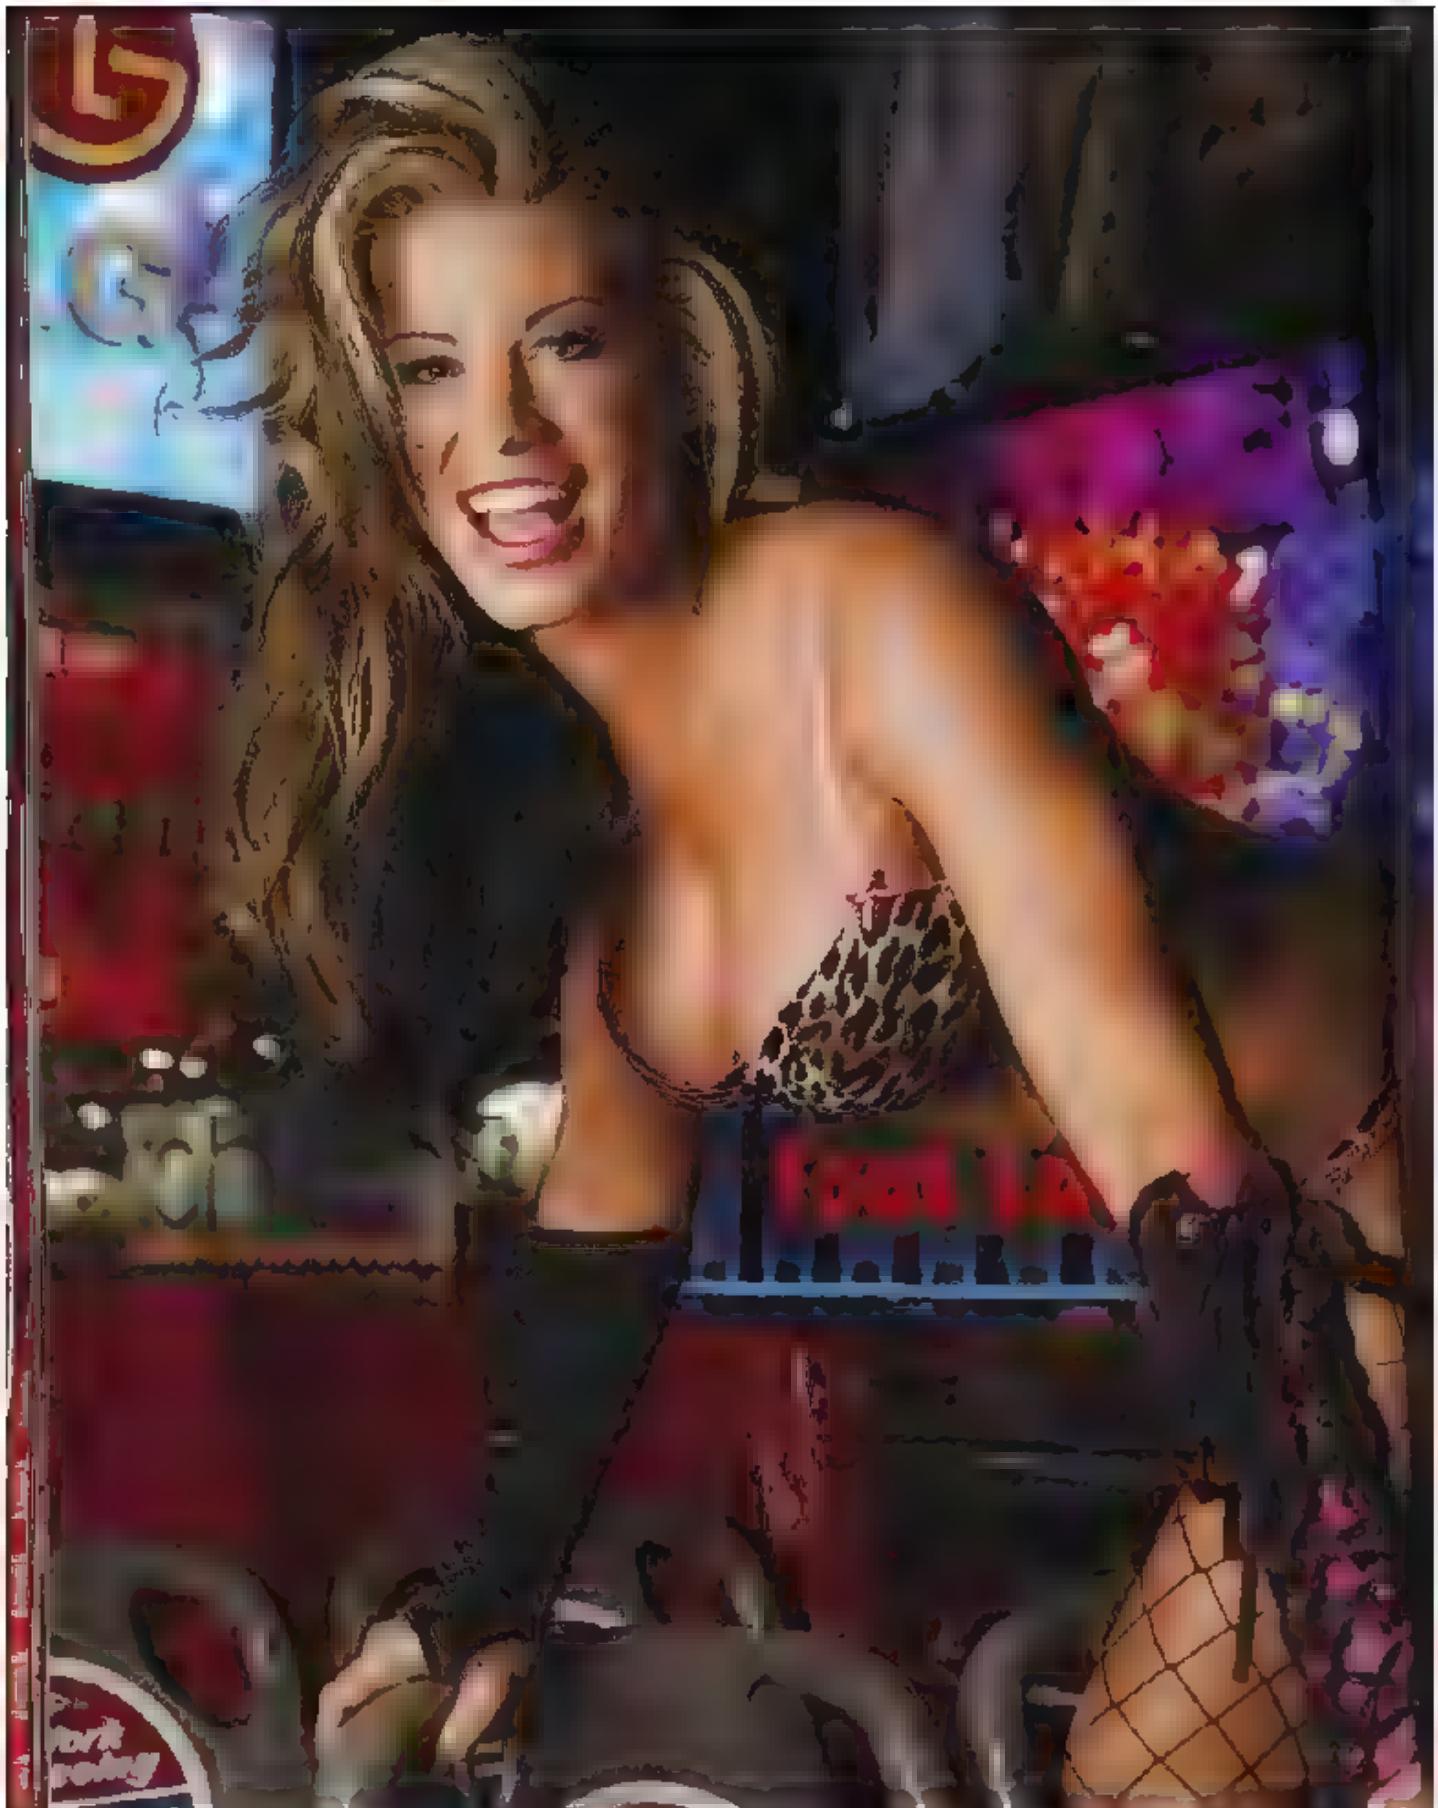

ASHLEY

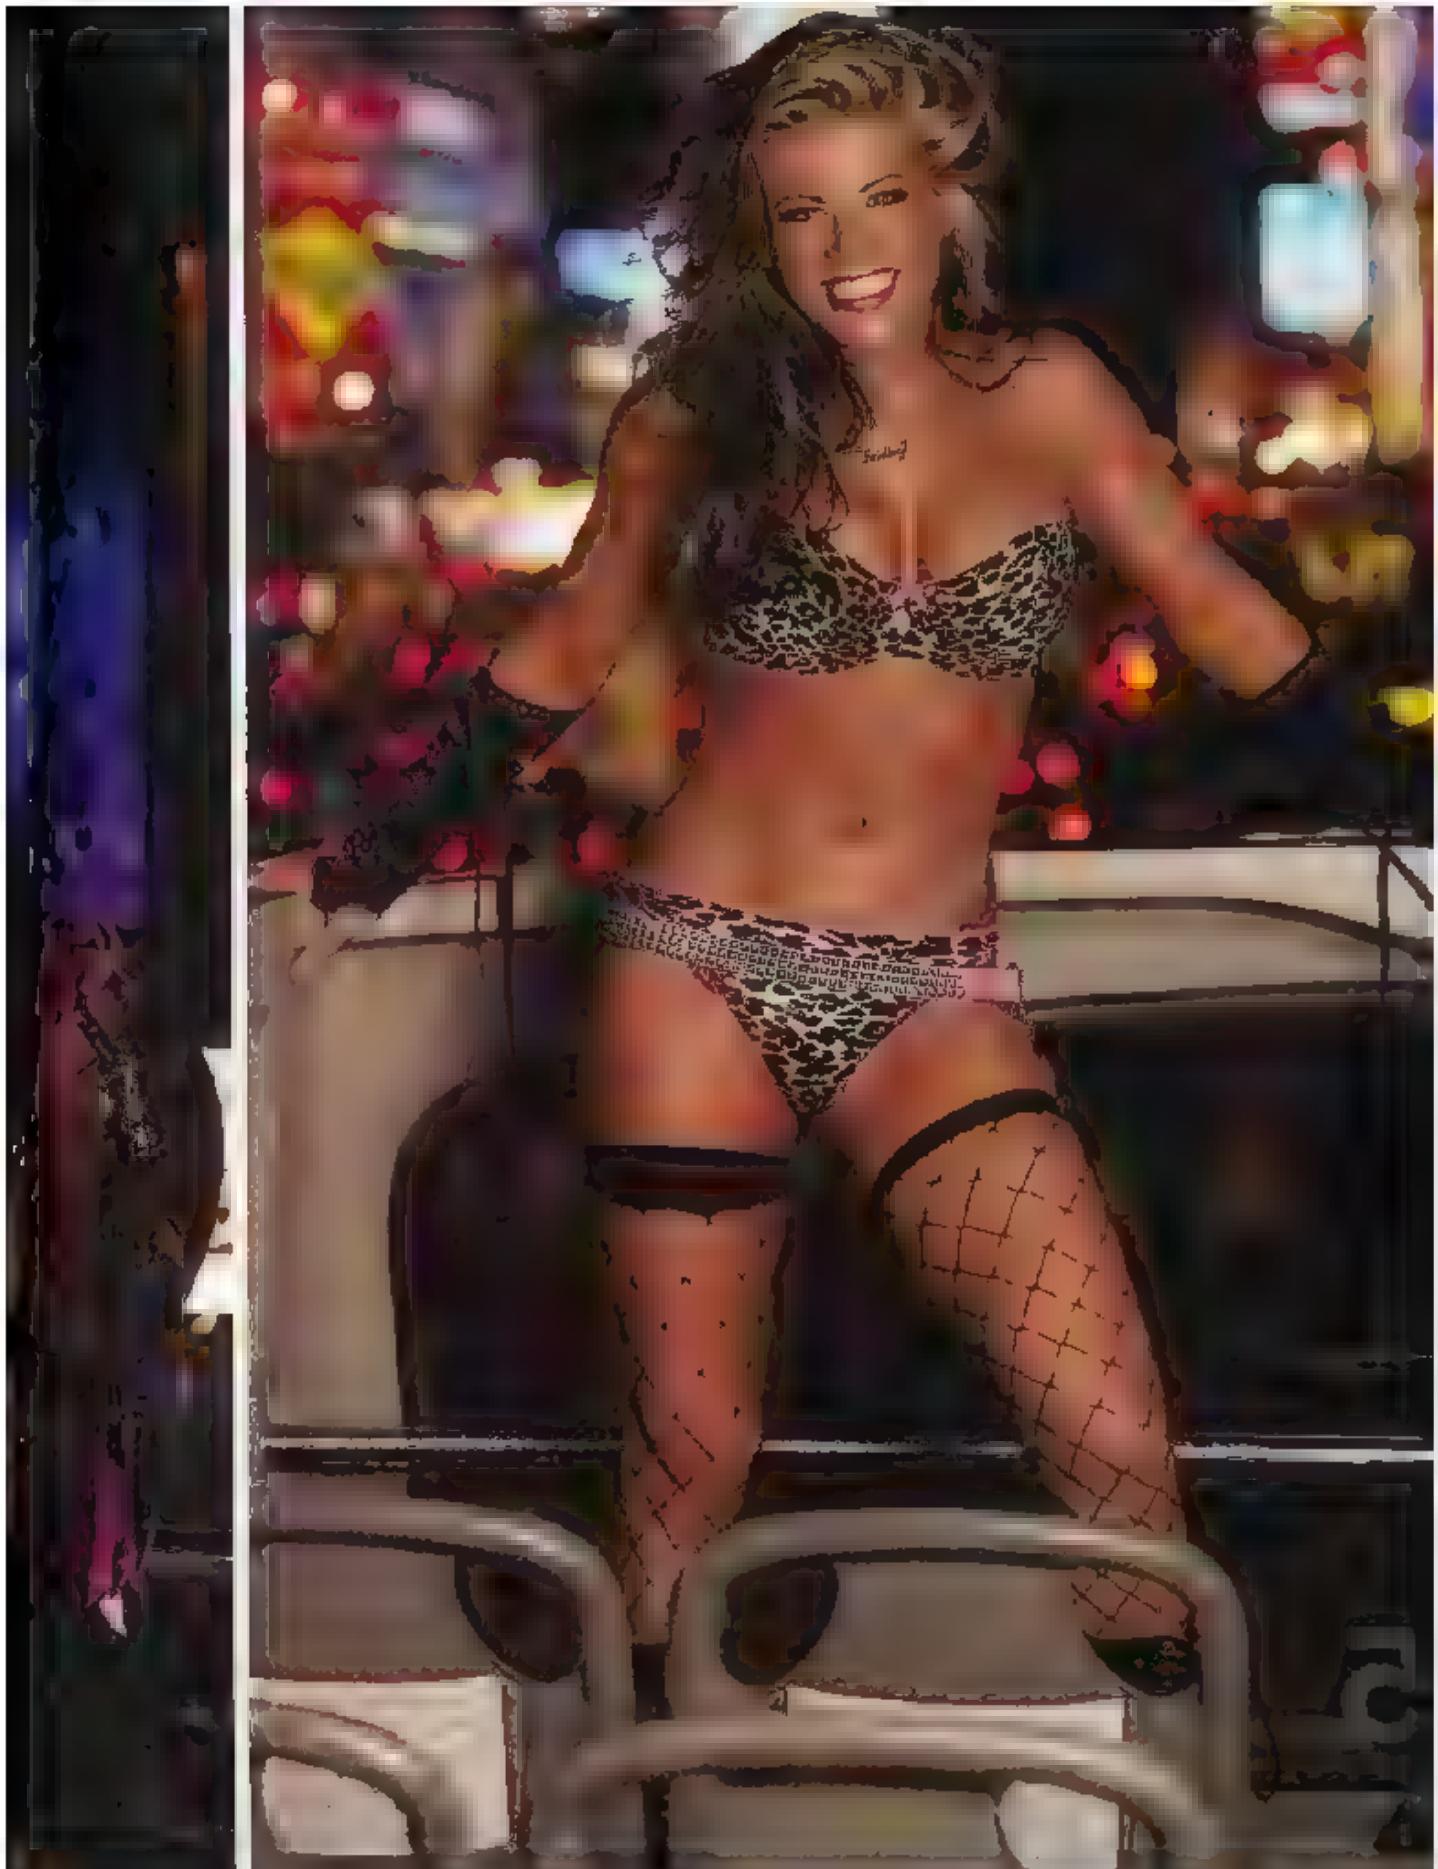

In recent years, DFW has seen a number of great ideas of the kind: extensive beautification projects by the City of Dallas, for example, have put our city out with a little "beautification project" of our own. We brought Ashley to a number of locations, and in our own humble opinion, they've never looked better.

In 2005, Ashley took Raw by storm when she won the Diva Search contest, and earned the right to take her place among the finest females sports-entertainment has to offer, the Divas of WWE. And in the time since the contest, she has more than come into her own. Judging by her pictorial, fans definitely made the right choice by voting for her. Not only is she the winner, but thanks to these pictures, we're all winners.

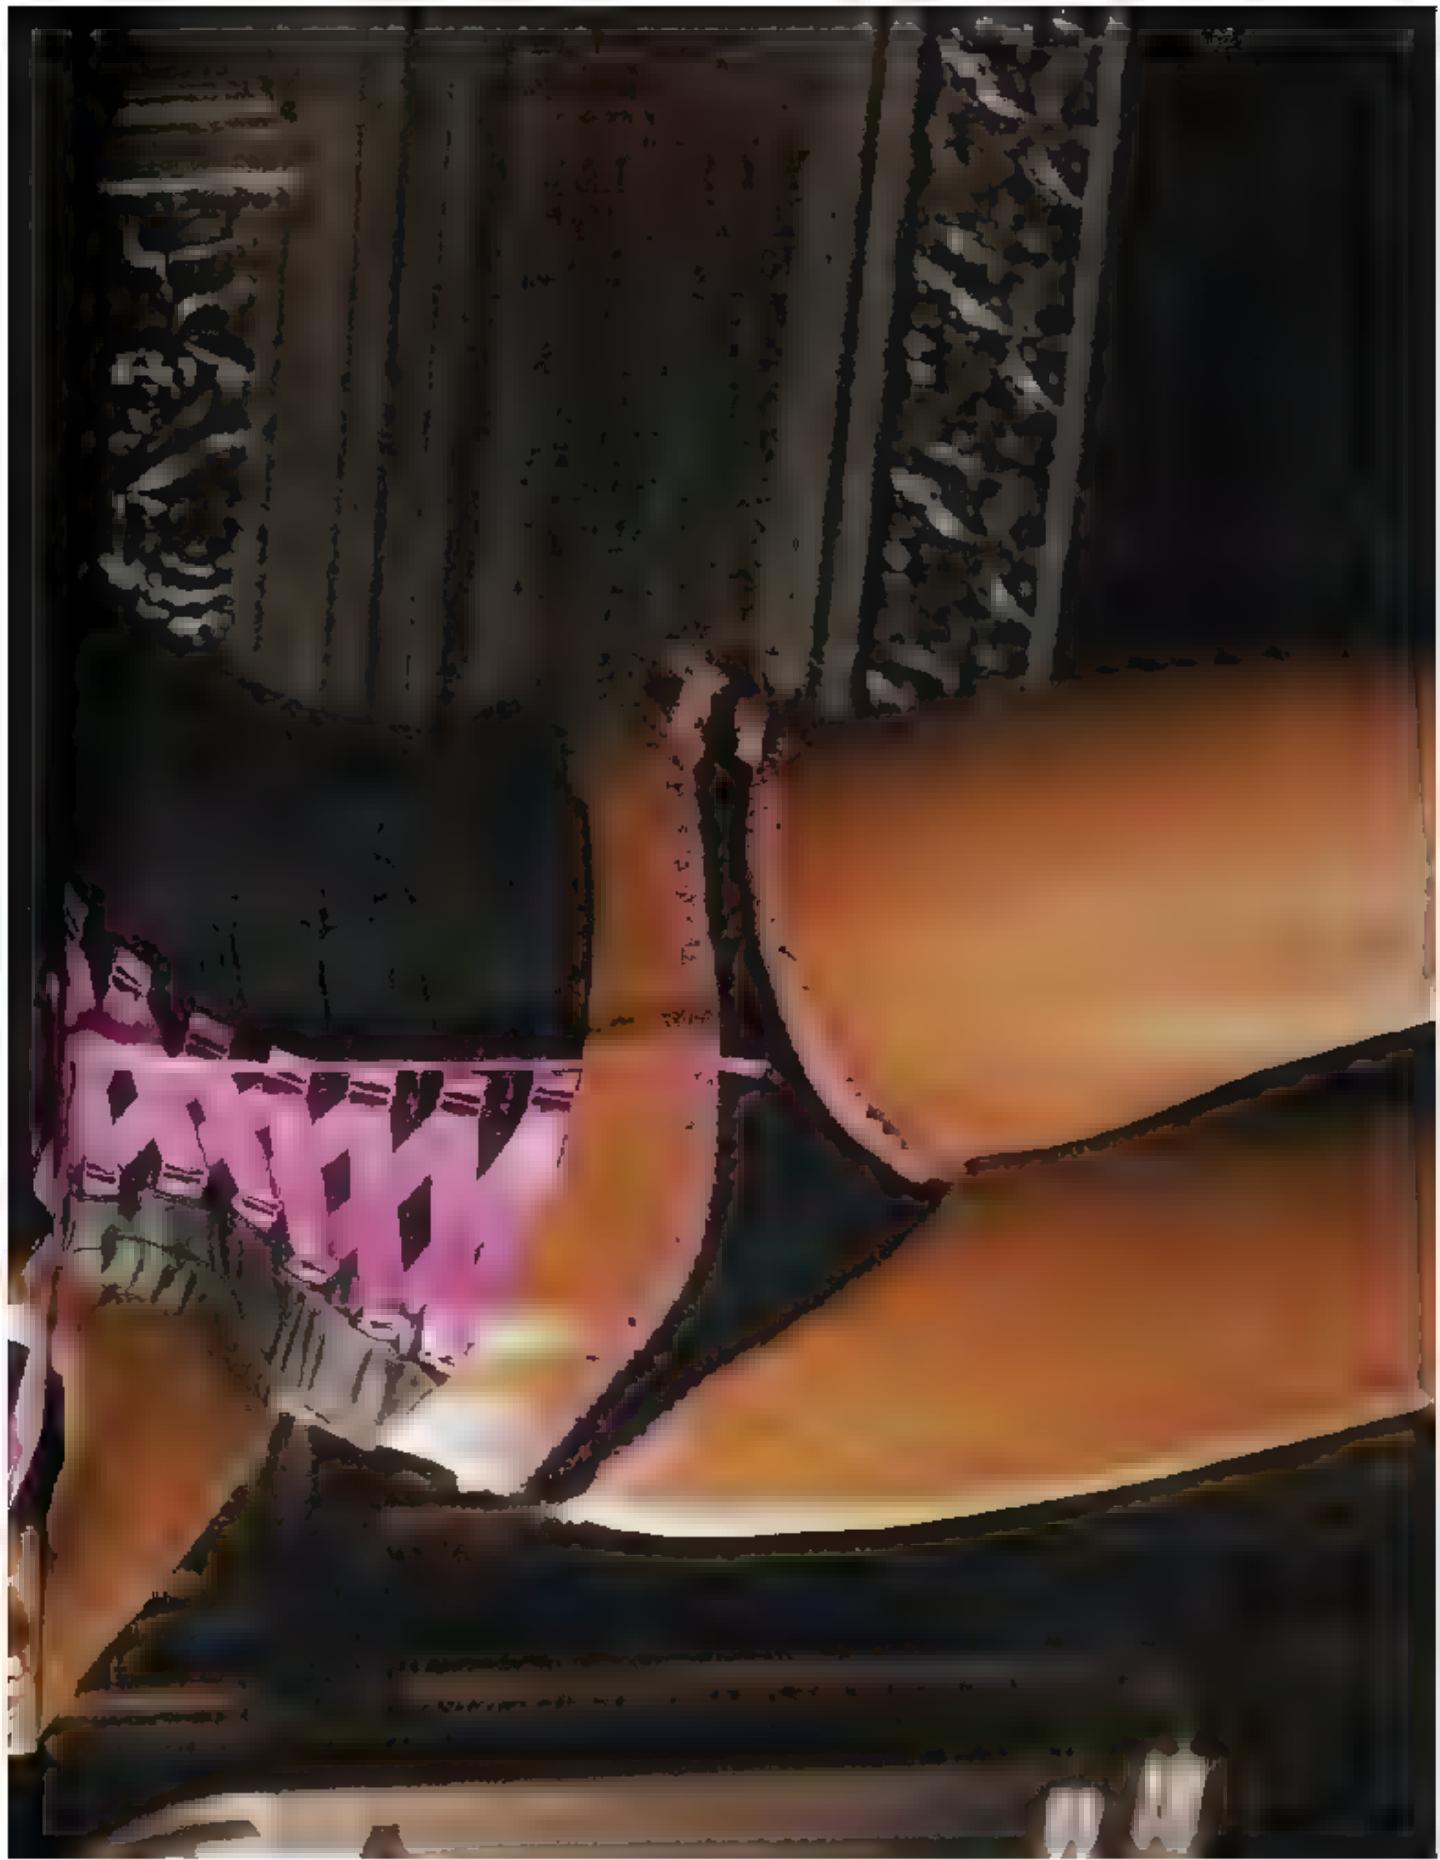

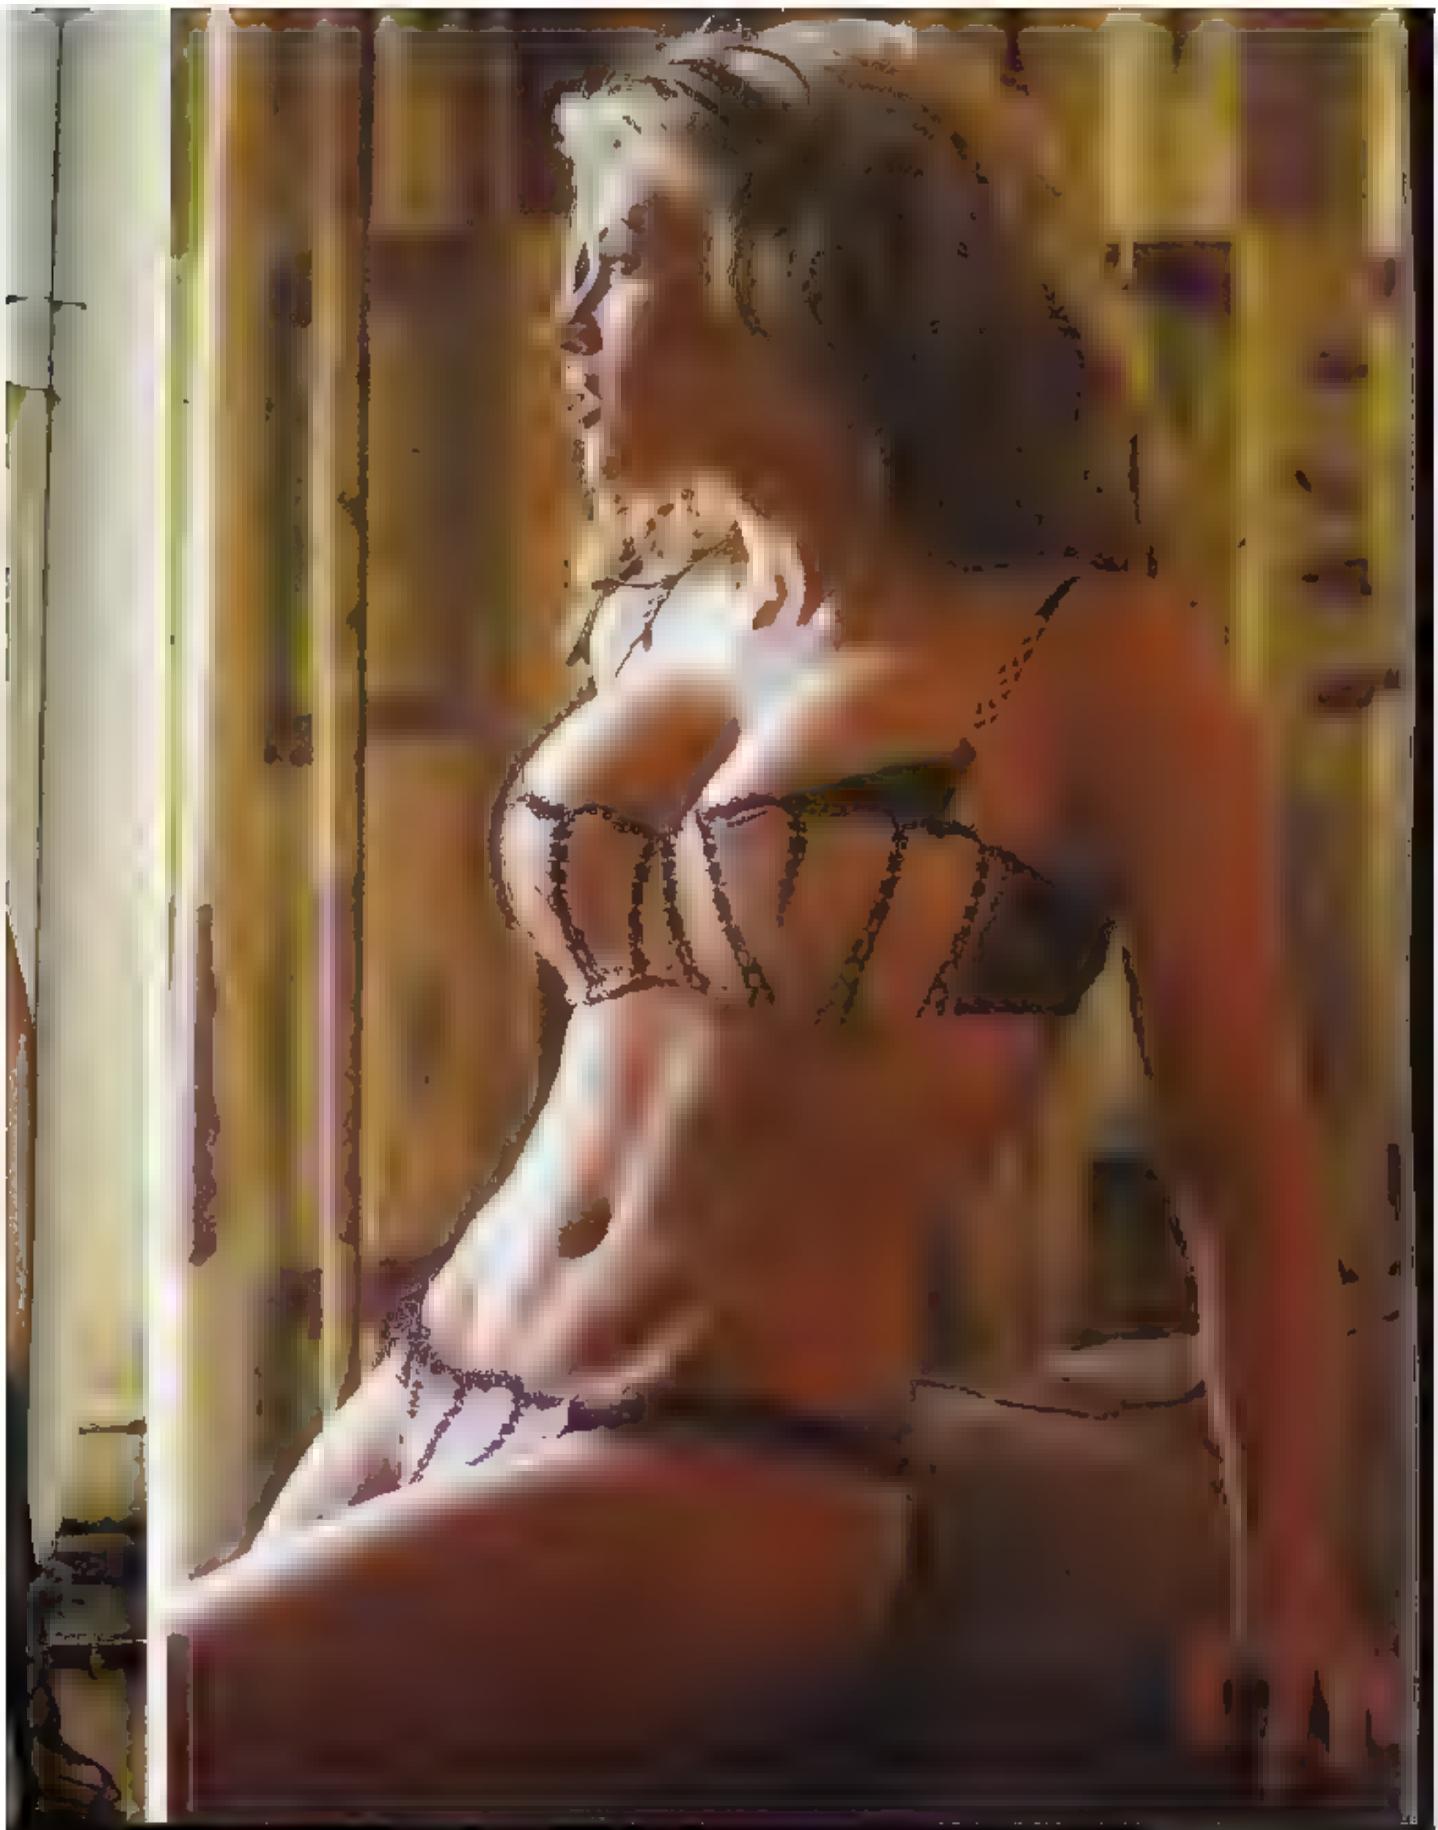

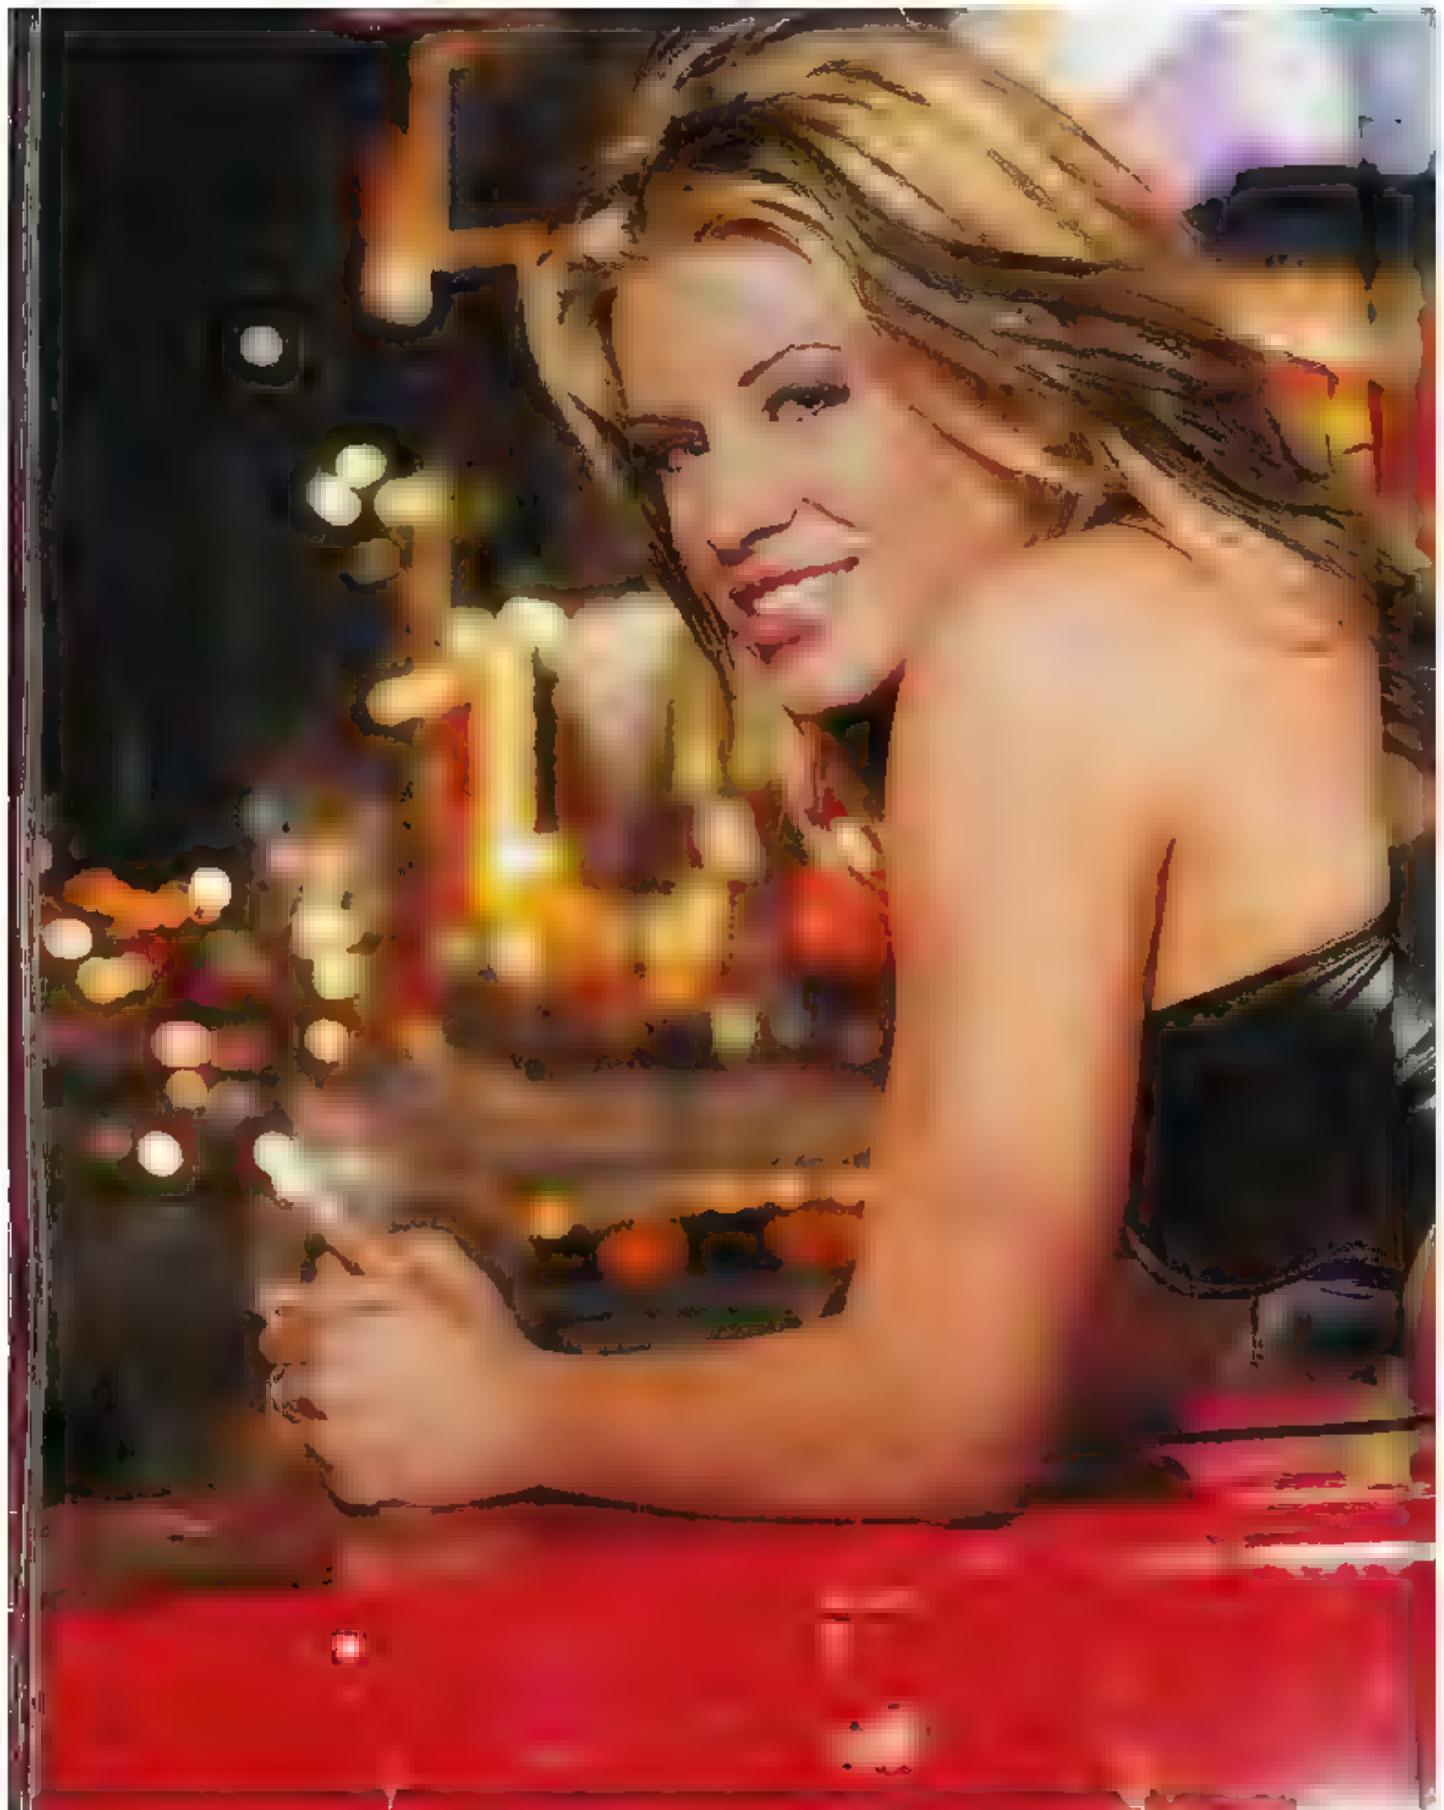

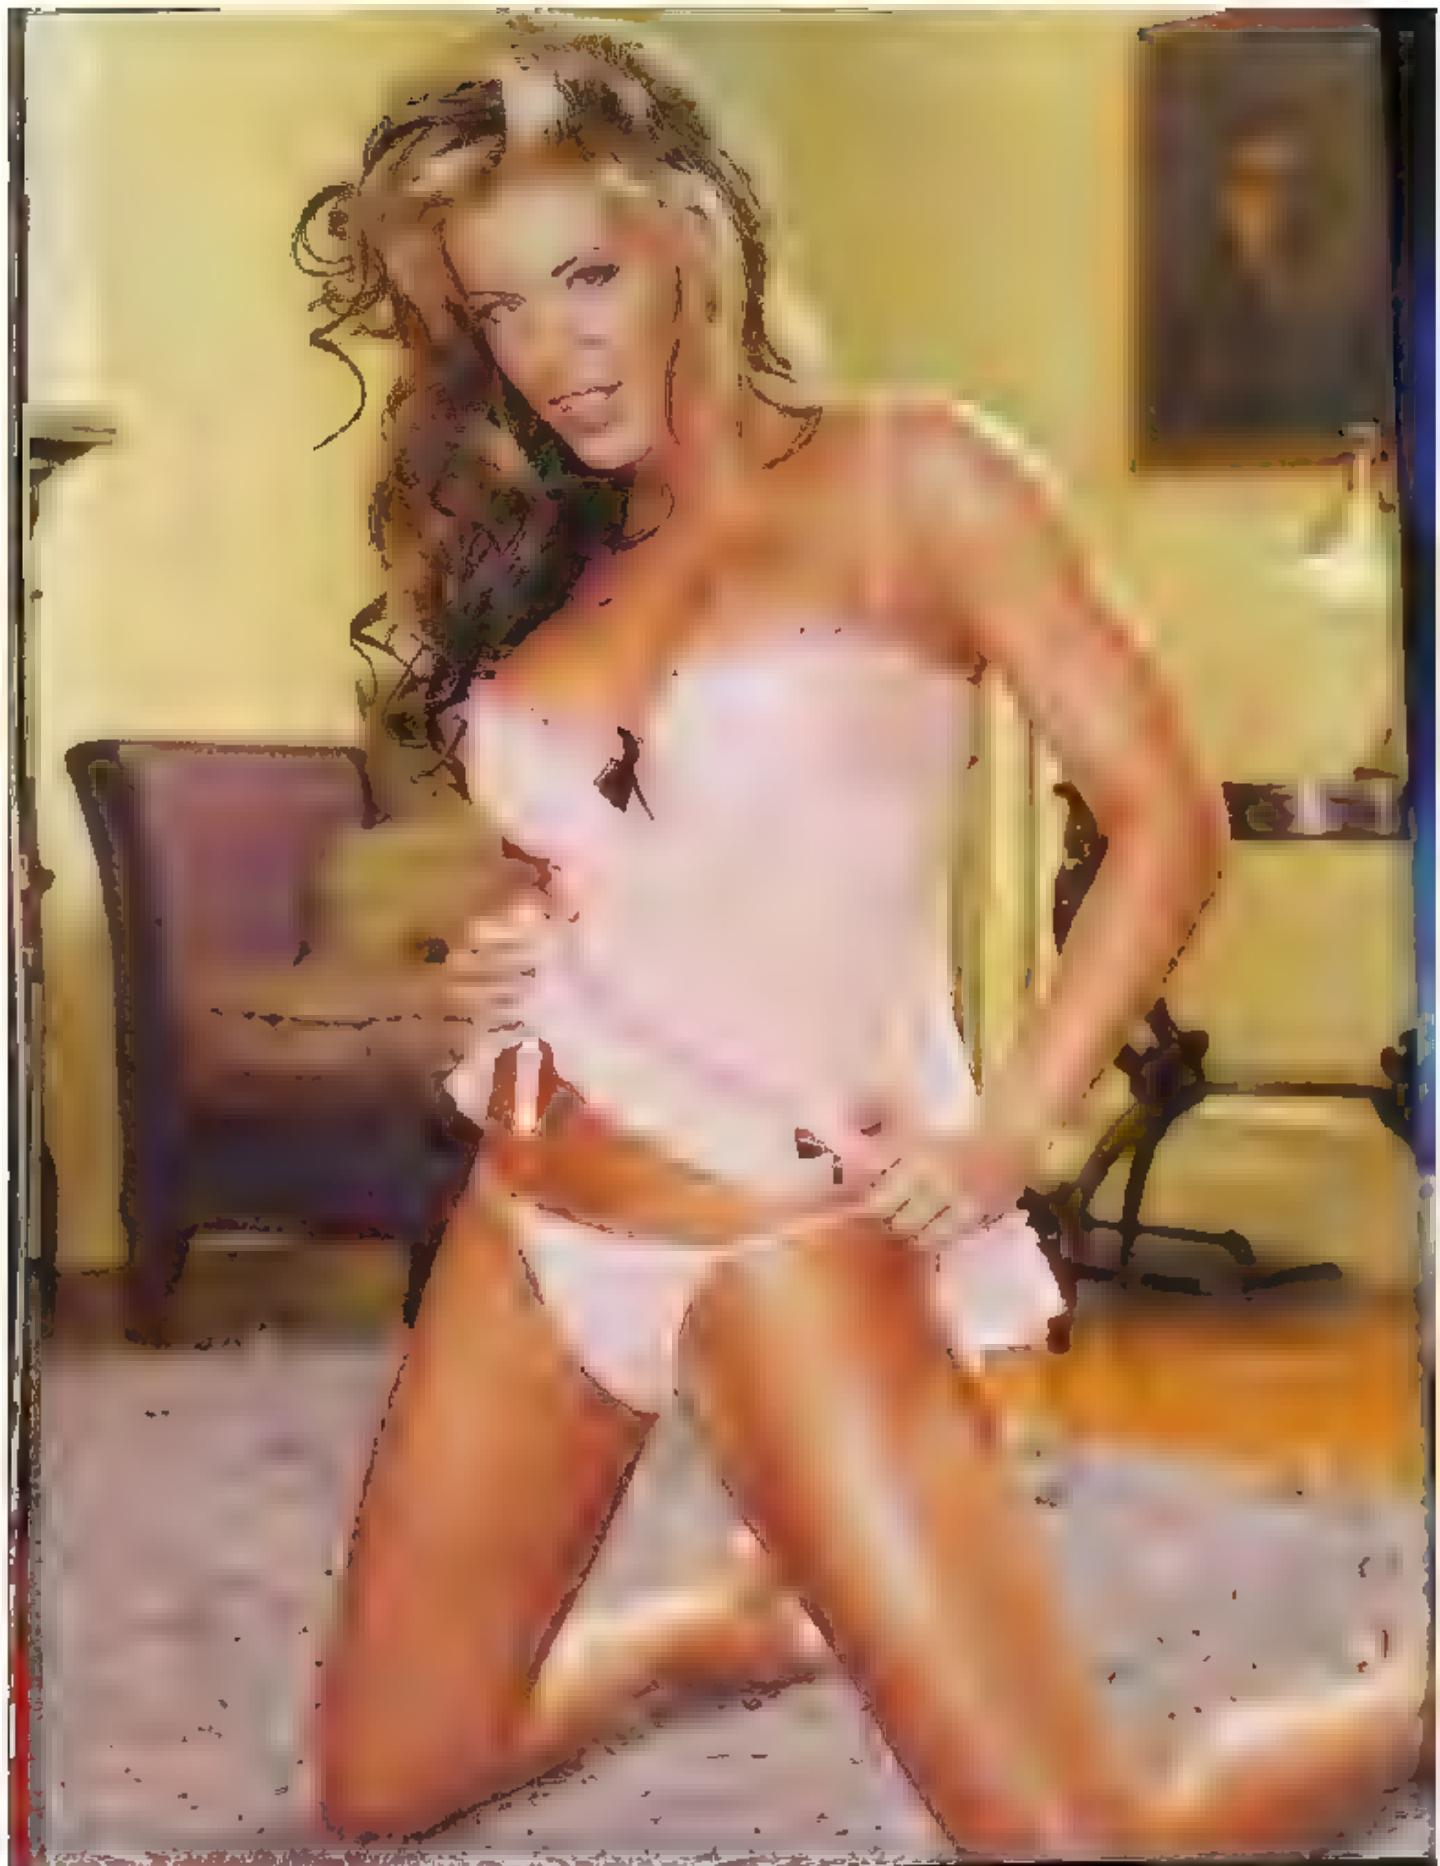

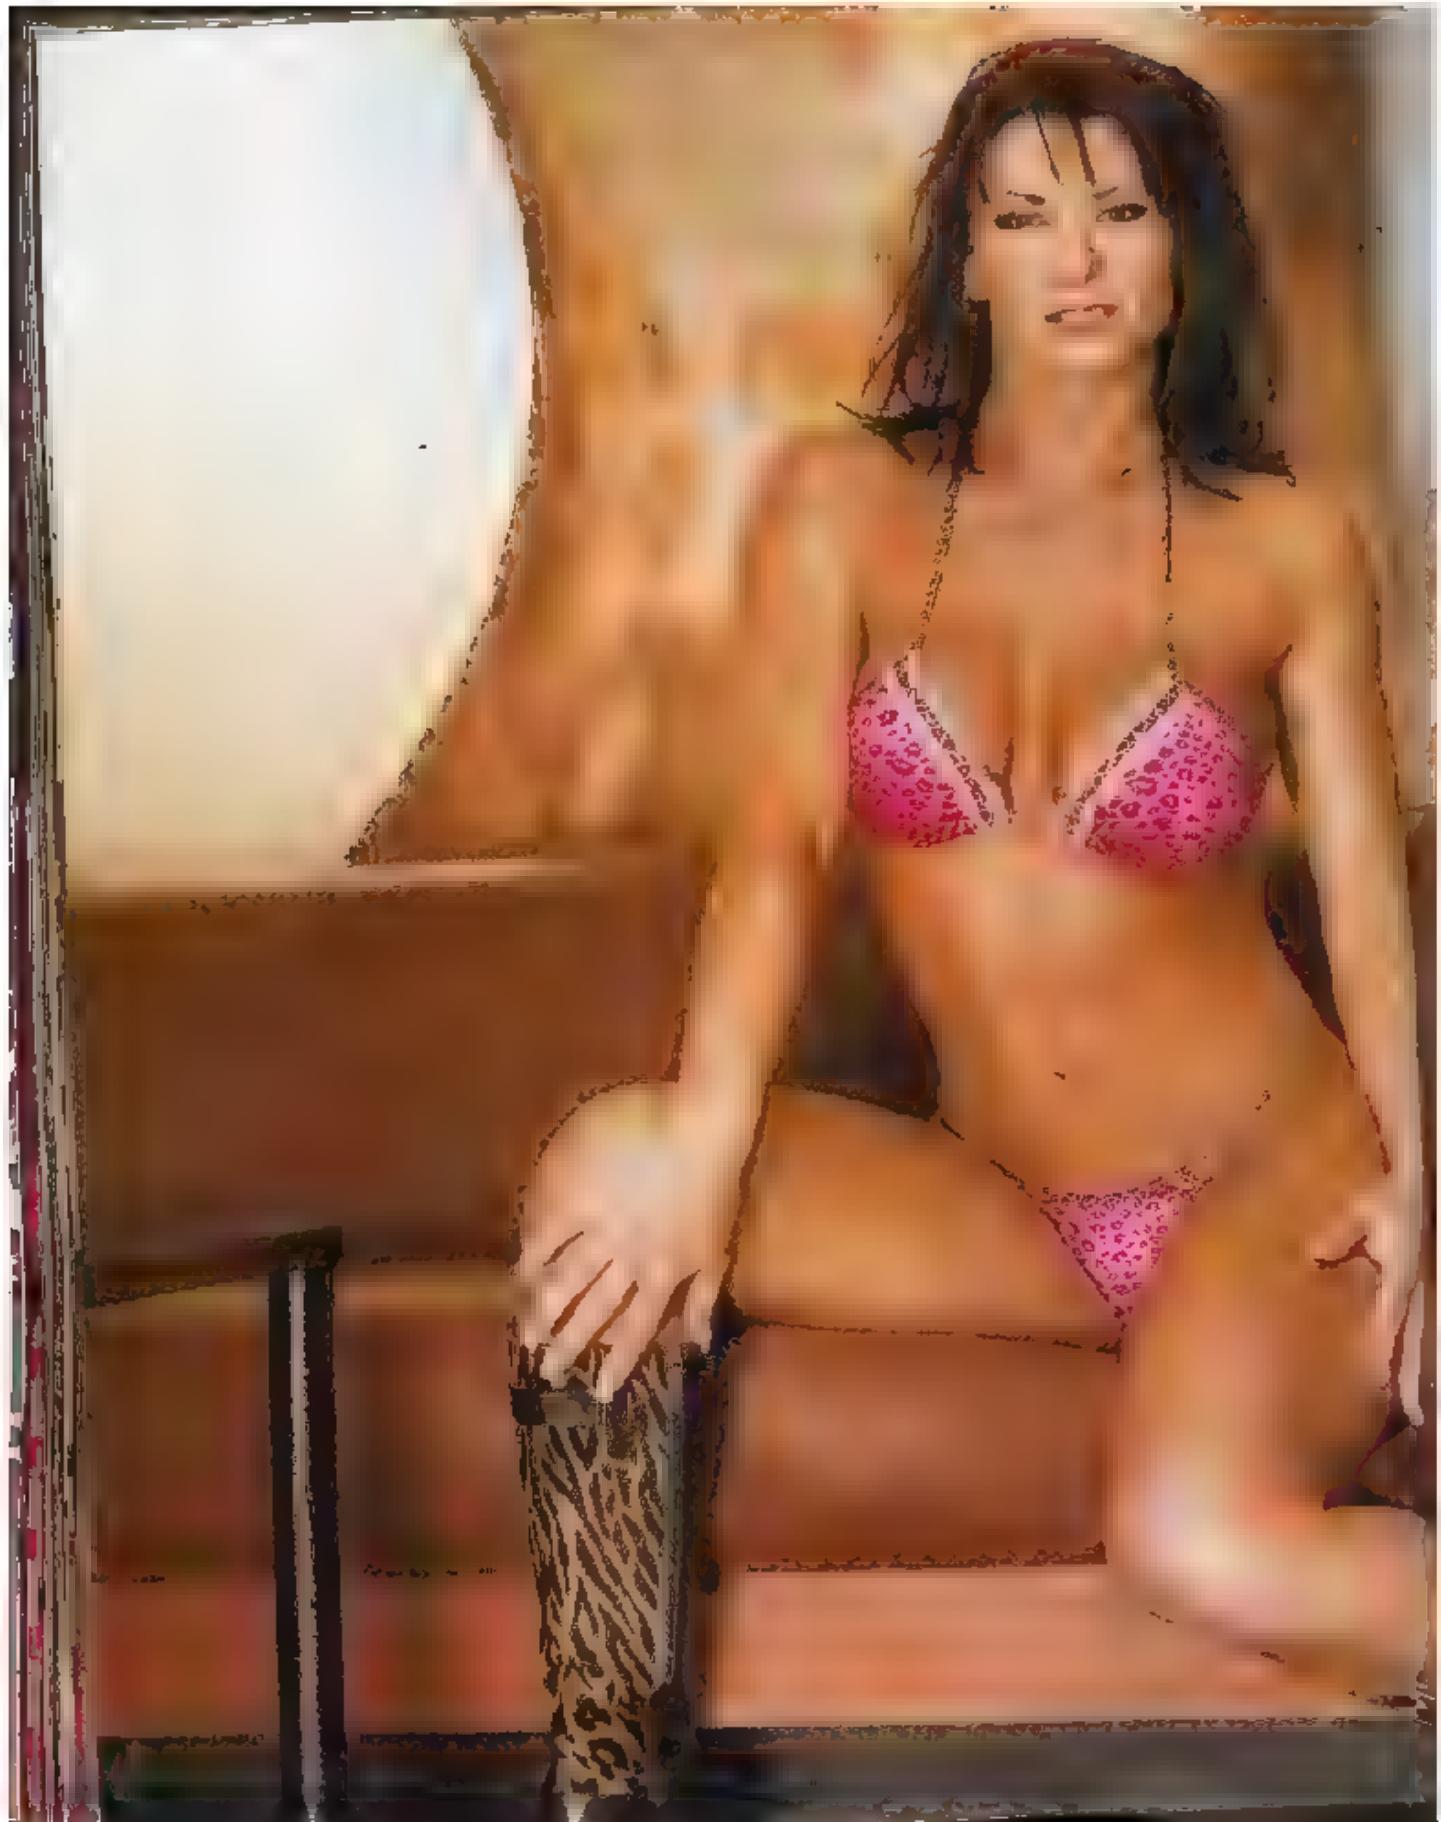

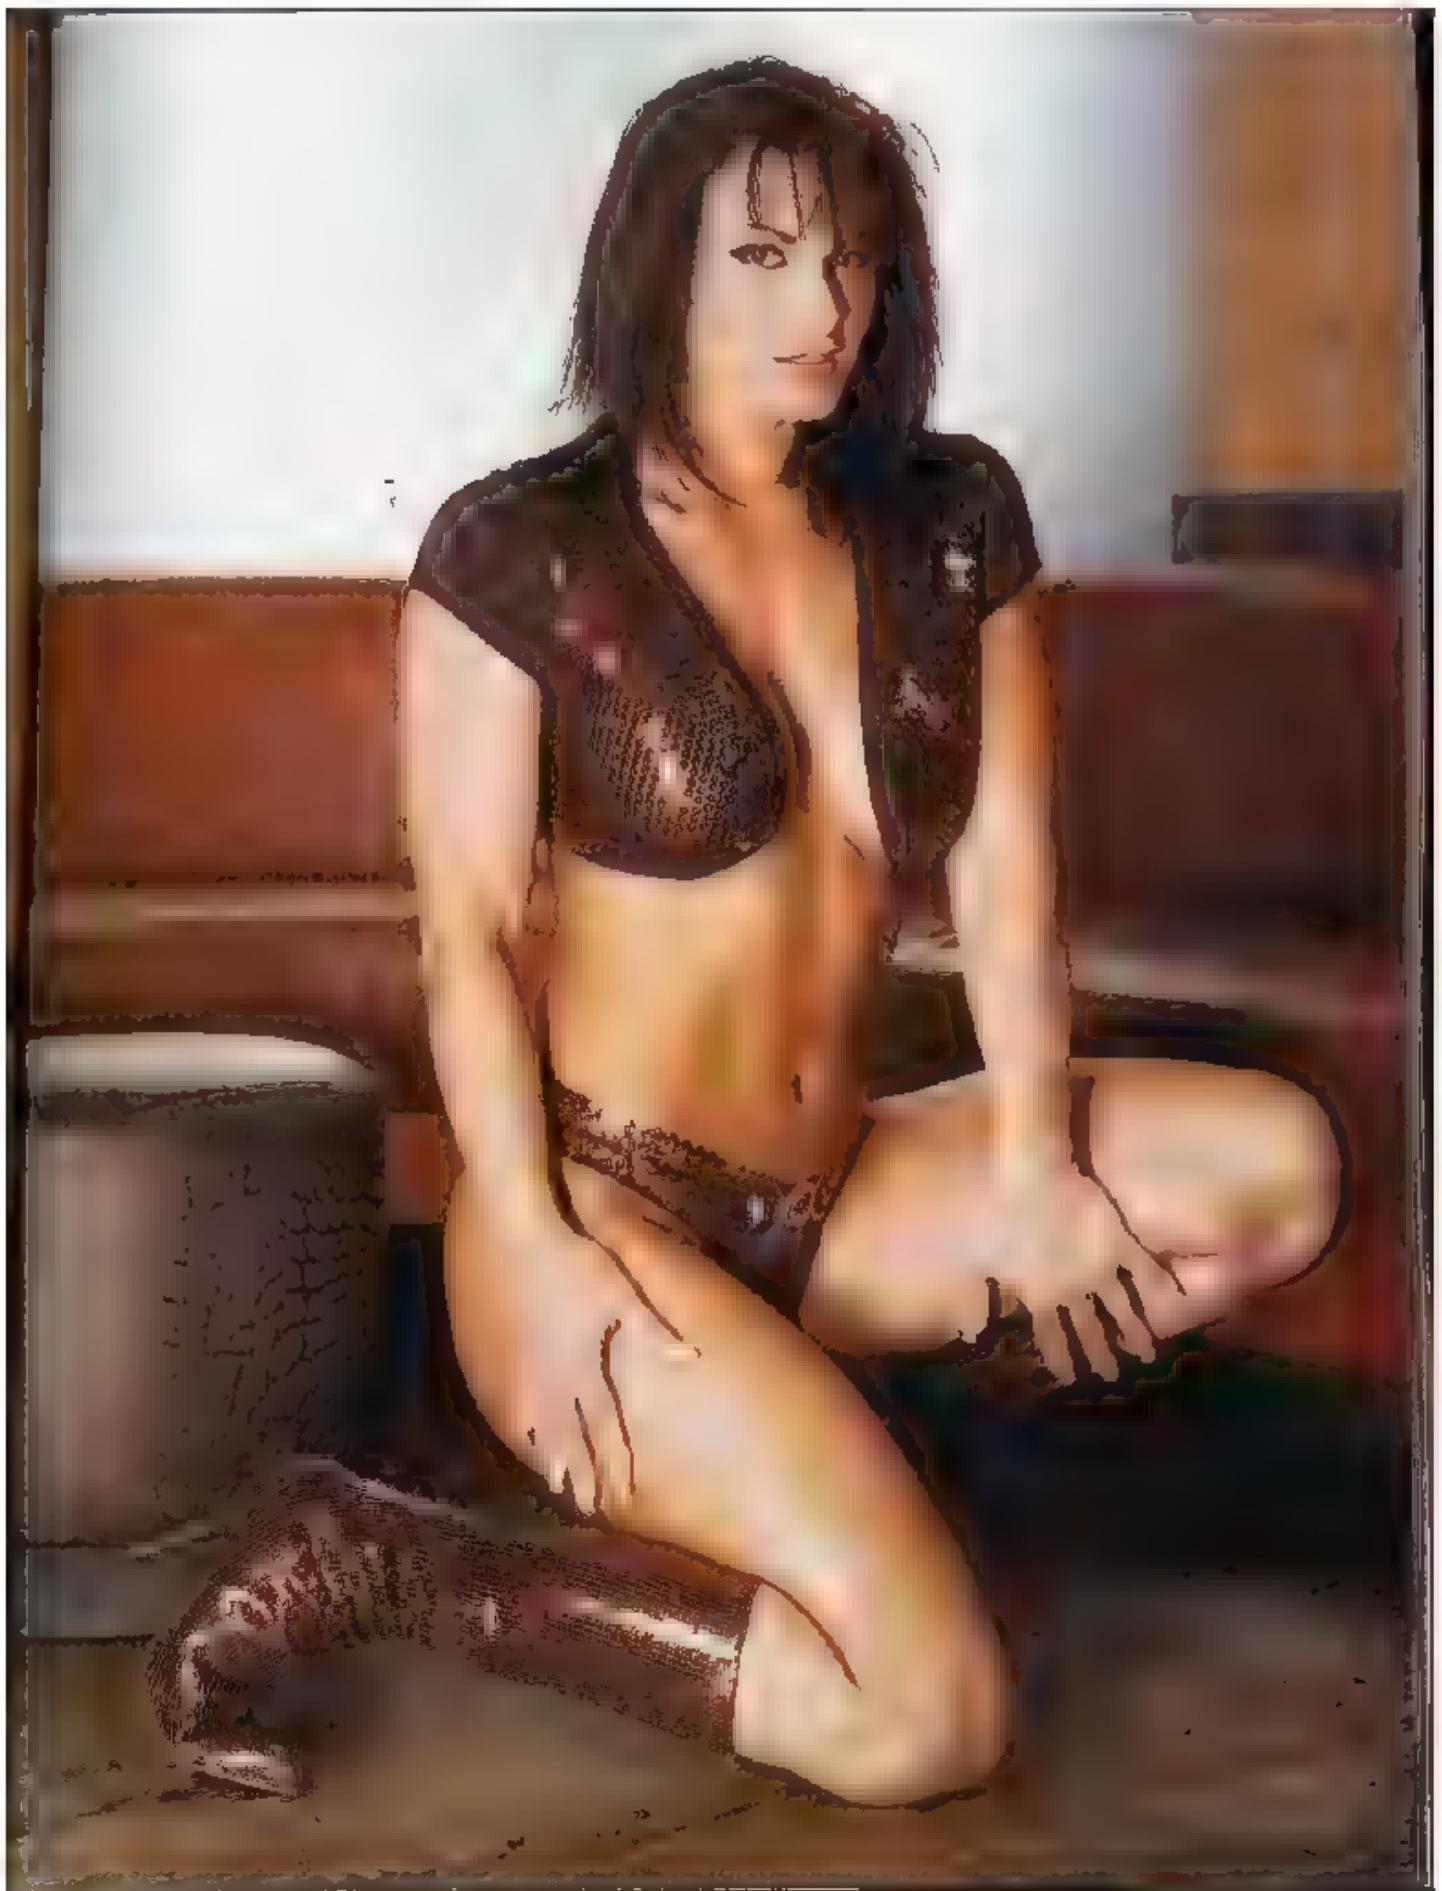

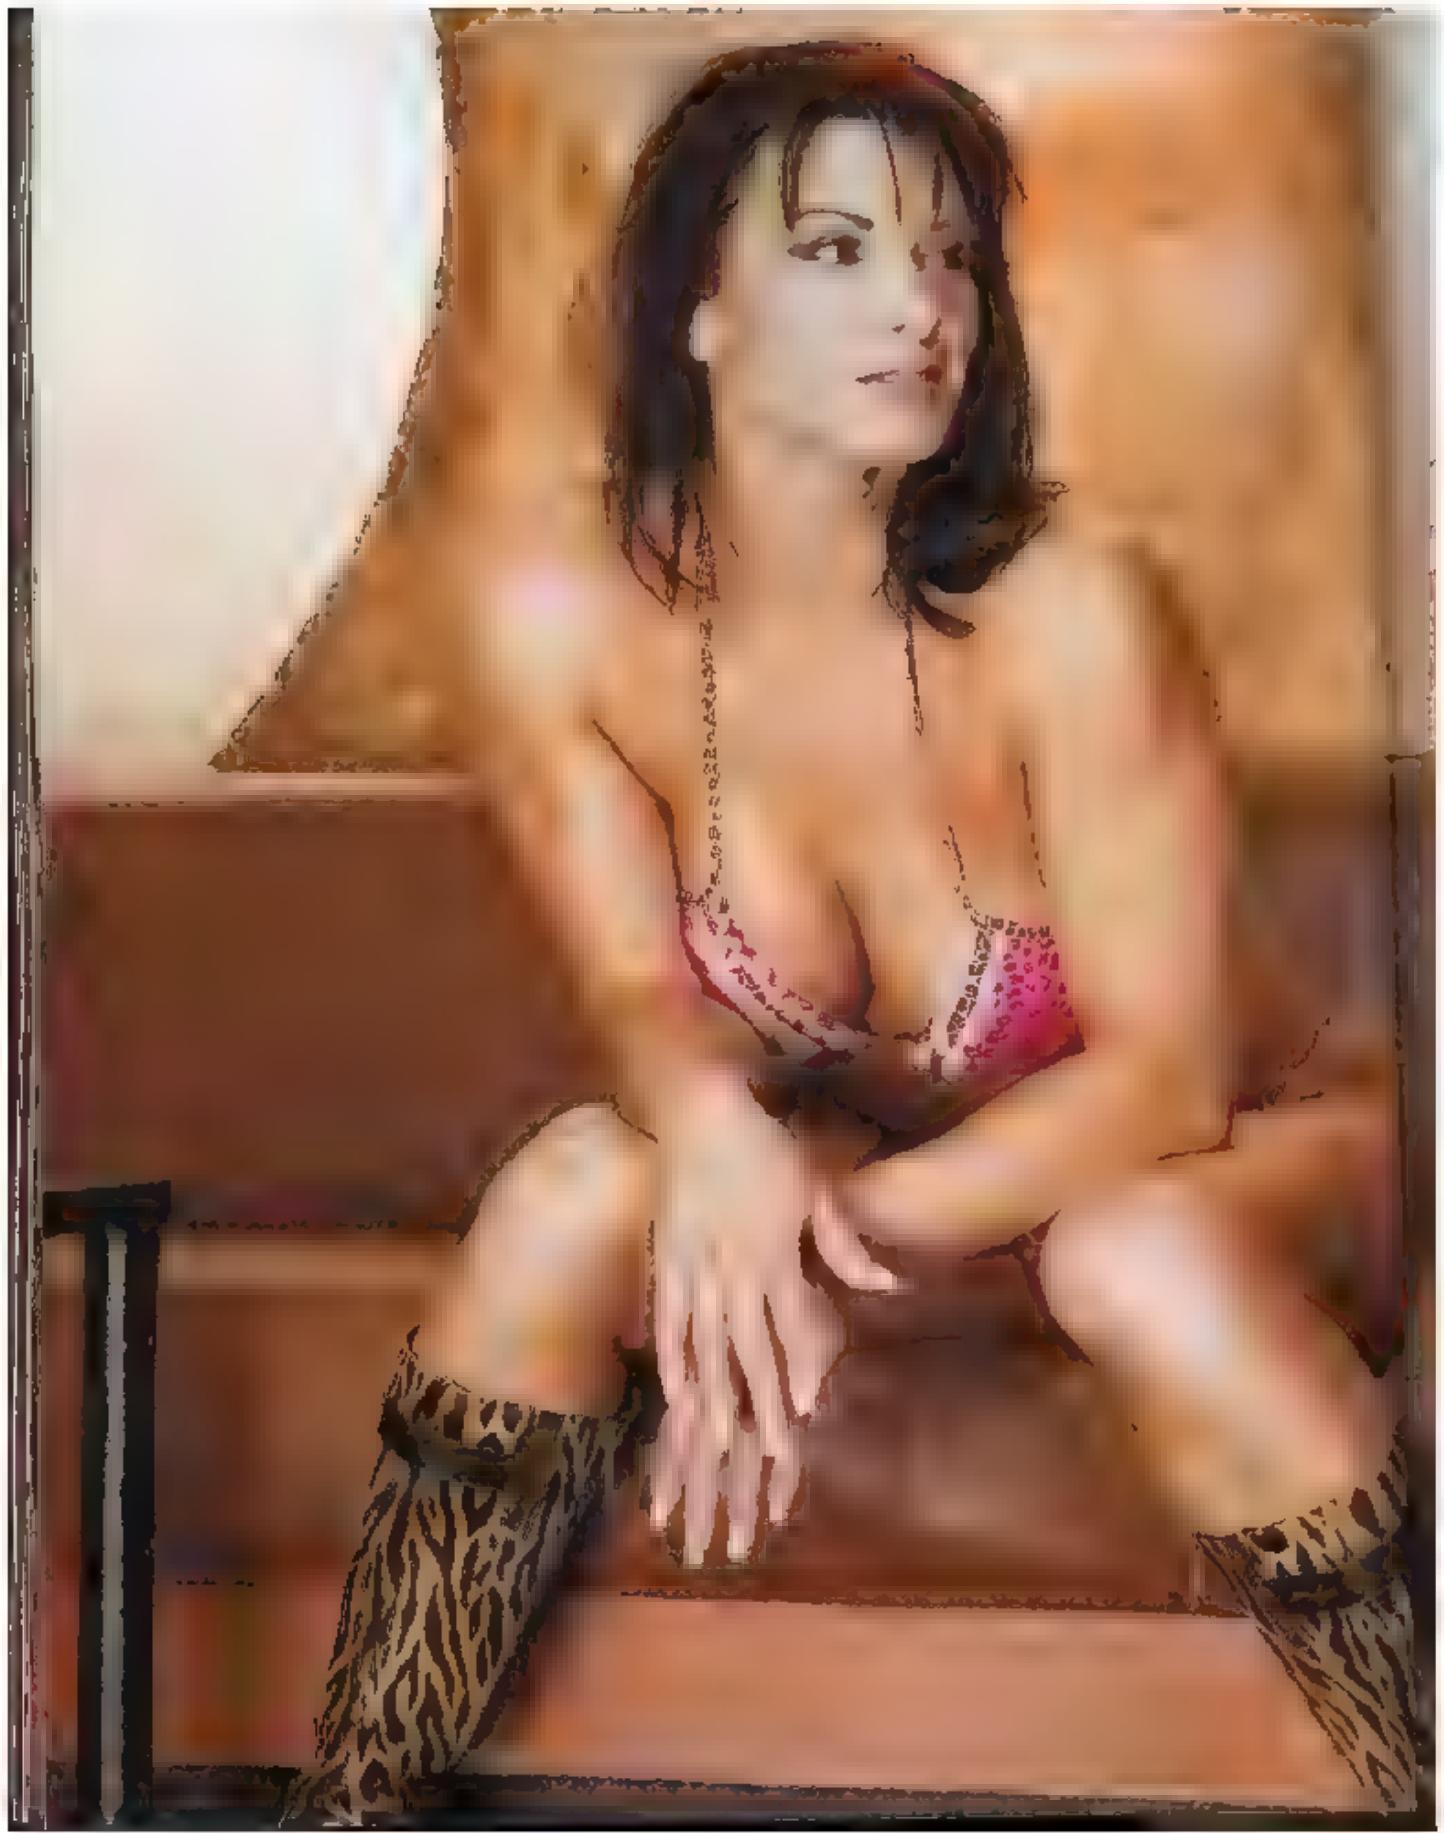

VICTORIA

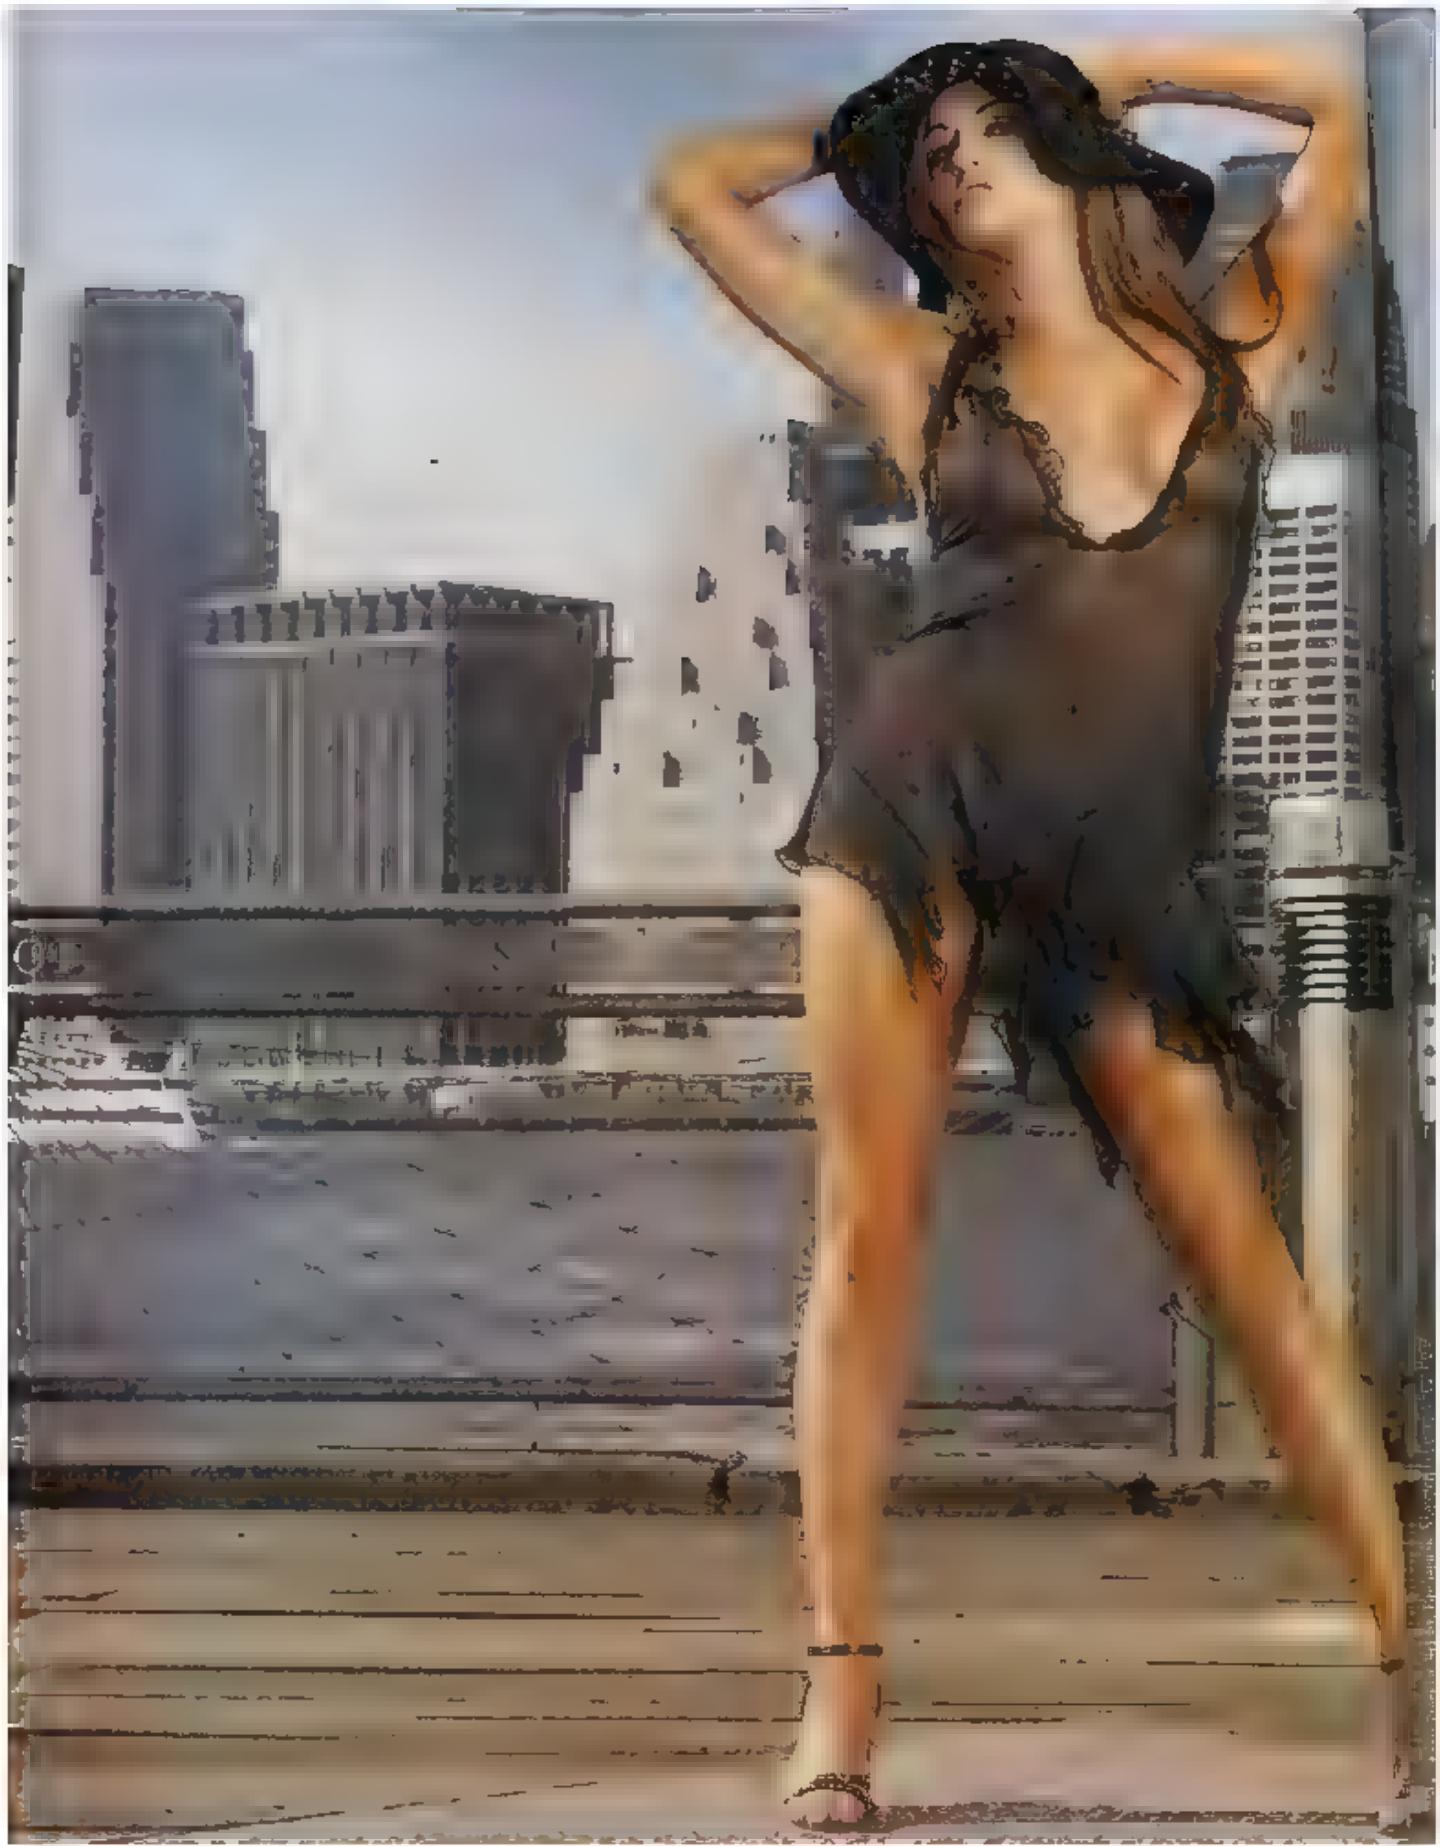

Victoria's hard-hitting, no-nonsense style in the ring hides a softer, more sensuous side outside of the world of competition. Luckily, we've captured that side for you in these pictures. Relaxing in the trendy New York hotspot Lavo, Victoria is the picture of feminine grace and allure. But don't take our word for it. Our issue at these photos is all the proof you'll need. So pull up a chair and spend the evening with Victoria.

MARIA

Then we took Maria to the Bronx dog was to please her in the Bronx. Maria's been doing a lot of work in the Bronx recently, including Maria herself.

WWE's an international marquee event, and the bridge leaves you kind of flat.

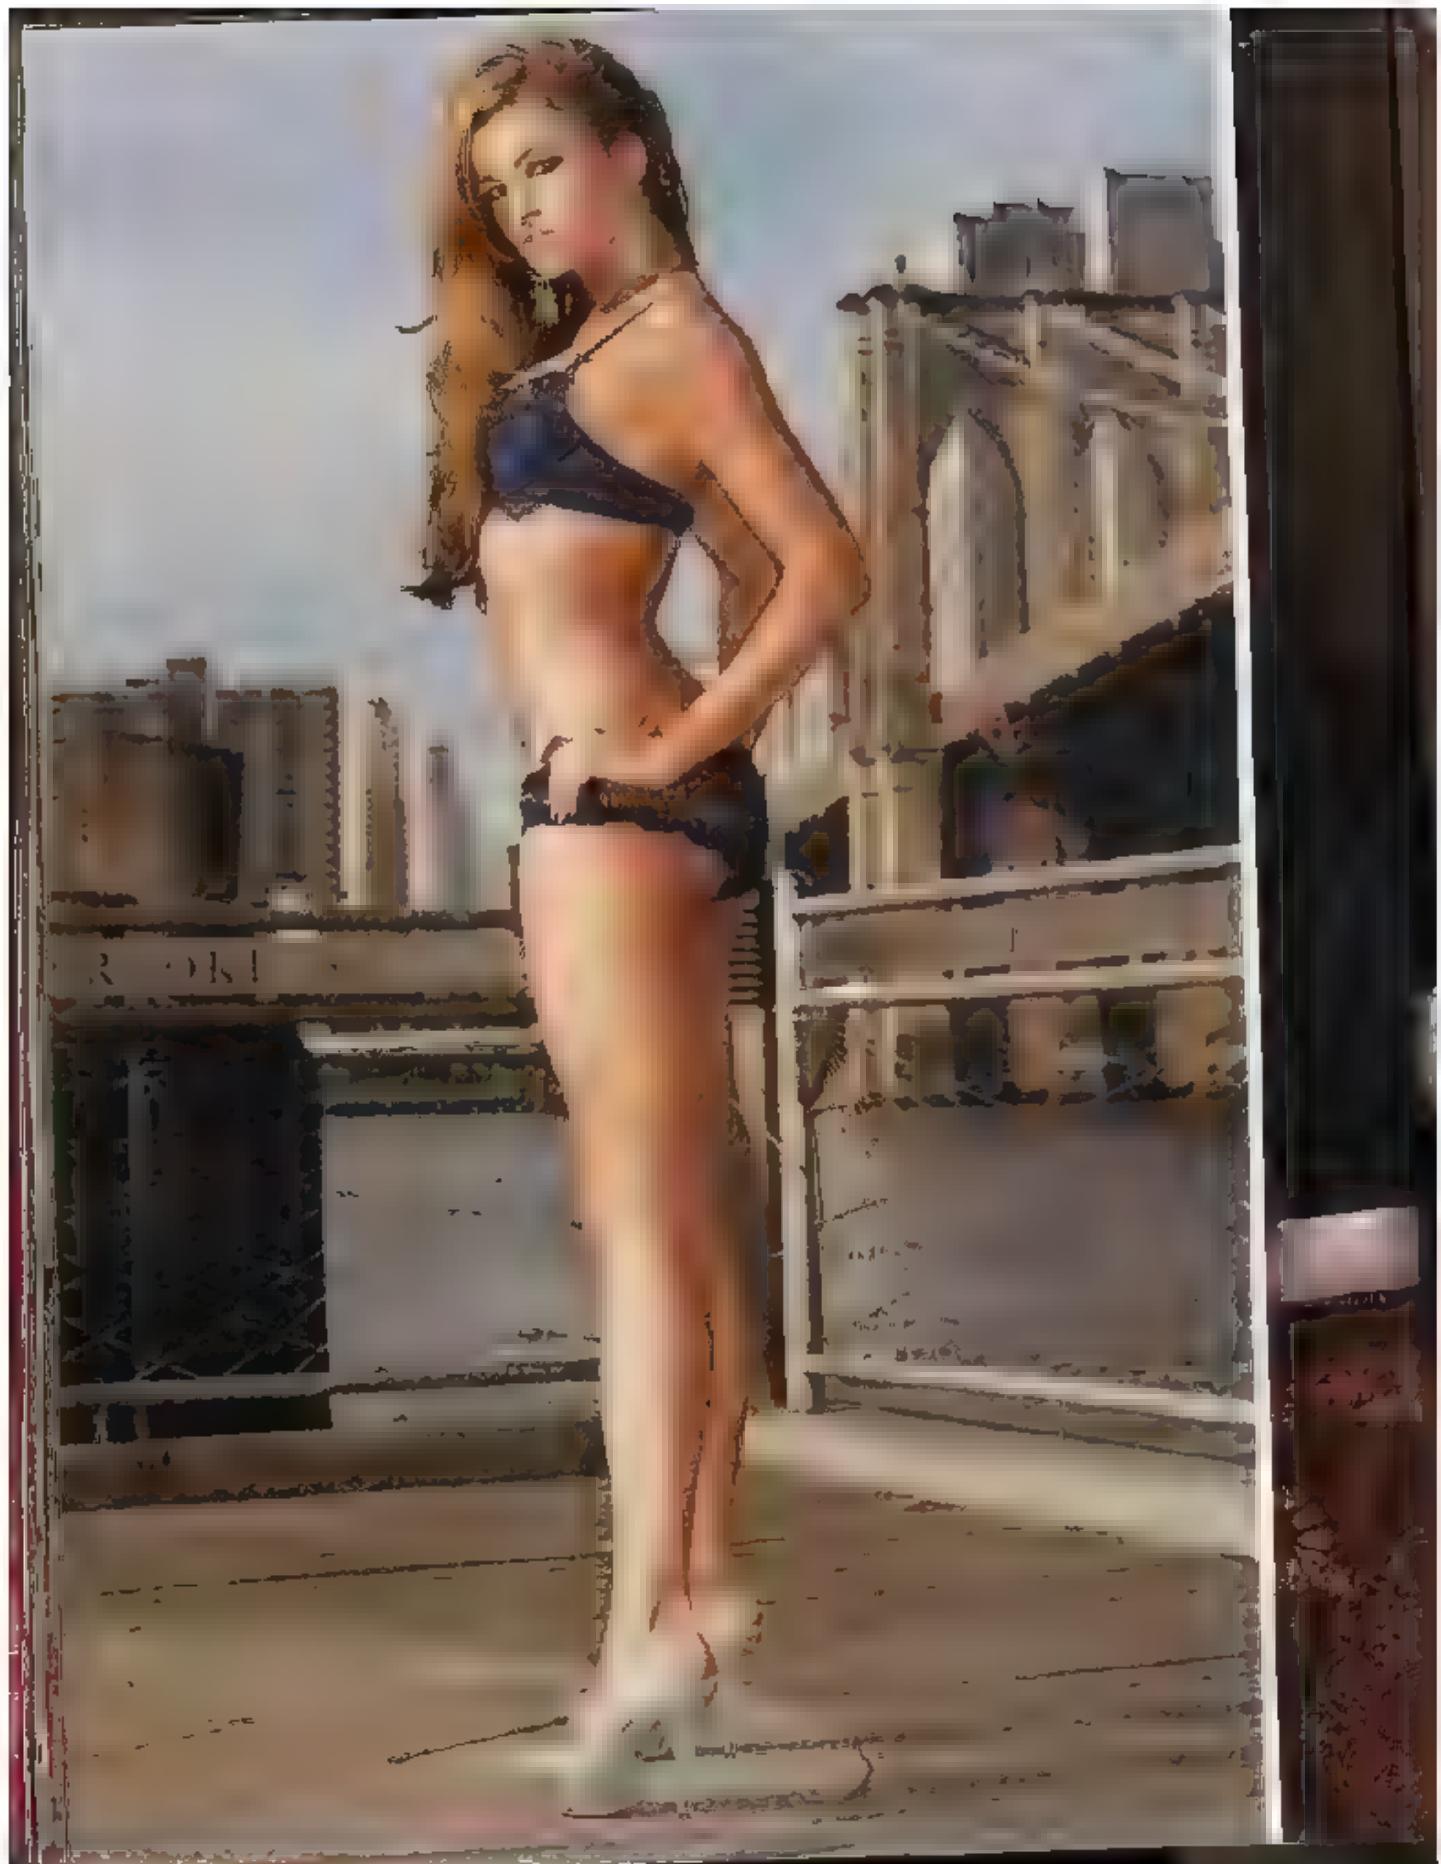

As Roto's returning back to the service with the lovely Maria has made up for whatever she lacks in biting journalism—especially simply being the best thing to look at on the whole damn show. Certainly an improvement from the days of "Mean" Gene Okerlund. A real-life Greek goddess, Maria has had no trouble leaving her imprint in the minds of the WWE faithful everywhere, and we think these pictures will only serve to further cement her as the must-see attraction of Monday-night television.

LITA

She's the girl your mother warned you about. But what does your mother know? After all, who wouldn't be tempted by Lita? This fiery redhead has been raising temperatures and breaking hearts since she first set foot in WWE back in 2000. Since then, she's nabbed the Women's Title twice and made a name for herself with her high-risk moves and salty Good looks.

But in a situation like Street of the City, Lita has on the subway to take in the sights. Perhaps you'd like to be your guide as she heads out for a night on the town? We're sure she'd love the company. Just remember best-dressed girl does have to be fiery redhead. You might just get burned.

3.02

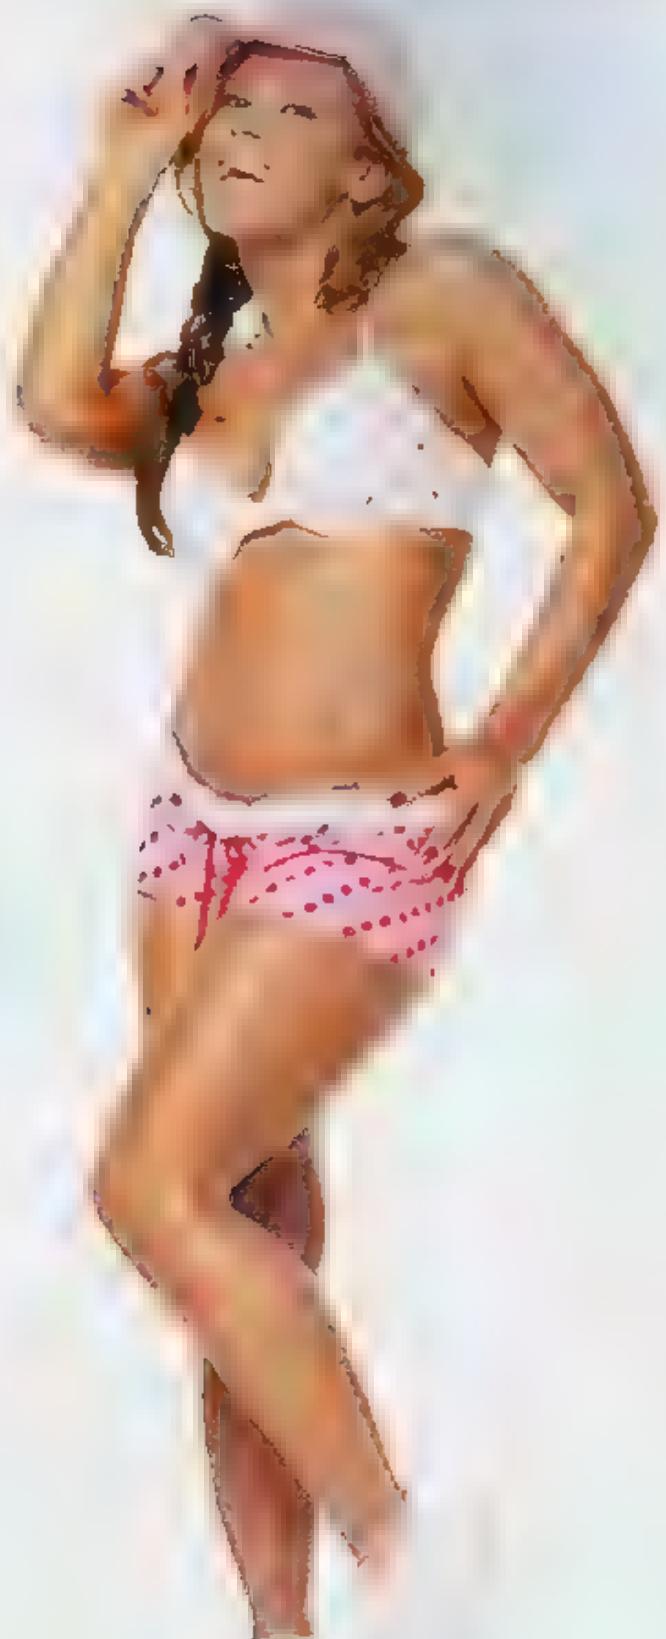

MICKIE JAMES

She may have started out as Trish Stratus' overzealous fan, but as you can tell from these photos, Mickie James is done fooling around. She's gone from super-fan to one of the most dominant Divas on Raw. In the process, she has proven to be exactly the type of female who can make a serious mark in WWE—one who knows what she wants, and who isn't afraid to do what's necessary to get it.

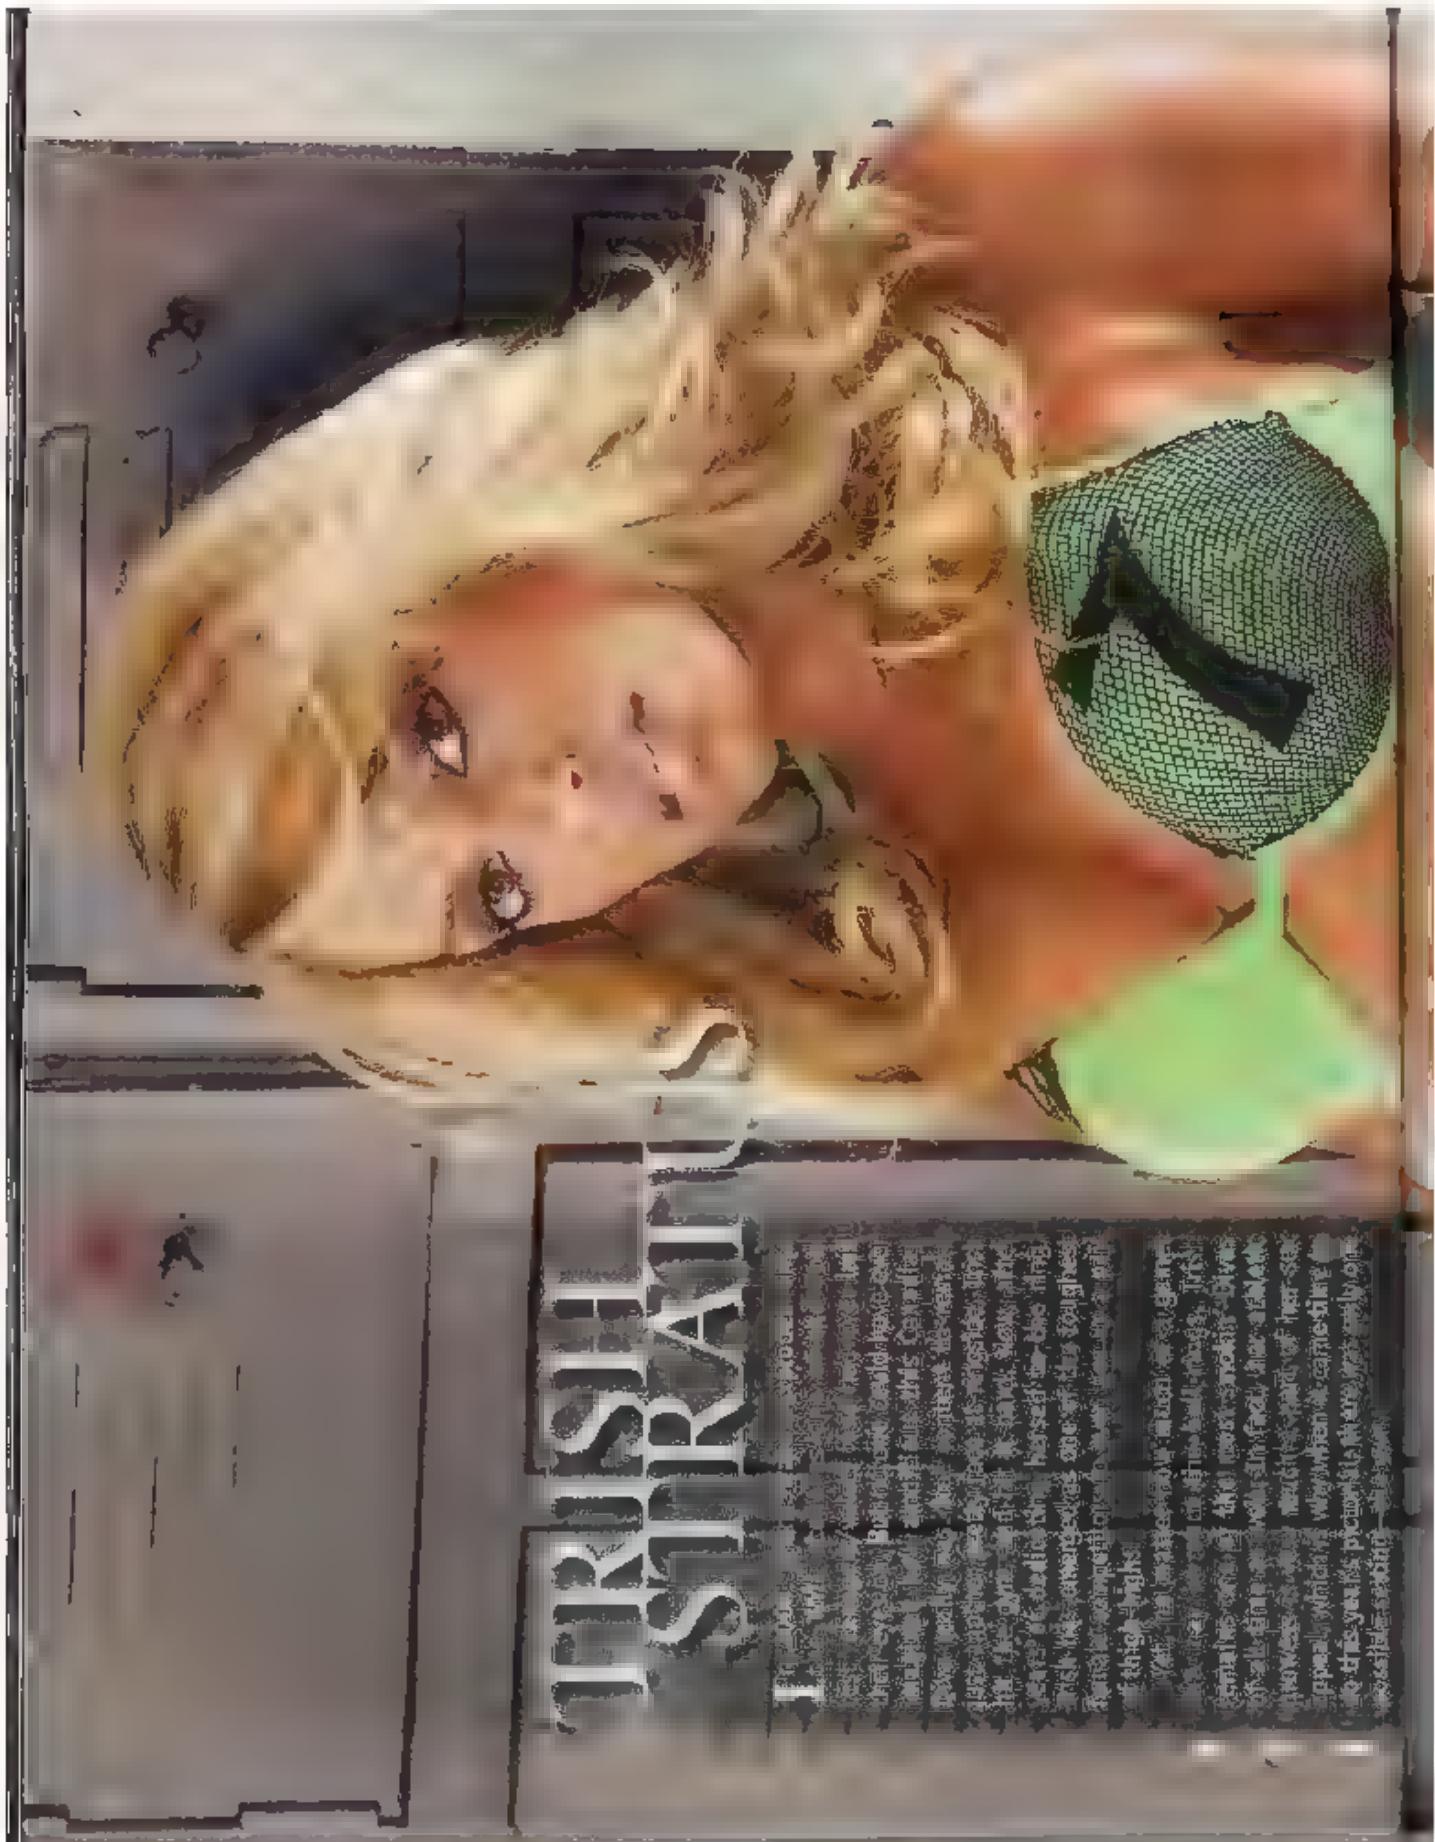

If there was any doubt of that, then her match against Trish last month at New Year's Revolution put those doubts to rest. There's no question she has what it takes to succeed. Mickie James is someone you don't want to fool around with, but we think you'll agree that it would still be worth a try...

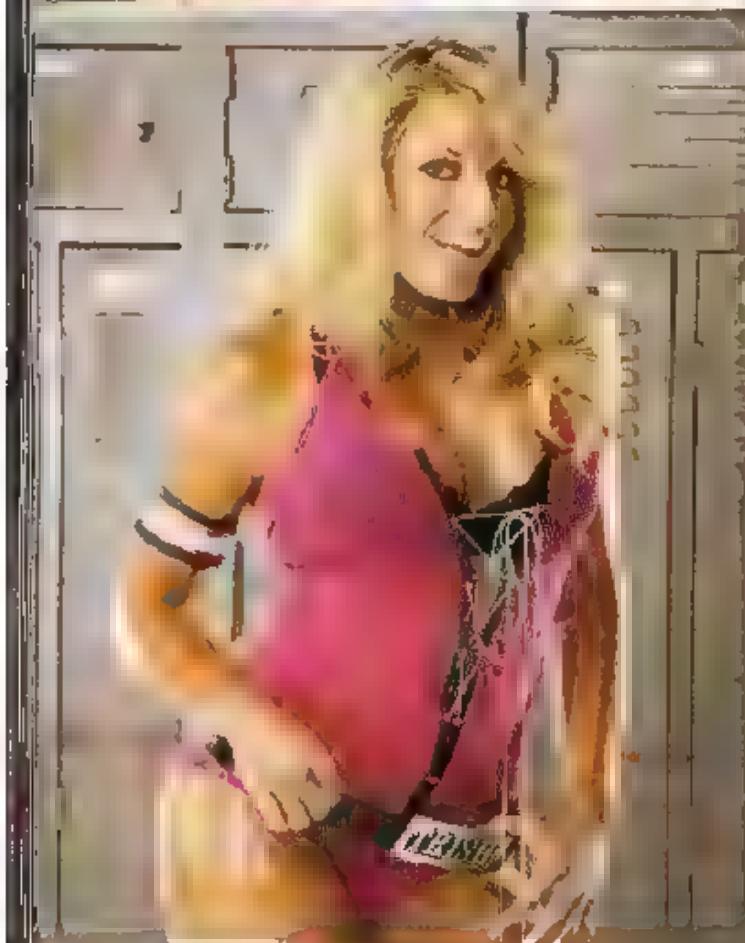

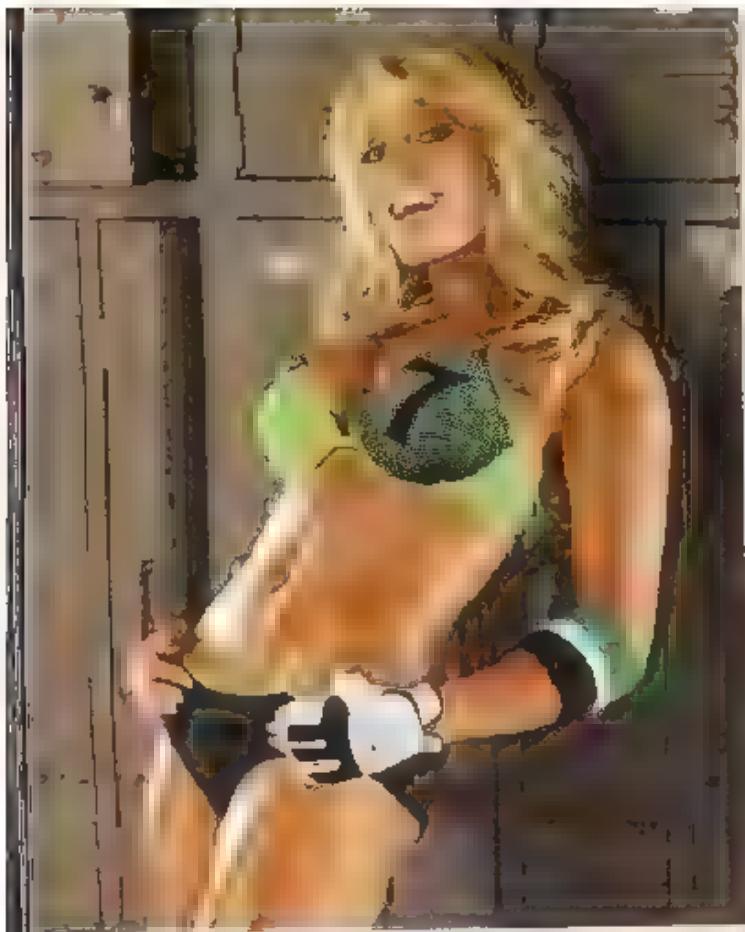

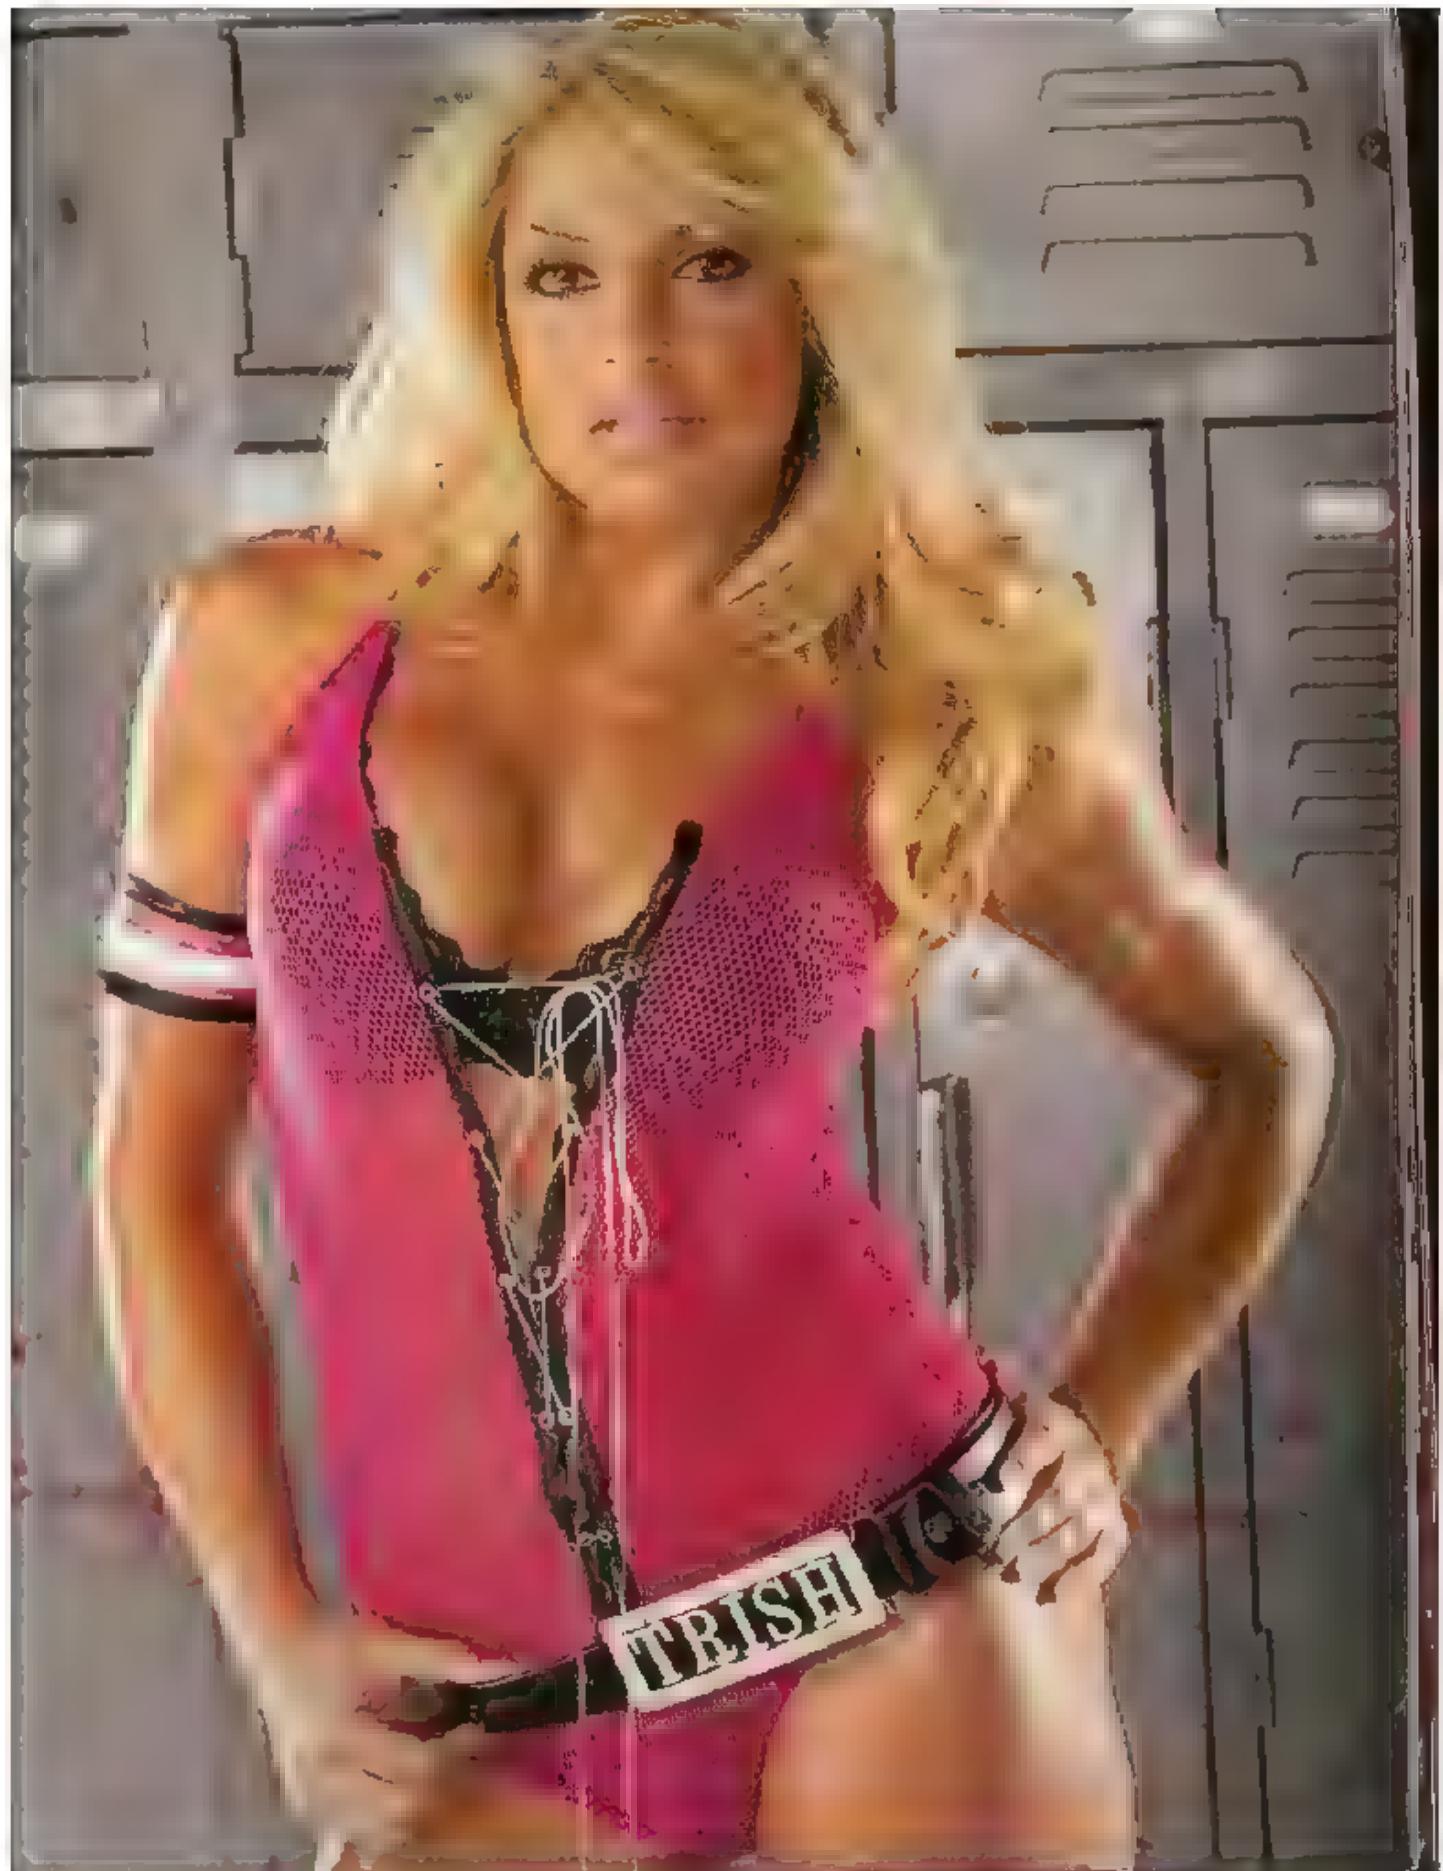

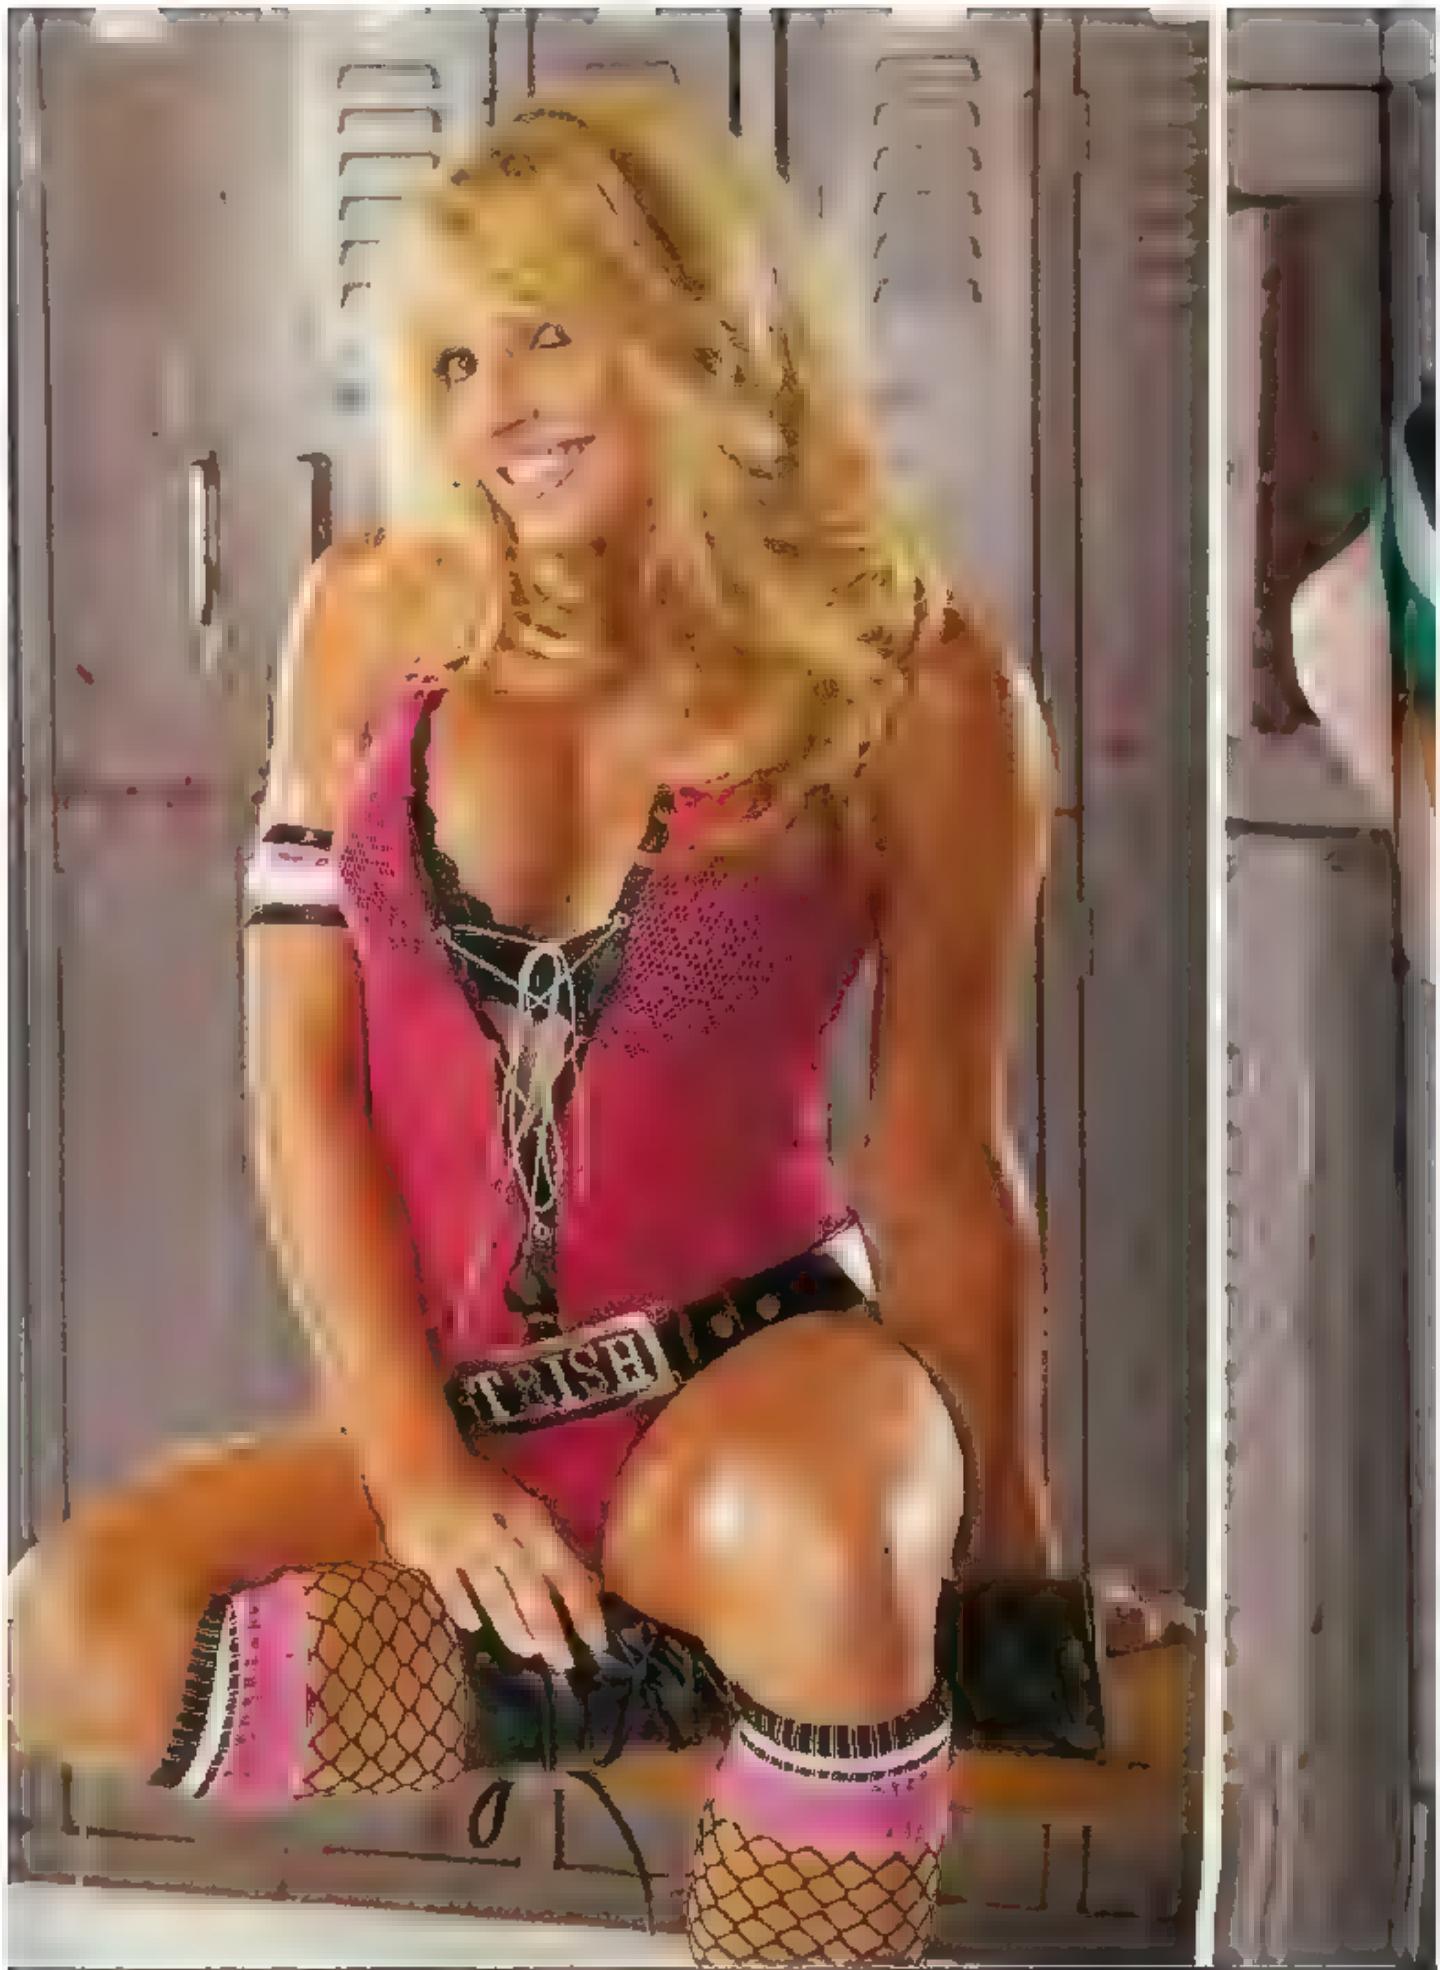

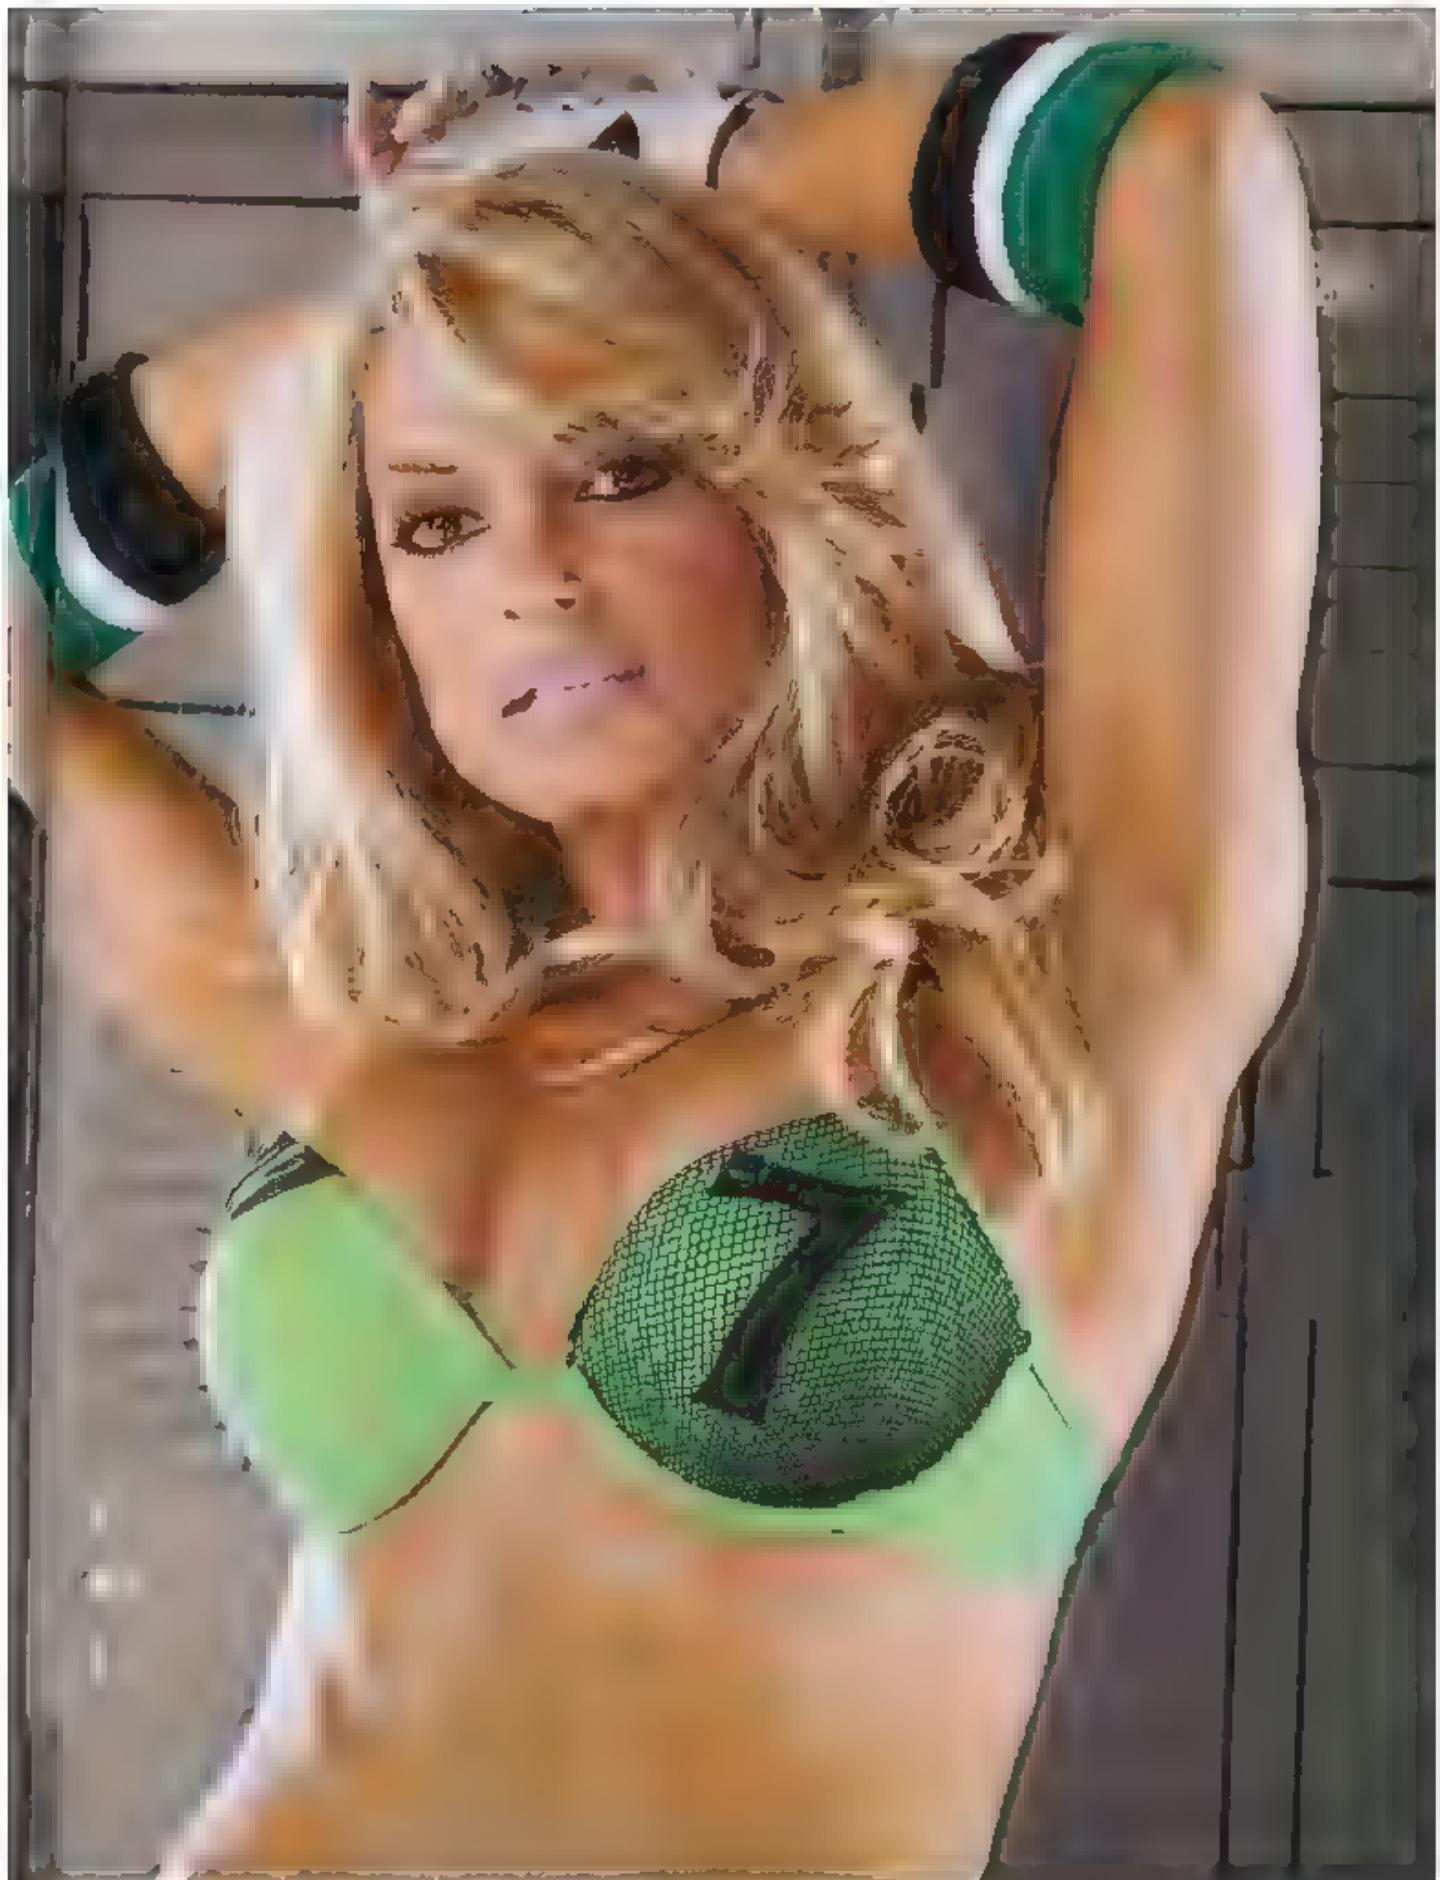

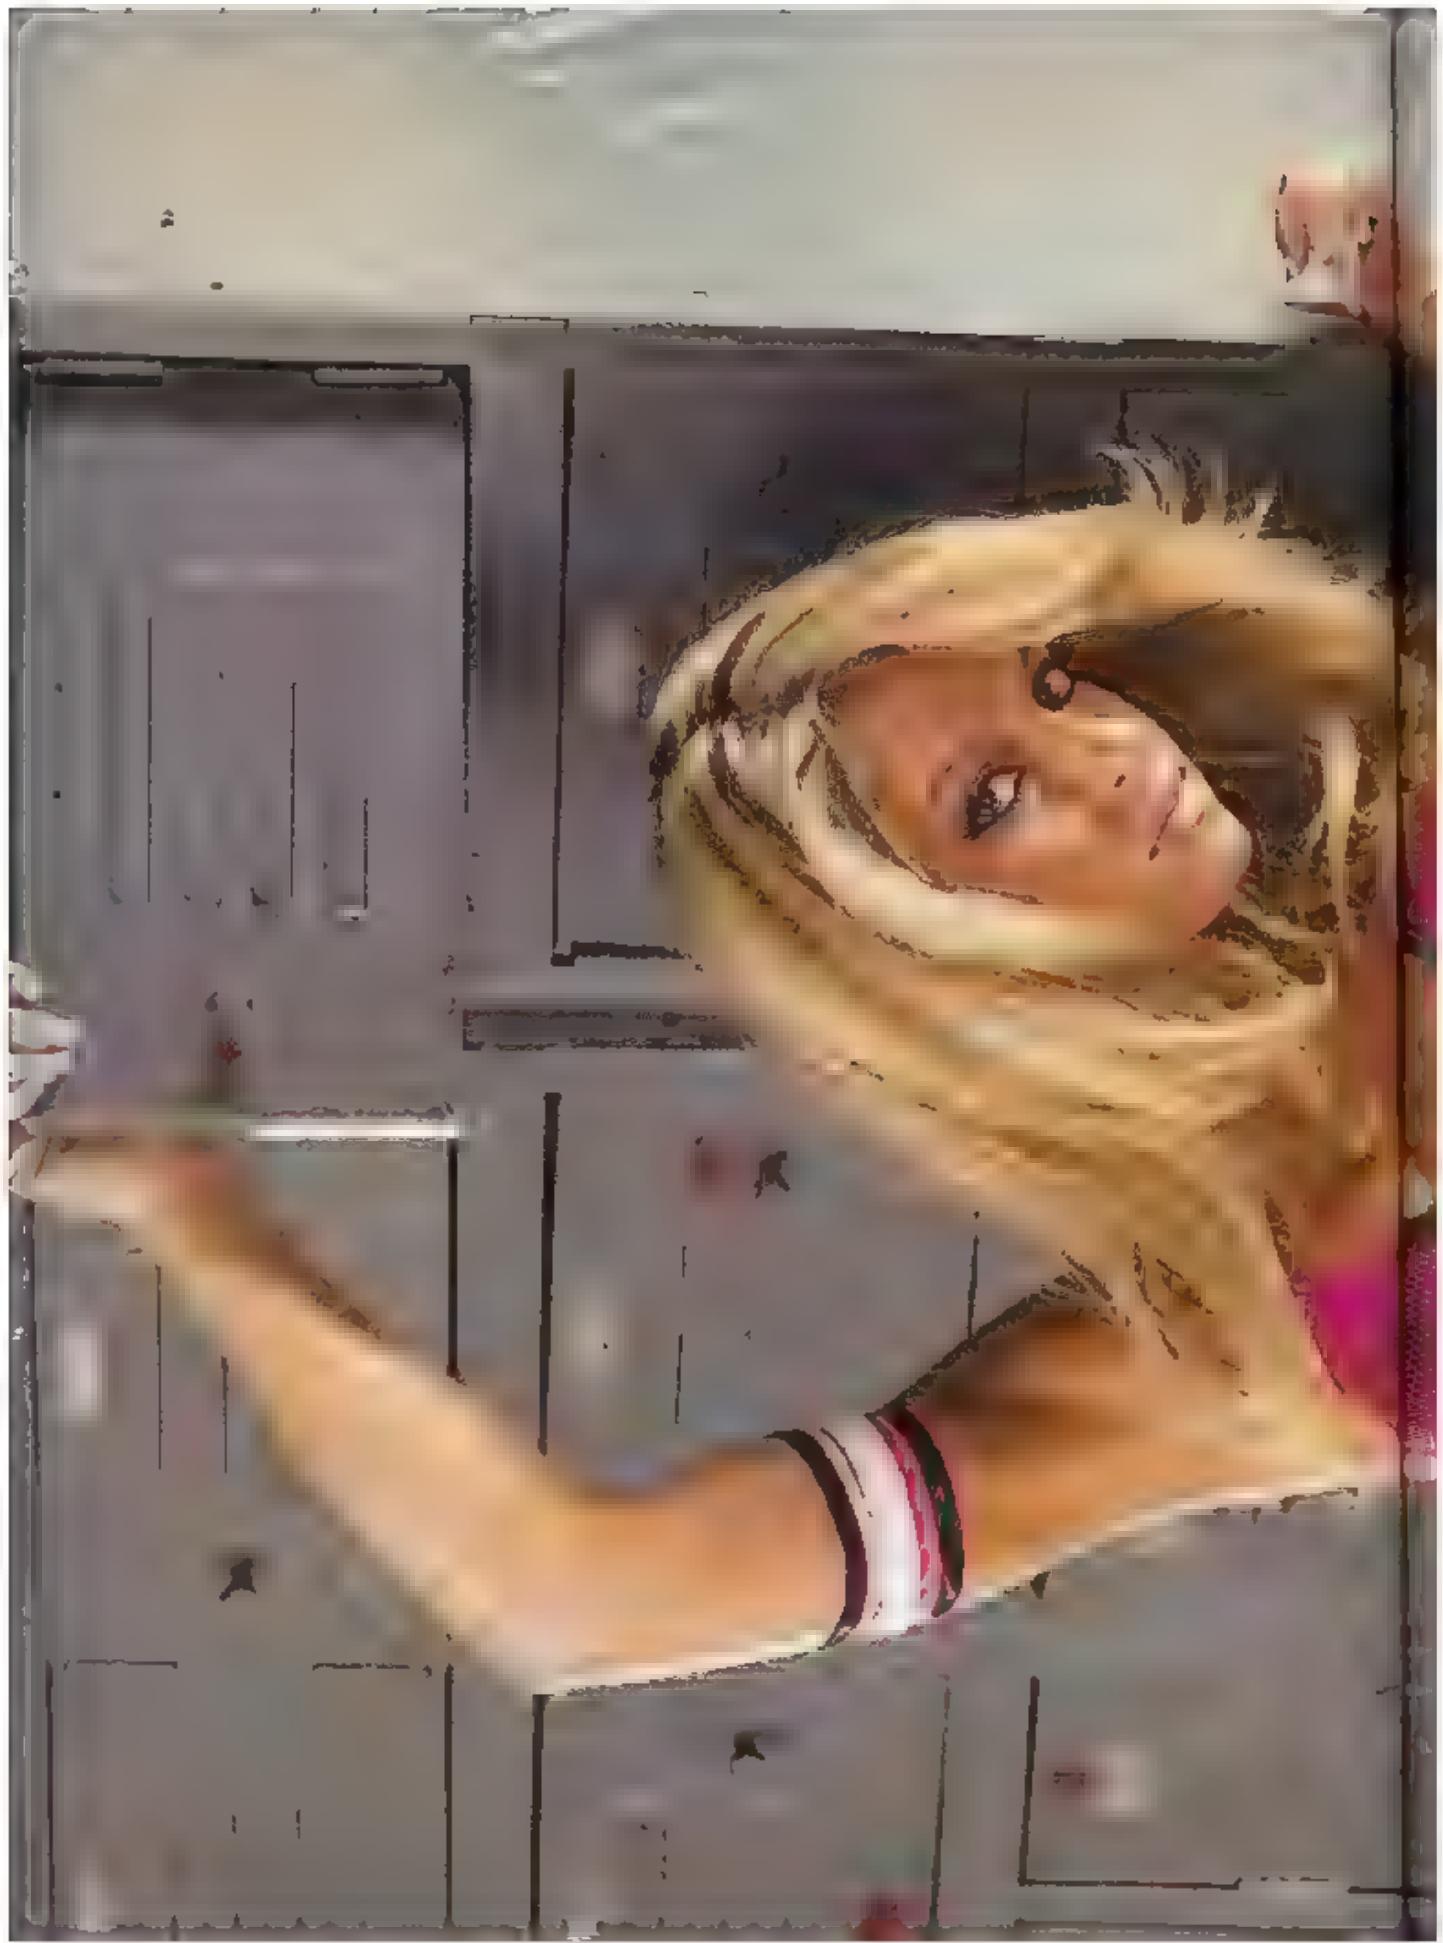

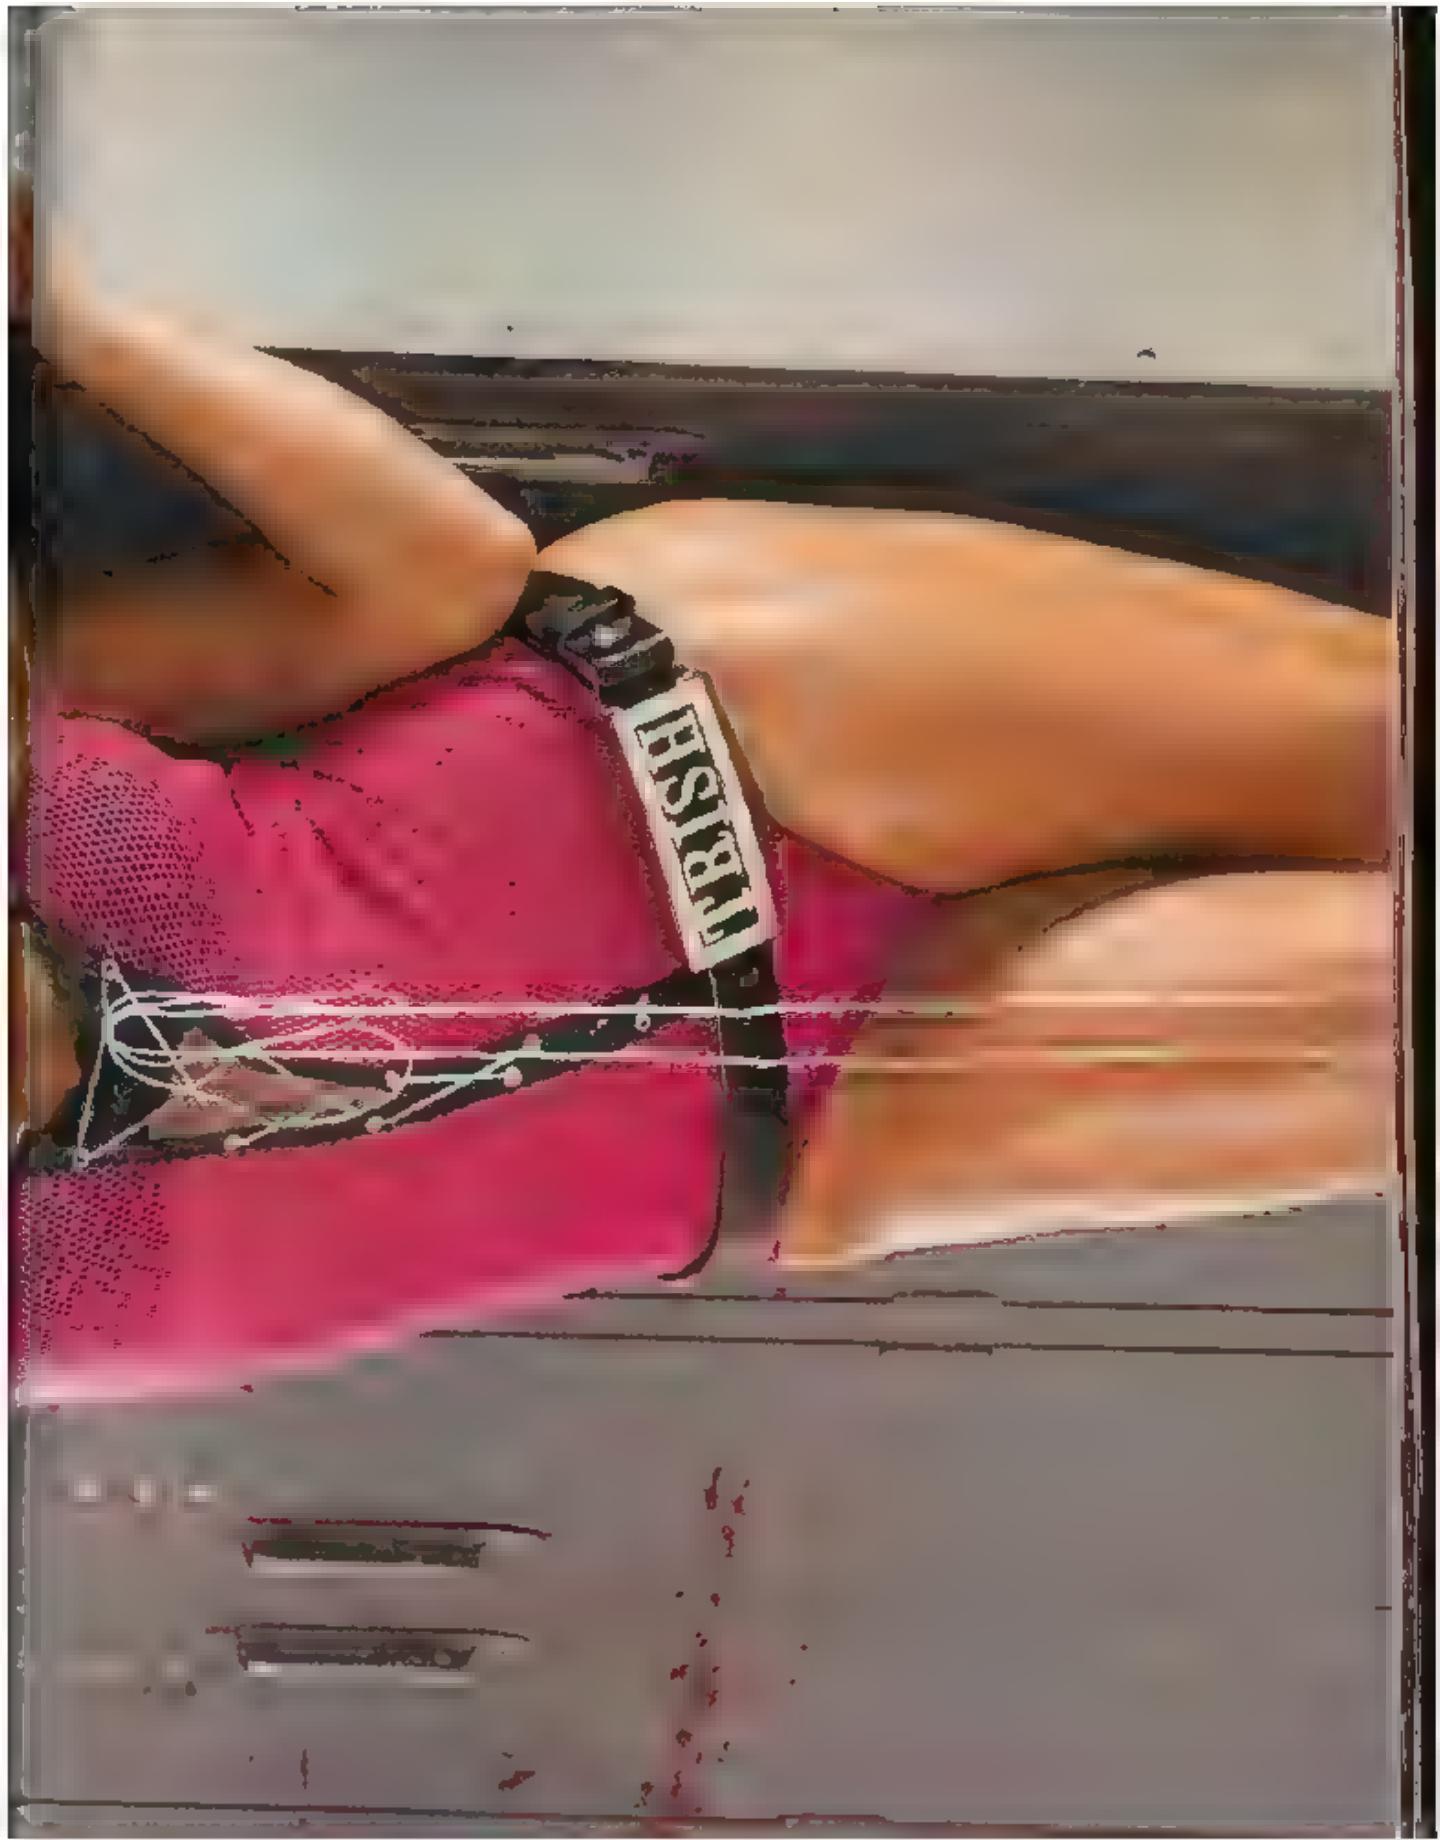

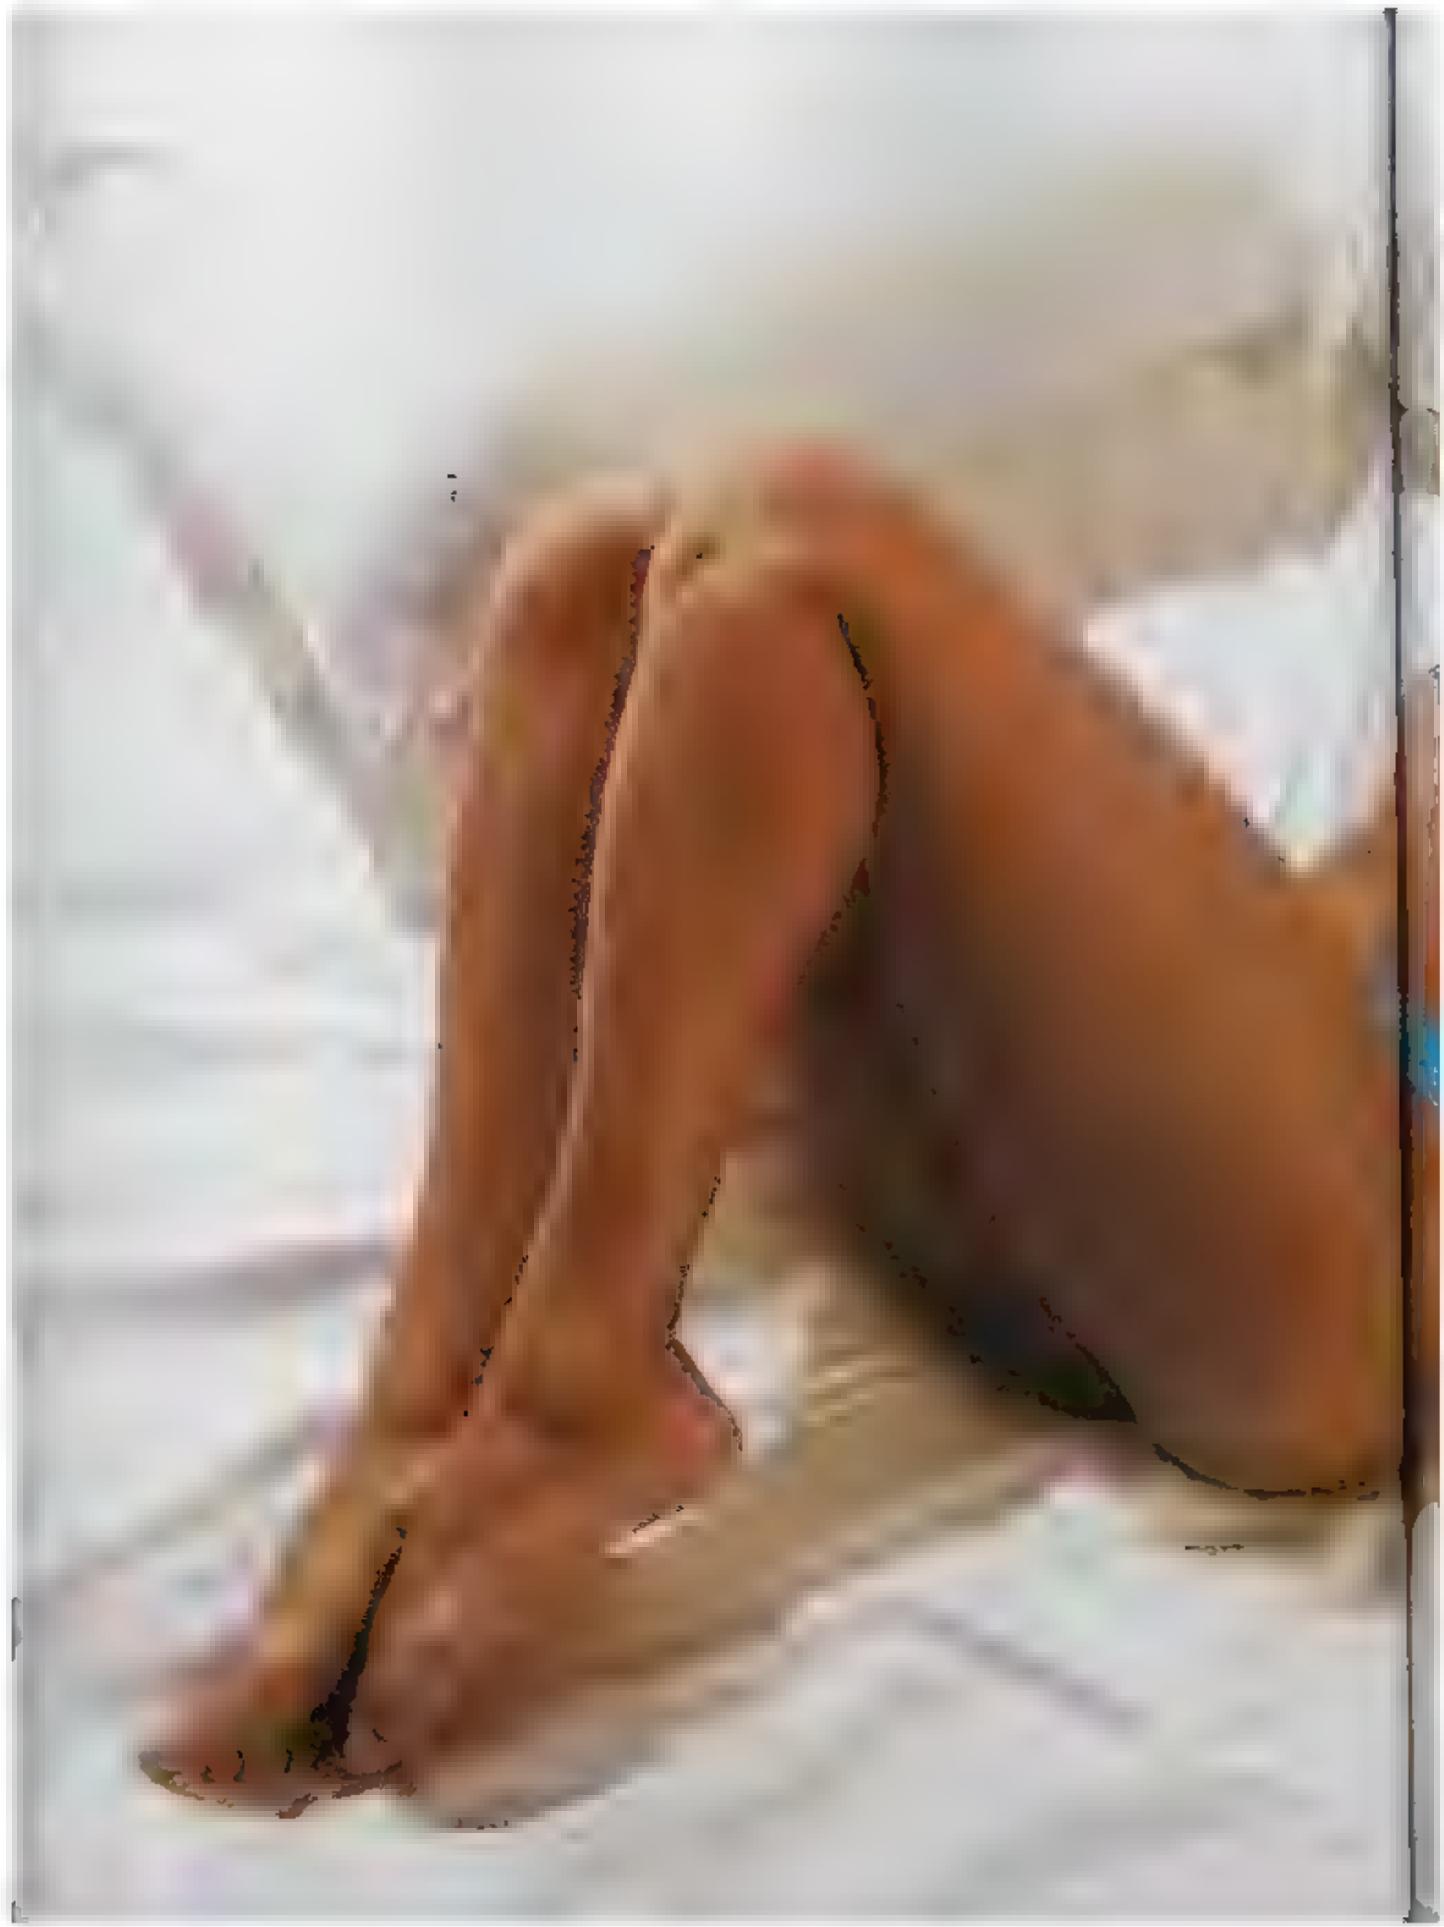

KRISTAL

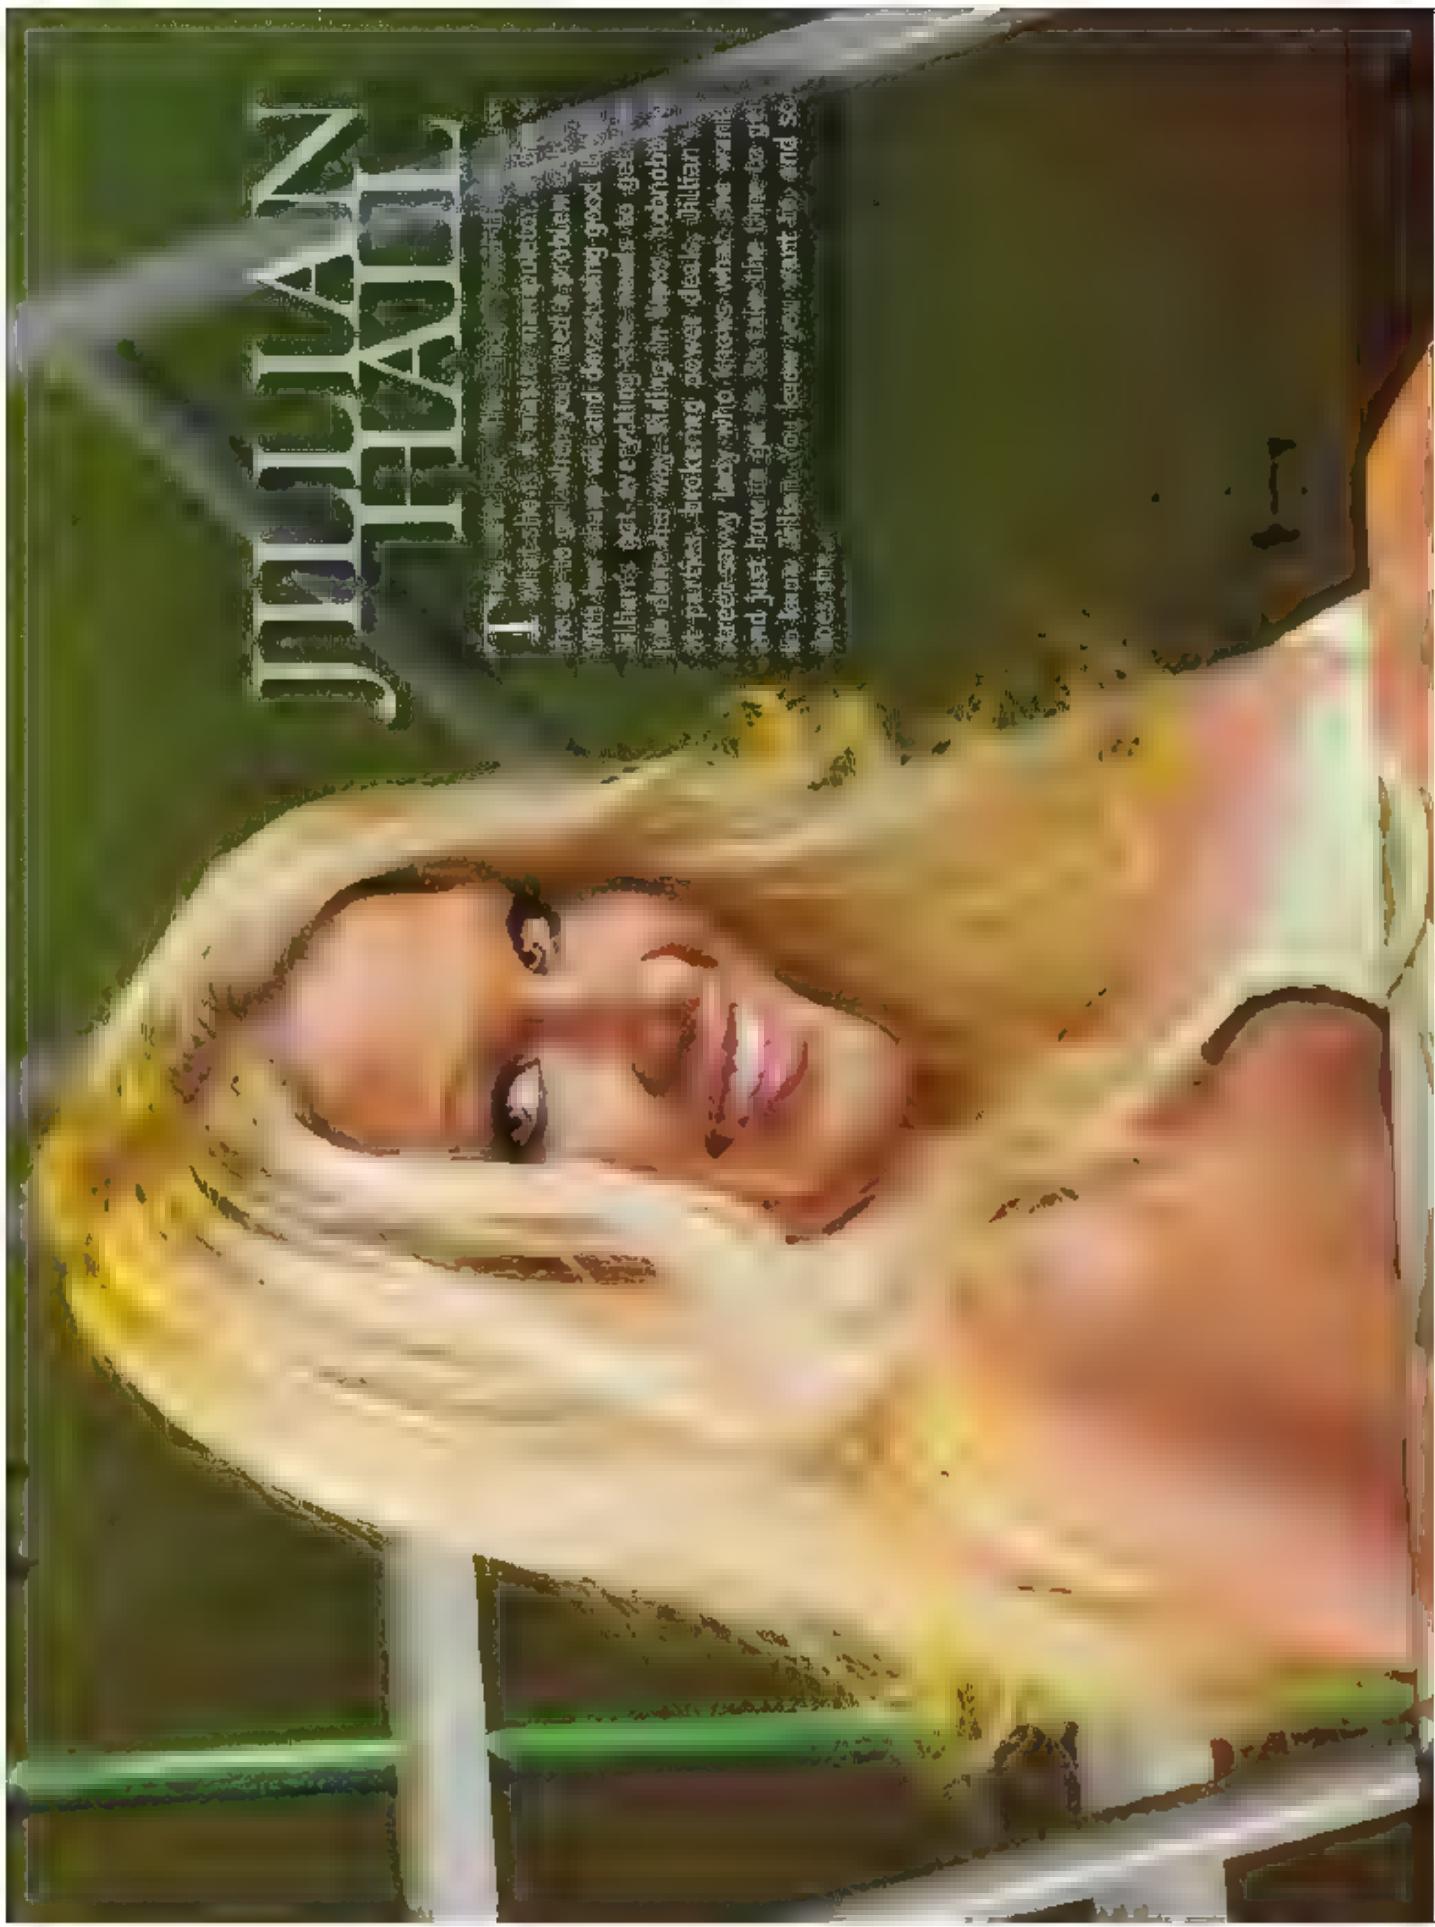

She is the girl that gets everyone talking. A she's the one who gets the in WWE's Superstars. As a contestant in the 2005 Diva eye-popping good looks. Now to enjoy her every week. But we say, can enjoy Kristal, right no

TORRIE WILSON

If there's one Diva who personifies pure class, it's got to be Torrie Wilson. Only Torrie can combine the classic All-American girl look with that come-hither allure that has made her a perennial favorite. Entertainment Weekly fans in sports-entertainment journalism regard it as a standard so high that even Playboy has had to take notice, and made Ms. Wilson the cover of their highest-selling issue of 2004.

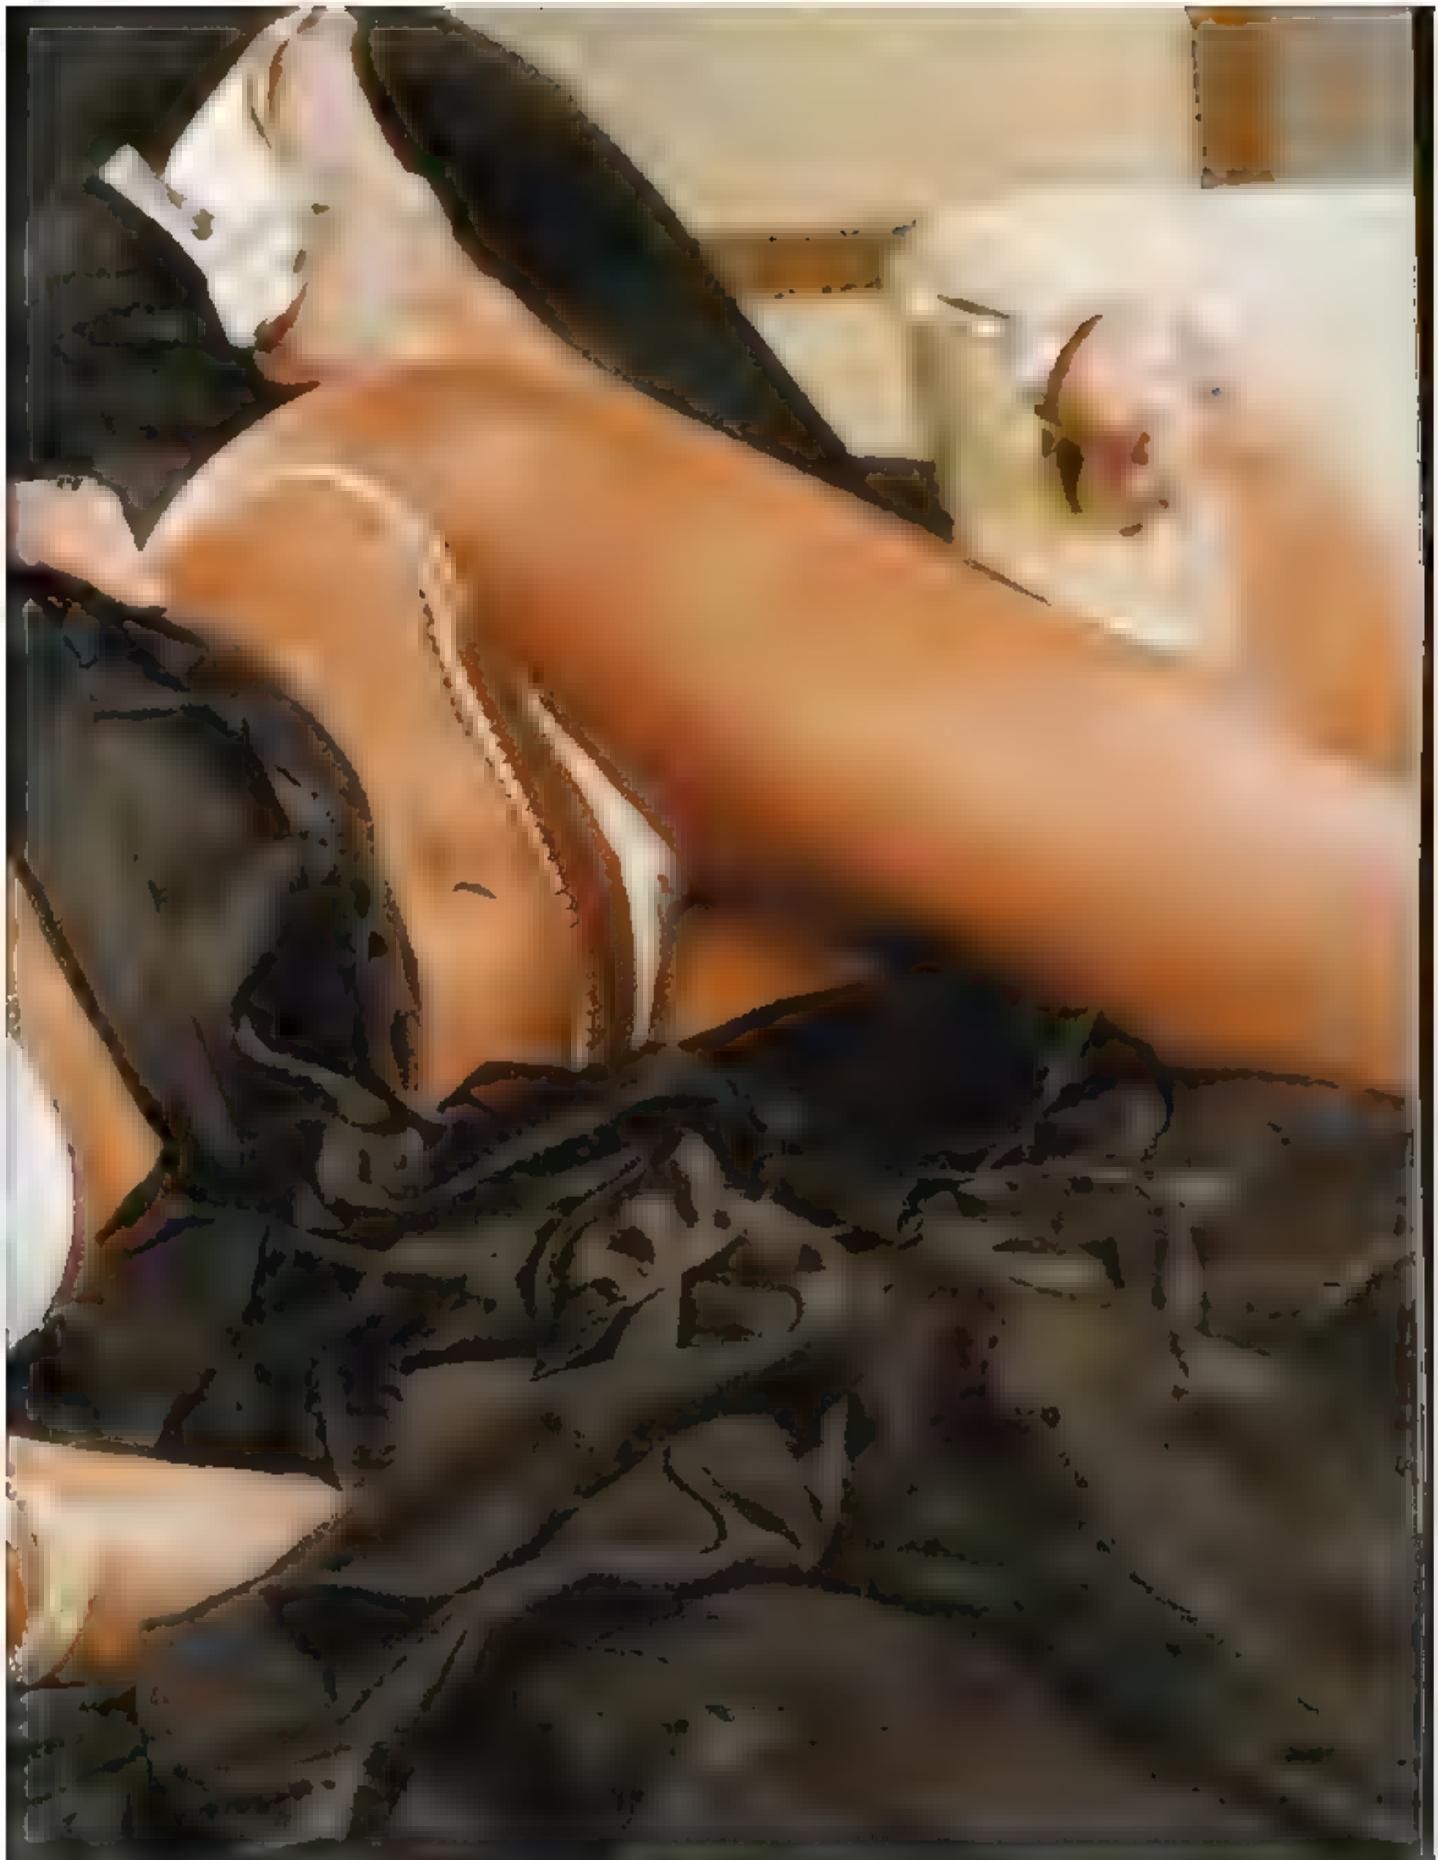

But Torrie's not just a pretty face. She's a fierce competitor who has won 10 major titles in her career, including the Women's World Heavyweight Championship, the Women's Tag Team Championship, and the Women's Intercontinental Championship. She's also a dedicated mother of two, and a fan favorite at the ring. Her fans have even created a website dedicated to her, and a fan club. She's a true diva, and we're lucky to have her in the ring.
